

Agricultural Department.

Calendar of Operations for Nov., 1900.

It is necessary that what now remains to be done in securing late crops, be finished quickly; frost and snow will soon take possession of the fields, to act their important part in ameliorating the soil and preparing it for future tillage. If the cultivator has controlled the growth on his fields, allowing no weeds intruders to ripen their seeds, he has little to fear from the sweeping winds—if otherwise, every blast will send hundreds and thousands of these, his enemies, flying to their safe winter quarters, to emerge in Spring, ready to dispute with his crops for the mastery of the soil.

In addition to completing preparations for Winter—making every thing comfortable for the family in the house, and the family at the barn—drawing and composting manure, finishing drains, threshing and marketing grain, etc., will afford profitable employment. The present leisure from more pressing work may be turned to great profit in reading, study of the science of farming, and planning for future improvement.

BUILDINGS.—Examine after hard storms, and keep in thorough repair. Painting may yet be done better than in Spring or Summer.

CATTLE.—Feeding at the barn is now necessary. A great saving of food, and much benefit to the manure heap, is secured by cutting and cooking food. Stalks and other coarse feed so treated, will be readily eaten up clean. Feed from racks or boxes, and give variety as well as plenty of food.

CHELARS.—As the cold becomes severe, protect against frost. Straw or leaves are preferable to manure for banking against doors and windows. There will be less danger from frost, if sufficient ventilation be afforded to carry off moisture. In constructing houses, a ventilating duct should be carried up from the cellar toward the top of the building.

CISTERNS AND WELLS.—Arrange pumps and other fixtures so as to prevent freezing.

CORN.—Complete husking, if not already done. Shell and market as soon as favorable prices are offered. Guard against depredation of rats and mice. Save stalks, leaves, and husks for fodder.

DRAINING. can be done until frost prevents. Keep sluice-ways upon the highway open, and occasionally examine drain furrows among Winter grain.

FRUIT.—Remove apples and pears to the cellar before they are frozen. It is important that they be kept dry and cool, and secure from rats and mice. Hanging shelves are convenient for ripening choice late pears.

GRAIN.—Select the best growth for seed, if not already attended to before. Thrash as fast as possible. Allow no straw to be wasted; use it cut and mixed with meal for feeding, and for litter in the stalls and yards.

HAY.—Plant deciduous, if the soil be dry; otherwise leave until Spring.

HOGS.—Complete the fattening as rapidly as possible. Give plenty of cooked food. An occasional mess of potatoes with their meal, will keep up their appetite; a little sulphur occasionally is also beneficial. Provide for early pigs by turning a male among the breeding sows.

HORSES.—Give plenty of cut feed, and add carrots, which are both wholesome and nutritious. Oats in the stall, run through the cutter, make excellent food. Give plenty of straw for bedding. Construct gutters at the rear of the stall for conducting away urine.

A covering of manure upon the stable floor makes a soft standing place. The stables should be warm, but well ventilated; many diseases are contracted in foul stables. Keep horses well shod for traveling or frozen ground.

See Houses may yet be constructed if unfinished. Have them in readiness to be filled at the first favorable opportunity.

ICE.—Cultivate the mud during the leisure of the season.

Leaves are useful for bedding, for manure, and for protecting plants.

MAXCASS.—Now is the time to commence to husband the stores for next year. Supply abundance of manure to absorb liquids and gases, and to compost with cleanings from the stable. Use also plaster about the stables, poultry, house, etc., to fix escaping gases; allow nothing to waste that can be returned to account.

Flow heavy clay lands intended for cultivation next Spring, and leave the furrows to be harrowed by the Winter frosts.

Poultry. should be kept fat, to be profitable. Supply them with plenty of grain, and give waste meat chopped fine, two or three times a week. Allow them gravel, and ashes or chip dirt to wallow in; they need sunbathing, and also free access to water; treated in this way, they will give a good supply of eggs. Fowls for market should be confined separately, in small coops, fed liberally with boiled corn, and kept quiet.

PUMPKINS.—Continue to feed to fatten animals and to milk cows. If there be a large supply, store where they will be safe from frost until used.

SCHOOLS.—Give the children the best school advantages that can be procured. Allow them to commence early in the season, and to attend regularly. Encourage them by frequent visits at the school house, and sustain the authority of the teacher.

