The Bell and Douglas Fusion.

The Democratic Convention at Syracuse yesterday completed its labors. Having thrown Tamany Hall overboard the day before, and rushed into the arms of Mayor Woop, it con- past 10 years. summated its work of self-immolation by burying itself in the embraces of Messrs. Hunt and Brooks. And yet its sacrifice is not complete enough to be magnanimous, nor bold enough to be effective. It went just far enough to give the rump of the old American Party an excuse for abandoning their own ground, and going over, bag and baggage, to the Dem-erats. And if it had not gone half so far, the result would have been precisely the same.

The Convention yesterday put in nomination an electoral ticket,—giving the Americans some half-dozen members,—and adopted a resolution inviting the American Committee with which it has been in consultation, to take seats upon the floor. These were all the concessions made, -and they were all that were needed. The fact is, the leaders of this American movement have been shivering for a month lest no door should be opened for their admission into the Democratic wigwam. They at Camp Floyd to the pony-express riders for defence lost no time in availing themselves of the crev ice at Syracuse, and are now snugly stowed away under hatches, where they will probably remain until the election is over.

We shall probably have now no Bell and Everett Electoral ticket in this State. Those gentlemen have been deliberately sold out by their friends. Gov. Hunt distinctly foreshadowed this operation in his speech at the Troy Convention, and again at Baltimore-and he has pursued it with steady constancy from the very beginning. His main desire has been to defeat the Republicans, -not so much from any dissent from their principles at from a fervid hatred of their leading men. We presume he would hail the election of Breckingings or with satisfaction, if it were the only way of excluding from influence the leading Republicans of this State.

It remains to be seen how large a number of the conservatives, whom he professes to re- men after election. present, share his resentments and will follow his example. We do not believe their number will be large. The fusion will give Brady some thousands of votes which could never be cast for any party in the least allied with the old American organization. We doubt whether he pleasantly corrected their blunders. their loss will be made good by accessions from other quarters .- New York Times.

BLONDIN ON FIRE. - Narrow Escape. - Mons. Blondin the celebrated tight rope performer, met with a serious accident a few nights ago during his exhibition at Chillicothe, Ohio. The Cincinnati Gazette says : After dusk he gave a performance of trundling a wheelbarrow across a rope, and to make the feat more terrific, he encircled himself in a blaze of fire works, which were ignited simultaneously with his starting. Before he had accomplished half his task, one of the pieces prematurely exploded and set fire to his clothing. The peril of his situation could not be seen by the thousands of spectators below, in consequence of the continued emissions of sparks, and the adventurous Blondin had nothing to do but walk the rope and suffer the torture of being slowly roasted. Having accomplished the distance, he, by his own efforts, succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not before his back was the ground, and none save Blondin could have ties, and a full average yield is now anticipated. withstood the pain he must have suffered .will not attempt any more tight rope perforances with pyrotechnic concomitants. In Albany twp., April 25, 1860, Miss FIDELLA ELMORE OWEN, daughter of the late Daniel and Sally Ann Owen, of Monroeton.

Miss Owen had gone a few days before to visit some friends in Albany, where she was suddenly called to go to other friends in a happier sphere. Her health has long been failing. Consumption, that enemy of human life which has of late had so many victims, had marked her for his prey. Possessed of an amiable disposition, and a considerate habit of mind, none knew her but to love. These native virtues were adorned and sanctified by the graces of an humble faith in Christ. She made a public profession of that faith, some ten years since, in uniting with the

" Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord !" To the memory of Fidella Elmore Owen. By Miss H.

She left her kind friends, to visit us here, We thought not the death angel hovered so dear, So strange are the ways of our Father on high, She came but to teach us how a christian can die.

To us she was sent, as a light from above, Wining our hearts, by her patience and love; She taught us the power of Jesus to save, His power to redcem, from sin, death, and the grave

Though her spirit fluttered to be away, Imprisoned still, in its house of clay ; e asked for patience, his time to wait, Till he should open the golden gate.

She seemed in our midst like angel of light. She smilingly spoke of her home so bright, And though other hearts with grief were riven, Her pure soul longed for its flight to heaven.

Kind friends were watching the sufferer dear, Eager each parting word to hear; Oh weep not, she murmured, weep not for me, Dear friends I am longing my Savior to see.

I fear not the grave, its terrors are o'er, My Savior has passed through its portals before; Kind friends I have tarried with you but a night, But we'll meet, never to part, in yon heaven so bright We think of Fidella, but we shed not a tear,

We witnessed her suffering, her pain so severe, So calmly she bore them, though she longed to be go To see her Redeemer, and the heavenly throng. Oh weep not for her, she has passed to her rest, Even now she is tuning her harp with the blest, With her bright palm of victory she beckons us on.

Mother, sisters, and brother, she waits you to come. For a season your parted, she's passed on before, On earth Fidella will greet you no more; Yet a guardian angel she still hovers near, Your love hearts to gladden, your pathway to cheer.

She's freed from all suffering all anguish and pain : A brother was waiting to welcome her home, Redeemed and united, they sing round the throne

To the memory of Dorance B. Owen, and Fidella E Owen. Words of consolation to their mother:

Be shure that your loss is her infinite gain,

Afflicted child endure thy cross, Thy faith though sorely tried, For God hath sent this two-fold loss, Thy life in Christ to hide.

Dear Mother though thy children lie Together in the grave, Their souls with Jesus dwell on high, These God delights to save.

On earth these pilgrim's joined hand, In Jesus ever one, And gave their hearts, at God's command,

To glorify his son. Lament not Mother, child of grace, Thy father speaks to thee: In glory shalt thou face to face,
