Farm Life a School for true Manhood.

The men who have left their mark upon the ages in which they have lived, have done a great and noble work for their race, have been with few exceptions, men of able physical mould. The foundation for their greatness and their fame was laid in the patient training of their physical powers. Such a man was Washington, and most of the worthies who were associated with him in the struggle for our liberties. Such were Clay and Webster, and many of their cotemporaries in our national Senate. Their early days were speat mono The men who have left their mark upon the al Senate. Their early days were speat upon the farm, and the thoughts of their declining GUST 22, and will continue 14 weeks. years were given to the improvement, and the cultivation, and the embellishment of their respective homesteads. Ashland and Marshfield will long be scenes of pilgrimage to the husbandman as well as the patriot.

The whole tendency of farm life is to develop the body healthfully and symmetrically .--The child is not pent up in the narrow back yard of a city dwelling, nor tarned into the thronged and filthy streets to pursue his sports.

farm life upon the domestic virtues. No occupation can be more favorable to the cultivation of those qualities which are the charm of the home circle. The farmer is much more at bome than is possible with any other men. -How many there are in our cities who only see their families at evening or on Sunday ? They live for their business, and this, from its location, takes them from home early and late .-How many, from the same cause, forsake honsekeeping and huddle into boarding houses and hotels, where the charm and beauty of the family as God instituted it, is entirely lest ; and the children fall under a thousand nufriend ly influences that would never touch them at home. With the best arrangements wealth could command in the city, it is well nigh im-possible to keep children under the influence of their parents, so that they may have a distinct family character, and bear the moral, as they do the physical image of their progenitors .-Parental influence is dissipated amid the varied social influences to which they are subjected from their carliest days. Then what perplex-ities harrass the man of business in the city-his capital often invested in profitless enterprise, exposed to the depredations of dishonest men, betrayed, cheated and ruined by bankrupts. From the very character of his basiness he has to trust far more of his available means to the integrity of his fellows than the cultivator. His debts are often scattered over a wide extent of territory, and collections are not only expensive, but exceedingly uncertain But his commercial credit depends upon this uncertainty, and he is often compelled to fall back upon nothing, a rained man.

Marks of a Cultivated Farmer.

Are you a cultivated man? This is of inf nitely more importance than the cultivation of your acres. Are body, mind, and heart duly developed, so that all your friends know and esteem you as something more than a farmer? Does this self-culture show itself in the adora ment of your home? The farmer, of all men. has the best opportunity to cultivate his taste. and to make the most of himself as a man .--He is daily in the school of the great Architect, und may have constant communion with the fairest forms, the brightest colors, and the sweetest sounds in Nature. The fading stars, the purpling dawn, and the rising sun, usher in his morning, and the gorgeous coloring of the evening with its ever new pictures of illuroses, its meadows of perfumed grasses, and its forests of freshest verdure, to educate him in the love of the beautiful. Of all ornaments to a home, trees, shrubs, and flowers are, at once, the most accessible, and the most charming. Without them, the master-piece of the architect in the country is incomplete. With them, tastefully arranged, the humblest cottage is redeemed from ugliness, and made a pleasing object in the landscape. Is your soul so far cultivated that it has found expression in the tree planted avenue; in the lawn with its edging of forest, or uelt of evergreens; in the trellis loaded with roses ; and in the flower berder, peopled in its season, with a throng more gorgeous than the attendants of princes ? These are marks of the cultivated farmer .- Am. Agraculturist.

OUR RECEIPT FOR CURING MEAT .--- As the season has come around again for curing meat for the season, it may be acceptable to many readers-especially to many fresh readerswho may not have either preserved it, or have before seen it, to reprint our receipt for enring meat. We will add, that after using it for about twenty years and comparing the hams so cured with others cured by a dozen different processes, we are more than ever convinced of its superiority. It is this:

To one gallon of water,

Take 1 1-2 lbs of salt. 1.2 lb. of sugar. 1.2 oz. of saltpetre,

1.2 oz. of potash.

In this ratio the pickle is to be increased to any quantity desired. Let these be boiled together, until all the dirt from the sugar rises to the top and is skimmed off. Then throw it into a tub to cool, and when cold, pour it over your beef or pork, to remain the usual time, say four or five weeks. The meat must be well covered with the pickle, and should not be put down for at least two days after killing, during which time it should be slightly sprink led with powdered saltpetre, which removes all the surface blood, &c., leaving the meat fresh and clean.

Several of our friends have omitted the boiling of the pickle, and found it to answer equal-It will not, however, answer quite ly as well. so well. By boiling the pickle it is purifiedfor the amount of dirt which is thrown off by

asing. A few of mady reasons why the SEWING MACHINES LADD, WEBSTER & CO., are prefered above all others 1. They are so remarkably simple in their construction. A child can operate them and understand the mechanism 2. They are the strongest Sewing Machine made. It is al most impossible to break or get them out of order. 3. They are sure in their operation; finishing the work in a uniformly perfect manner. 4. They make a tight lock stitch, allke on both sides of the work, which cannot be unrarcled. 5. They stitch, hem, bind, fell, run and gather, with-out bastime.

6. They sew equally well the lightest and the heaviest

7. They sew over the heaviest seams without changing the tension or breaking the finest thread. 8. They use any No. of Cotton, Thread or Silk directly from the spool.

They use a straight needle ; curved ones are liable break. 10.. The needle has a perpendicular motion. This is solutely necessary for heavy work. 11. They have a ichiel feed; none others are in constan ontact with the work. 12. They run easily and almost noiscless: 13. They are not liable to oil the dress of the operator 14. They do not require a screw driver to set the needle 15. They do not have to be taken apart to oil or clean

16. They are capable of doing a greater range of work and in a more perfet manner than any other Sewing Ma-chine; as is proved by the result of our challenge for a trial, which has never been accepted. B. F. SHAW.