SHEEP.—Provide ample sheds and feeding racks apart from other stock. Do not keep them in the pasture too late in the season. Feed regularly, and allow free access to water. Roots with hay, will be found profitable. Salt at least once a week. For early lambs turn in the buck.

STOCKS.—It is wasteful of hay and manure to feed from the stacks upon the surrounding grounds. Draw it to the barn and feed out under cover.

SUGAR BEET.—Complete cutting and manufacturing. It may be kept under cover several weeks without injury—moderate freezing, after cutting, does not spoil it.

TOOLS.—Have all implements, carriages, carts, etc., under cover, and improve rainy days by repairing and painting such as need it. Clean and oil harness, and put sleds and sleighs in running order.

TURNIPS AND CARROTS.—Harvest any remaining. Store in the cellar or in pits, with sufficient protection from frost.

WATER PIPES.—Cover with straw or other proper material where there is danger of freezing.

WINTER GRAIN.—Keep all animals from the fields; the roots need the late growth for Winter protection. Let no water stand on any part of the surface.

WIND.—Finish making before the apples decay or are injured by freezing.

BOOK BINDERY.

The subscriber having withdrawn from the Argus building would respectfully inform the public that he has removed his Plain and Fancy Bindery to the North Room of the Ward House, formerly occupied by the Post Office, where he is now prepared to bind all kinds of books in the most approved and workmanlike manner. Having to share his profits with no second person, I flatter myself that my prices will meet the satisfaction of the public.

Thankful for the confidence reposed in me and the public appreciation of my work, for the last two years, I shall endeavor in the future to merit the continuance of patronage.

Particular attention given to re-binding Books. All work will be warranted. Terms, Cash.

Also, a large assortment of STATIONERY of the best quality, and at lowest prices. Justices' and Constables' BLANKS, of all kinds.

CAUTION.

"To be, or not to be"—that is the question! Whether to suffer in the mind to suffer in the body, and in the body to suffer in the mind, is a question of the greatest importance. Or by taking up arms against a sea of printing ink, and opposing, and then—

THE proprietor of the Argus takes a casual in advertising his Bindery to induce an unequal for the purpose of "advertising" his Bindery to induce the public. As I have opened a Bindery on my own account, the inference is that if the public bring their binding to me, they are in no danger of being defrauded.

For two years I have worked for Mr. F. Shaw, and he has taken great pains to satisfy the public I was the "bindery" in America, as the columns of the Argus will testify. Has he been all that time "defrauding the public" by having me engaged in a fraud he has been the principal. But I refer to my work during that time as evidence that there has been no fraud practiced.

Having secured a long apprenticeship at the Bindery business, I have resumed business here on my own account. I know of nothing which prevents me from following a legitimate and lawful calling for my support, and I have been engaged in a fraud he has been the principal. But I refer to my work during that time as evidence that there has been no fraud practiced.

THE FRIEND OF WOMAN.

E. Clark's Revolving Looper

DOUBLE THREADED FAMILY SEWING MACHINE

The Revolving Looper is a late improvement on Raymond's latest Improved.

Warranted the best in the world for Family Use! Price Within the Reach of Every Family.

PRICE $35.

Hemmer, Feller, Binder & Tucking gauge, combined, $5.

The reputation of this Machine is now fully established as the most reliable Machine in the market for family use, and has been attested to by thousands of the most respectable families in the Union.

This Machine makes the celebrated "Double Lock Stitch," the only one made by machinery that meets all the requirements of Family Sewing. Each stitch is tied twice, so that every one is securely fastened and wholly independent of the other stitches for strength, so that if the seam is cut or every fourth stitch broken, the sewing must hold good while the fabric will wear.

This machinery which makes this stitch is a marvel of simplicity, requiring no mechanical skill to manage it, nor does it require adjustment more than the mere change of thread and needles to adapt it to the character of the work to be sewed—course or fine as the case may be. It will sew gauge looses, and all varieties and kinds of fabrics between and including heavy heavier cloth, without changing either needles or thread except will, and return to either variety of work with perfect satisfaction.

Every Machine ever offered to the public will do as much.

A perfect Sewing Machine, one making a stitch answering all the requirements of the family sewing course and the work of the great desideratum of the home circle, previous to the invention of E. Clark's Revolving Looper. The stitch is beautiful, strong, and elastic, and will not rip in wear or in accident.

Every Machine is warranted to give satisfaction or the money refunded.

We have a large list of references but will give the names of only a few:
