ARE YOU ASSESSED.

The law requiring electors to be assessed ten days before the election, Saturday, Sept. 29, will be the last day, and it is time that some attention was directed to the matter.—Look to your own names Republicans, and then those of your neighbors. Let not a vote be lost by inattention to the assessments.

It should be known that to entitle a man to vote at the coming election, it is necessary that he shall have been resident of the State one year, and of the district or township where he offers his vote, ten days, and that he has paid a State and County tax which was assessed at least ten days previous to the day of election.

Young men, however, between twenty-one and twenty-two, who are qualified in other respects are entitled to a vote without payment of any tax.

And for the persons who have once been voters in the State and removed therefrom and returned a residence of six months in the State is sufficient; but in all cases where the payment of a tax is necessary, it must have been assessed ten days previous to the election.

ARE THE VOTERS READY?

But a few days now intervene before the October election? Are the voters of this County aware of the great importance of success on the second Tuesday in October? We urge upon our friends thus early to make preparations for a FULL VOTE. In the strong Republican towns of the County, there is great danger that the votes will not all be out. Let arrangements be made to poll every vote. Your opponents will not lose an available vote. We must be equally active and vigilant and a certain triumph awaits us, not only in the County but in the State.

ANDREW G. CURTIN.

The enemies of the Republican party, and consequently the foes of the best interests, the progress and prosperity of Pennsylvania, are devoting their entire force and fund of falsehood to the injury and impeachment of Andrew G. Curtin. Failing to appreciate the energy and indomitable courage of the man, they cannot fully comprehend the perseverance with which he is contesting the election, nor can they understand the zeal and enthusiasm with which he is welcomed in every part of the Commonwealth. They hear of his success in the North, and sneeringly attempt to combat it with assertions of his unpopularity in the West. When he passes through the West, eliciting the admiration of the people of that locality, his opponents proclaim his weakness in the East—but there again they fail, as he is welcomed by the people, and recognized in the metropolis of Philadelphia as the defender of their rights, and the advocate of all their interests. The friends of Henry D. Foster are dismayed at these evidences of the popularity and strength of Col. Curtin, and therefore seek to arrest his progress by strewing his path with all sorts of unmanly falsehoods, bitterly complaining, while, that the Republican press retort with the truth against Foster, corroborating their assertions by the fairest reference to the record.

No candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania since the days of Simon Snyder or George Wolf, ever presented a fairer name, a more spotless character, than that which Andrew G. Curtin presents to the people of this State. And the people understand and appreciate this presentation of ability and integrity. They have had the opportunity to judge for themselves within the past two months. Along the Schuylkill and the Delaware, in the North and the West, through the counties of the centre of the State, Col. Curtin has been challenging their admiration by the boldness with which he enunciates his convictions and the perfect fearlessness with which he defines his position on all the questions affecting the prosperity of the country and the interests of the Commonwealth he is destined to govern. He is of Pennsylvania—for the protection of her interests and the elevation of her labor, for the development of her power and influence in that confederation of States to whose past glory she has contributed a large share, and in whose present strength she dispenses a most important influence. Because this is true, the enemies of Republicanism turn all their batteries on Col. Curtin. Because he is brave and persevering, enthusiastic and determined, frank in the expression of his opinions and unhesitating in the avowal of his preferences, the press supporting the desperate fortunes of Foster, convinced that they are degraded by their divisions, seek to drag down to their own level all who boldly stand up in defence of Pennsylvania's real interests, honor and glory.

October will demonstrate the popularity of Col. Curtin through his election by a majority of Twenty Thousand. The result is already a fixed fact in the conviction and determination of the people of Pennsylvania.

PENNSYLVANIA THE BATTLE GROUND.

The Democrats appear to have abandoned all hope of carrying New York, and Pennsylvania is now the object of their attention. They will concentrate all their energies upon it, lavishing what money they have to spare, to carry it, and will try to re-enact the scenes of 1850. Pennsylvania is to be the battle ground of the campaign, and the great struggle will take place in October, over the election for Governor.

It is well, therefore, that our people are apprised of the fact in season. Now that they know it, they will have the greater incentive to work their hardest for success in the preliminary but decisive contest.

Much, if not most of the money contributed in New York to corrupt and carry Pennsylvania, will be spent in Philadelphia. Fortunately for the friends of Freedom, however, things are not now as they were in 1856.—Then, ever officer in the State House row was a Democrat and it was consequently easy to issue forged naturalization papers by the trunk full; now, every officer but one, in that row is a Republican, and that game is blocked. Then too, they had all, or nearly all, the election officers, the Republican party not having been organized until after the choice of those officers, and it was perfectly easy to make election returns to suit the necessities of the party, now there is a representative of the Opposition party in nearly every election precinct in the city, and that the party has the control of a majority of them. In addition to this, a law of last winter gives them full power to prevent frauds at the election, if they choose to exercise it, as they will undoubtedly do.

In this view of the case there is not so much reason to dread the advent of these necessary Democratic politicians from New York, who go upon the principle that "every man has his price," particularly every man in Pennsylvania.

On the other hand, it will be of great advantage to the People's cause, if it stirs up, as it should do, the workers of the Opposition to watchfulness and zeal. All that we need now, is activity; that insures our success.

We not only can, we must, elect CURTIN in October. He has gallantly and triumphantly borne our standard throughout in the State, and we must not see it stricken down in his hands. We owe it to the cause to elect him by an overwhelming majority, and he is no true friend of LINCOLN who refuses both to vote and to work for CURTIN.

Friends! The election of CURTIN will effectually settle the November contest. Our success in October will deprive the enemy of all heart for the November; fight. Up, then, and to work with a will, and all the more eagerly that the enemy has acknowledged his weakness by recourse to the last resort—the corrupt use of money.

THE PRINCE OF WALES is to be in Philadelphia on the 9th of October, the day of the State Election. The visit has been so planned as to enable him and his noble keepers to see how American republicans conduct an exciting political contest. In all probability the party will put up at the Continental, in the very whirl and center of the excitement, where with little effort they can see the blaze of numerous transparencies at the various headquarters, and that vast army, with torch and banner, which before midnight will certainly fill Chesnut street with the deafening buzzes, announcing election of their favorite candidate for Governor.

FOSTER ON THE STUMP.—Foster took the stump in Somerset county pretty soon after he got out of woods at Cresson. He was so oracular on that occasion that the Breckinridge and Douglas papers have been quarrelling ever since as to what he really did say. He has not had the courage, since, however, to speak in any other place. He dare not go before the people.

Iberia, Morrow County, Ohio, was on Thursday last the scene of a fugitive slave excitement. The United States Marshals went from Cincinnati to arrest three negroes who had escaped from Germantown, Ky. They succeeded, however, in securing but one of them—being prevented from arresting the others by the interference of the citizens. A desperate affray occurred, in which firearms were used, though no person was killed.

THE OCTOBER ELECTION.

Takes place two weeks from last Tuesday. The campaign has slipped away so quietly that some do not realize the fact of the election being so near at hand.

Two weeks is but a short time to work. Republican reader! Is your district thoroughly organized? Has it been canvassed? Do you know your friends from your enemies, and are you fully prepared to bring out the Republican vote?

Do not shirk these questions and turn them over to your neighbor or some one else, but answer them yourself. If you cannot answer them affirmatively, consult at once with your political friends and do what has been too long left undone.

The great secret of success, in politics as in war, is in organization. Providence helps the heavy battalions; so Napoleon said, and he had some experience in that matter. A scattered army, without a head, never yet won a battle; and never will. Success lies within our grasp, at this election, but it can be won only by straight-forward, practical, organized work. See to it, in time then, friends, that the one thing needful is not wanting.

ORGANIZE! ORGANIZE!

We are satisfied that the proper spirit is aroused amongst our Republican friends to ensure a full vote if the proper means are not neglected. It should be remembered however, that it is impossible to poll every vote without great effort. There is a class of voters, who cannot be got to the polls without being visited and brought out. The most efficient way to ensure a full poll is to appoint School District Committees, whose business is to see that every voter is assessed, and on hand when the day of election arrives. In many of the towns this has already been done. We trust our Republican friends, where such action has not been taken, will delay no longer.

Have your Townships thoroughly organized, and a Committee appointed to take charge of each School District, who will attend to their business, and see that no voter is left behind on the second Tuesday of October. Such action will give us a rousing majority, and aid materially in the election of Curtin, and the victory to follow in November.

The Prince of Wales on Thursday evening, at Detroit, experienced a very decided foretaste of the receptions which await him in his brief tour through the United States.—He reached Windsor at 8 o'clock, and went on board the Detroit and Windsor ferry-steamers Windsor, where he was received by the Governor of Michigan, the Mayor and Councilmen of Detroit, and a number of prominent citizens. When the steamer reached American waters, the Mayor welcomed the Prince, as Baron RENNÉW, to the United States. The river and the city presented a magnificent spectacle, the steamers and other vessels in the former being hung with variegated lamps, and decorated with banners and emblems, and the latter being splendidly illuminated. Rockets and other fireworks were let off continually, and the river was a blaze of light, the whole forming the grandest display witnessed by his Highness during his sojourn in America. The crowd was so dense at the landing place that it was found impossible to form the procession which had been arranged to escort him to his hotel, and after several ineffectual attempts it was found necessary for him to enter a private carriage and proceed through by-roads. His suite followed him shortly afterwards, escorted by the firemen of Detroit. The enthusiasm of the crowd was something tremendous, and found vent in cheer upon cheer. Friday, after a drive through the city with Mayor, his progress being impeded at every step by enthusiastic crowds, the Prince with his suite proceeded to the Railroad depot and took his departure for Chicago, where, after a somewhat tedious journey, he arrived at 7 1/2 o'clock in the evening. Here, as at Detroit, an immense concourse awaited his arrival, though, through the admirable regulations of the Police, everything was done "decently and in order."

LA MOUNTAIN, the balloonist, has had another perilous adventure. He made an ascent from Albany, and traveled at the rate of a mile a minute for thirty miles, when he attempted to land at East Lanesboro', Mass. He was caught in a tornado, and dashed against a stone wall with such violence as to knock him senseless. The balloon, however, cleared the wall, and dragged at a fearful rate of speed for considerable distance, until it finally collapsed, being torn nearly to tatters. LA MOUNTAIN was thrown out, and remained unconscious for half an hour, though he was immediately taken care of by some persons who witnessed his perilous descent. He was terribly bruised, though fortunately none of his bones were broken.

The Clearfield Republican says "Henry D. Foster rests on his past record, not on straddling two platforms." If he doesn't "straddle two platforms," will the editors of that paper be kind enough to inform us which one of the "two" Democratic platforms he does ride? It will be news to most people.

An explosion of fire-damp occurred in a coal mine at Pittston, on Saturday, which caused the greatest excitement. Six men were in the mine at the time, all of whom, however, with the exception of one, managed to escape.

It is said to be Foster's great weakness that he is unable to say "No." He seems equally unable to say "Yes." Is he for Breckinridge? or for Douglas? He cannot answer. He is a dumb dog and cannot bark.

Sheriff WOODRUFF, on Thursday 13th inst., started for Philadelphia, with four prisoners—two sentenced to the Penitentiary, and two to the House of Refuge. On Thursday night, when about one and a half miles above Port Clinton, BURTON H. BARRETT, convicted of horse-stealing and sentenced to three years imprisonment in the Penitentiary, made a bold attempt to regain his liberty. While the cars were going at rapid speed, he leaped out of the window, so suddenly, that those having him in charge were not aware of his purpose until they saw him disappear. The train was stopped, after some little delay, and the Sheriff and others went back expecting to find BARRETT disabled or dead from his dangerous leap. Upon arriving at the spot, they discovered where he had alighted, but he had made good his escape. That he was not instantly killed, or at least disabled, was owing to his good fortune in striking upon a pile of ashes and fine coal. After making diligent but unsuccessful search, the Sheriff ordered a reward for his apprehension, and went on to Philadelphia to deliver his other prisoners. On arriving at Philadelphia a despatch awaited him that BARRETT was retaken, having been captured about five miles from the place of his escape. He was again taken in charge and placed in the Penitentiary.

RATHER UNFORTUNATE.—On Tuesday last, B. W. JOHNSON, residing at South Creek, lost a valuable watch, somewhere on the road from his residence to, or in Elmira.

"Misfortunes never come singly," and "it never rains but it pours," are proverbs that seem to be verified in this case. On Thursday evening, as the six o'clock mail train on the Elmira and Williamsport Railroad was passing South Creek, three horses belonging to Mr. JOHNSON were upon the track, near a bridge, having broken from their pasture. At the approach of the train, the horses were unable to leave the track, owing to the bridge, and were run into by the engine, before it could be stopped. Two of them were killed instantly, and the other is so badly injured that no hopes are indulged of its recovery.

Rev. Wm. M. DeLong, (Universalist), will preach at the Court House, in this borough, on Sunday evening next.

DISTRESSING OCCURRENCE.—On Sunday evening last, MARY BERNICE, youngest child of Dr. E. H. MASON, of this place, an interesting girl of two years of age, while at her grandfather's, (JARED WOODRUFF), in Monroe township, was poisoned by swallowing colic, which had been prepared for the purpose of destroying flies. The best known remedies were applied, but ineffectually, and she died in about eight hours after the colic had been taken.

This distressing affliction should be a warning to others how they use such preparations. Such occurrences are not rare, and are liable to occur, when such deadly poisons are placed within the reach of small children.

For three dollars a year may obtain a certificate of membership, which entitles him to the superb steel-plate engraving, "Falstaff Mastering his troops," one copy for one year of the Art Journal, and four admissions to the Gallery of Art, 545 Broadway, N. Y.; while, as a gratuity, nearly five hundred works of Art, namely, Paintings, Marbles, Patians, etchings, &c., by the best artists in Europe and America, will be awarded among the members. Address, for memberships, C. L. Derby, Actuary, 545 Broadway, New York.

HOUSE BURNED.—The dwelling house and wagon house, on the premises lately owned by HIRSH SPEAR, in Springfield township, were destroyed by fire on Saturday evening, 17th inst. The property was late purchased at Sheriff's sale by THOMAS SWEAD, and is now owned by him. The fire was unquestionably the work of an incendiary, as the house had not been occupied for several years. We learn that the loss is partially covered by insurance.

We find in the Williamsport Press, the following notice of a serenade given to Judge WILMOT, on Tuesday night, 24th inst.: On Tuesday night last the Williamsport Wide-Awakes attended by the Silver Corn Band gave a fine and elegant serenade to the Hon. Daniel WILMOT, who was stopping at Hay's Hotel. In response to the call of several hundred, who had assembled to manifest their respect for this champion of freedom, Judge WILMOT appeared in front of the Hotel, and while retaining his thanks for the honor conferred upon him, delivered one of the most able and eloquent speeches to which we have listened during the Campaign.

The hour having arrived for Judge WILMOT to take his departure in the train for Lancaster to attend the Republican State Mass Meeting on Wednesday, he was escorted to the Depot by the Wide-Awakes, preceded by the Corn Band.

At the Depot, three hearty cheers were given for WILMOT, and a cheer for a Good Bye, when the Wide-Awakes returned to their head quarters and adjourned.

We hope to see Judge WILMOT again previous to the election. He is an ardent and earnest advocate of Republican principles and as such occupies a high position with the Republicans and Wide-Awakes of Williamsport.

The following is the "Wickliffe resolution" which forms the "corner stone" of the Douglas Platform. Read it and see the hypocrisy of the advocates of a "Non-Intervention."

Resolved, That in accordance with the true interpretation of the Cincinnati platform, that during the existence of a Territorial Government, the measure of restriction, whatever it may be, imposed by the Federal Constitution on the powers of the Territorial Legislature over the subject of domestic relations, as the same has been or shall hereafter be finally determined by the Supreme Court of the United States, should be respected by all good citizens and enforced with promptness and fidelity by every branch of the Federal Government.

ORGANIZE.—Let every friend of LINCOLN and CURTIN ask himself the question, is his district organized for the SECOND TUESDAY IN OCTOBER. If he does not know that his district is thoroughly organized, attend to it at once.—Remember, that what is everybody's business is nobody's, and the only way to make sure that it is done is to do it yourself.

THE OXYGENATED BITTERS.

Are believed by many who have been cured of the most distressing complaints to be the only medicine which the modern medical science affords for their infallible cure. It is not an alcoholic preparation, which, while giving a momentary stimulus, prepares the system in the same ratio; but one distinct and different from any medical preparation ever compounded, and which will, in most cases, extract the disease by the roots and restore the patient to perfect health. In proof of which, testimony of the very highest and unexceptionable character is presented.

Reliable Testimony.

We call the attention of the reader to the following letter from President SMITH, of Wesleyan University:—

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Feb. 28, 1860.

Messrs. SETH W. FOWLE & Co., Gentlemen:—I have made use of the OXYGENATED BITTERS some seven or eight years since. Having suffered for twenty years from a form of Dyspepsia, which was attended with a nervous headache, on an average of not less than one day in a week. I was induced by the unpretending recommendation of Dr. Green, to try one bottle and it benefited me so much, that I immediately purchased a second. The use of one bottle warranted a further trial, to the extent of some three or four, with a careful observance of the accompanying directions. The result was an almost entire relief from the usual dyspeptic symptoms, and their depressing, painful consequences. I believe these Bitters produced an entire change in the habits of my system and upon the active energies of the digestive organs. I have since myself exempt from Dyspepsia as most persons. These Bitters have also been of service to other members of my family.

Very respectfully yours,

AUGUSTUS W. SMITH.
