Letter from Horace Coorlage. E.st., of Frankford.
Frankford, (Herkimer Co.,) N. Y., Nov. 1, 1859.
Messrs. S. W. Fowl. R. & Co., Boston,—
In the fall of 1847 I took a severe cold, which settled upon my langs, where it remained without relaxation. I apply binds of prediction and severe cold. apoi my langs, where it remained without relaxation. I pried several kinds of medicine and consulted several blusted several consulted several limits several consulted several prostrated—confined to my bed with the same severe cough, accompanied with severe pain in my side, profuse sweats and restless nights. My family and friends as well as my-elf, supposed my time to die had come. At this crisis I sent for a bottle of with severe limits and severe limits and several consultations of the several consultation of the several consultation. The several consultation is a several consultation of the several consulta had pursued and the inedicine I had taken; he advised me to continue to use the Baisam, which I did, and found myself a well man; and now, at an age exceeding fifty rears, enjoyed as good health as ever before.

Wherever, during the last ten years, I have found an advidual suffering from cough, I have always r compended the Baisam, and, in numerous cases, have sent t gratuitously to the suffering poor. In conclusion, I could say what I have said a great many times before, hat the Baisam, with God's blessing, saved my life.

DIED. In Springfield, Oct 10th, JESSE HAMMOND in the sixty-first year of his age. He has been taken from our micst-a kind husband and He has been taken from our midst—a kind husband and father—whose face was always the sunshine of the parental roof, a good neighbor and one that is deeply lamented by a large circle of friends. The poor always found in him a triend, and his hand was always ready to assist as far as lay in his power, the sick and unfortunate, and for honesty and uprightness he had few superiors.—But he is gone! We shall see his kind face and welcome smile ne more! Yes, that familiar step and pleasant countenance which was once the life and pleasure of the home circle, has fied, never more to return to us here; yet with a full confidence in "God's impartial grace" we will again meet that husband and father in a brighter and happier hone than this.

"All things wear a garb of sorrow.

happier home than this.

"All things wear a garb of sorrow,
For our hearts are filled with gloom,
And our thoughts their hues will borrow
From the conflies of the tomb.
Let me weep,—the tears are swelling
Eyes which smiles so often gave,
For each hour the tale is telling,
One we loved is in the grave.

Father, in distress we languish;

Heal the wound thy hand has made;
Thou cans t hear our silent anguish,
Thou will pity, thou will aid.
Yes, a ray of hope is beaming
From despair my soul to save,
Jesus, on thy bosom leaning.
