

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

TO WASHINGTON.—A large delegation of the citizens of this place left this week on a visit to the capital.

A NEW JUDICIAL DISTRICT.—A movement has been set on foot to erect Lycoming county into a separate judicial district.

AN EXAMINATION of the classes connected with the Public School will take place this afternoon and Friday morning. All are invited to attend.

SETH H. BRIGGS, found guilty of murder at December term, has been granted a new trial, by Judge WILMOT. His trial will probably come off at May term.

CHESANGO CANAL.—We learn from the Oswego Times, that strong efforts are now being made to put the Chesango Canal afloat. A bill has already been introduced for that purpose, and petitions are pouring in from various parts of the State through which the Chesango extends.

REMORS are small in different parts of the county that the small pox is prevalent in Towanda. We are happy to state they have not the least foundation in truth. There have been several cases of diphtheria, only one of which has resulted fatally. With the exception of ordinary sore throat—with which many are afflicted—our village is as healthy as it has ever been.

BREAKING UP.—The warm weather of the first of the week together with the warm rains have effected a general break up. The Susquehanna is unusually high and is filled with floating ice and driftwood. The boat on the pool above the dam on Tuesday afternoon, and attracted a large crowd to the river bank to witness the immense mass as it moved slowly off—crashing and grinding itself to pieces. Danger was apprehended from the unusual thickness of the ice, but no serious damage was done. Considerable damage was done to the Ulster and Sheehyville flats, by the carrying away of fences, hay-stacks &c., and the lodgment of drift wood and ice, but to what extent we have not learned.

A LECTURE was delivered in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening last by Rev. B. B. Bowen of New York, which was listened to by a full house. Mr. Bowen has been totally blind from a very early age, but such is the proficiency that he has acquired by a course of training in the Boston school for the blind that he can read rapidly by the sense of touch, from books printed in raised characters, and write very acceptable hand. He is the author of a very interesting book entitled "A Blind Man's Offering," in which is contained the author's history, together with a variety of interesting facts in relation to the blind, their education, &c., and also short essays upon various subjects which are well written, and as illustrating the feelings of a person in this unfortunate situation is well worthy of a position in any library.

TAKEN IN AND DONE FOR.—A young lady residing in a remote part of the county was called upon by one of our most respectable citizens, with quite a list of testimonials, asking subscriptions and stating that the proceeds were to be applied to educate her. A large number of signatures, some for the Lady's Book, some for Harper's Monthly, and so on. The money was paid but the books have not appeared. She has since appeared in Middle-town and presented the names and letters of some of our citizens and some gentleman of Oswego as recommendations—all fraudulent of course. With her white state and pencil she has done a good paying business and secured quite a number of the smart people of Oswego, whose intentions were all right, but who have in this instance been done down by a wily girl! Let our readers look out for this persuasive maiden.—Oswego Times.

GENESSEE FARMER "PRIZE ESSAYS."—The February number of the Genessee Farmer is received. It contains twenty-six "Prize Essays." The Publisher of the Genessee Farmer offered a prize for the best essay on each of a given number of subjects. The essays received were submitted to a competent committee, and those deemed best were awarded the prizes. This Prize Essay number of the Farmer is well worth the cost of the paper. Those wishing a good agricultural and horticultural journal can find a better or cheaper work than the Genessee Farmer. It costs only fifty cents a year. Now is the time to subscribe. Send the money in care of JOSEPH HARRIS, Rochester, N. Y.

"The Farmer and Gardener" as also the "American Bee Journal," for February, are received.—The former, in addition to its usual embellishments, contains a finely engraved frontispiece of the celebrated Farmer's Market, of Philadelphia, the finest edifice of its kind in the world. In addition to this it is filled to repletion with the most useful and seasonal reading.—The American Bee Journal comes to us with all the promise made in the first number fulfilled. As this is the only journal of its class in the United States, and as it is not only printed in the most unexceptionable manner, but edited with marked ability, it cannot fail to succeed.—The publishers, desirous of introducing these two valuable works, offer them both, together with a prepaid copy of a handsome Premium Book, for the trifling sum of One Dollar and Fifty Cents; or, either one of them and a Premium Book for One Dollar. This is certainly cheaper than any other publications of the same size and character in the United States. Specimen numbers are furnished without charge, by the publishers, A. M. Spangler & Co., No. 25 North Sixth Street Philadelphia.

Some time ago I gave notice that early attention should be sought and immediate attention should be given to affections of the throat, and that appropriate remedies could be obtained at Dr. Porter's Drug Store, corner of Main and Pine st. It is now ascertained that Diphtheria is most apt to attack those whose systems are debilitated and whose habits are such as impair the natural powers of life. Hence it is important that Vitality in the Life Force to resist disease should not be diminished, that cold, damp exposure should be avoided, that too severe and exhausting toil should be forbidden, that all bad habits should be corrected and the system kept in as healthy condition as possible and that all who do not feel perfectly well should purify their blood by taking one of the Electric Pills every night, at bed time, which can be procured at the respectable Stores throughout the country, or at Dr. Porter's Corner Drug Store, Towanda, Pa. MEDICINE.

THE BRADFORD COUNTY TEACHERS ASSOCIATION met at Athens, Friday morning, Feb. 1, 1861, pursuant to adjournment in the Reformed Dutch church. In absence of the Secretary Mr. Bixby was appointed that office pro tem. The opening exercises, was a song by a choir that prepared music for the occasion of the Association's session. A motion was made and carried that the resolution, now laid on the table regarding the tenor and propriety of teachers detaining pupils at school, &c., be considered. Remarks in favor of the resolution were made by Mr. Bixby; on the negative by Messrs. Chubbuck and O. P. Young. Subject was then deferred. Mr. Corbin, Chairman of the Business Committee, presented a series of Resolutions as topics for discussion by the Association. Report was accepted. Meeting then adjourned.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.—The Association convened. All the officers present. Prayer was made by Rev. Mr. Thurston; after which most capital music was furnished by the Club. The minutes of last session, absent in the morning were then read by the Secretary and approved. Discussion on the subject postponed in the forenoon, the affirmative was carried to that effect being resumed. The main argument offered in support of the proposition seemed to be that the principal object of an instructor's labors mainly the rapid acquisition of education by his or her pupils can only be secured by a compulsory matter—if the amount of study necessary to accomplish the same during school hours has not been engaged in; the best if not the only resort remaining, it was contended is detention at night. The point favorable to the negative, that in the country, scholars generally have work to do at home, towards evening, and therefore should not be kept; was admitted by one of the Speakers to be of much significance. The subject was laid on the table. It was then moved that Resolution No. 1, reported by the Business Committee be adopted—reading as follows: Resolved, That union graded schools are practicable and from their eminent success wherever they have been established in other States as well as in some portions of our own; we believe them to be the most economical and efficient schools for the towns and villages having sufficient population to support them. Hon. Thomas Burrows, State Superintendent, and Mr. Corbin advocated the affirmative and Mr. Leonard the negative. At half past three debate was closed by an order of the day.

Two extracts were ably read by Mr. P. D. Harding and Miss Gates—that of the former entitled "Recollections of a Bachelor" the latter article was a "Certain Lecture from Mrs. Caudle." Discussion on the Graded School question was resumed. Messrs. Kinney, Reeves and Underwood supported the affirmative, and Mr. Tracy the negative. Among the many positions taken by the former side at this time, and also by Messrs. Burrows and Corbin at the opening of debate, were the ones that graded schools are both cheaper and more serviceable than others—that the Legislature enacting our present Common School law contemplated the establishment, in time of Graded Schools in places of proper size, so efficient as to afford the advantages not only of thorough but of advanced education to all attending—that the organization of such tends to destroy aristocratic feelings in community, by upgrading society. The opponents of the question argued that the founding of Graded Schools, in the country, is not advisable inasmuch as the population there is so scattered.—After music by the choir, meeting adjourned.

FRIDAY EVENING.—Association called to order. Business of the evening was introduced with music. Mr. O. J. Chubbuck delivered an interesting lecture upon the subject of education—setting forth his object as regards the subject of education, physically and morally. Our Common School system was alluded to as the best means extant to secure the greatest blessing to the greatest number.—The association next listened to an admirable essay from Miss M. T. Pitcher entitled "Kind words, their beneficial effect, under all circumstances, upon all classes was first mentioned; and, lastly but not primarily, perhaps, in point of power, as described, their influence in the school room was shown. Miss Lydia Carner followed with a most beautiful poem called "Change—Creations Doom." The alteration wrought in the universe since the period when "The Morning Stars sang together," and that which is yet to occur was represented in most elegant style.

The audience was then addressed by Hon. Thomas Burrows. The history of the Common School cause in Pennsylvania, and a statement of the means to be put at work in order to accomplish the great purpose of our present law comprised, in main, the lecture. All, it was said, has been done in the past that could reasonably have been expected. The tree of free knowledge in the Keystone had failed to yield more fruit, not from want of vigor proportionate to its size, but because of its immaturity. That grand development of strength desirable, for which it is capacitated, and to which it is very gradually but in the same degree properly reaching; is as yet not attained. In the matter of obstacles met with, the speaker said that our population, unlike that of Massachusetts and other states, was very much mixed. First in the Scotch, Irish the Germans and the Yankees. The disposal of the demands of educational interests has been wholly within the power of these classes, with their diverse and national views. As evidence of the accomplishment of much reference was made to the very good qualifications of teachers now employed to the interest Directors have manifested in the performance of their duties; and particularly to the fact that at present instead of, as formerly, having an instructor examined by a Doctor, Lawyer, Clergyman, Squire or some other supposed smart man; there has been established by the people chiefly for this object the valuable office of County Superintendent. Parental co-operation, and that of the Clergy, with teachers was stated to be the great desideratum for the future. After music by the choir was listened to the meeting adjourned.

SATURDAY MORNING.—Association opened with prayer by Mr. Corbin. The adoption was moved of the 2d resolution, reading in substance as follows: Resolved, That as a means of spelling difficulties, as well as for social and moral improvement of pupils, the elements of vocal music should be taught in all our common schools.

The affirmative speakers were Messrs. Corbin Dean & Bixby; the negative, Messrs. O. H. P. Kinney, Underwood and Leonard. The leading argument of the first side appeared to be that a knowledge of the rudiments of vocal music is beneficial to every one—that all enjoying the necessary opportunities can learn it as easily; therefore the privilege should be of as general access as possible. The negative replied that all individuals cannot be musically gifted, that such education in the theory is undesirable, and consequently requiring these having "no music in their souls" to attend to this branch, and by so doing to neglect other & by them deemed important studies, is wrong. The following resolution, by a motion that prevailed, was considered: Resolved, That although females in very many instances are better calculated to impart instruction than males, we are still opposed to the policy of employing them in our large winter schools.

The question as to the comparative ability of the sexes in teaching as a different studies; as to the better mode of government—whether by the influence of kind words, gentle voice and persuasive look, or woman's method as a class—or by coercive means, to enforce which, male instructors generally speaking are by nature better fitted, was debated at length by Messrs. Corbin, Morse, Vossburg and Dean on the affirmative of the resolution, and by Mr. Reeves, the negative. Mr. Corbin spoke on the subject, not particularly pro or con. Resolution was then adopted. The Association passed a motion to the effect that the opinion of the audience be expressed. A vote having been taken, question was again declared carried. Mr. O. H. P. Kinney offered the following as a topic for discussion at the next meeting of the Association: Resolved, That it would be impolitic for clergymen when visiting our schools to impart religious instruction to the pupils.

The following embodying a resolution presented by Mr. Harding, and an amendment to the same offered by Mr. Kinney, was unanimously adopted, viz: Resolved, That the thanks of the Association are eminently due and are hereby tendered to the trustees of this building for the excellent accommodations with which we have been favored—to the individuals who have furnished music of a superior quality—to the citizens of Athens for the hospitable reception we have met with—to the School directors of this district—to Mr. P. D. Harding and Miss H. C. Gates for their very fine reading.—To Mr. O. J. Chubbuck for his able lecture—to Miss M. T. Pitcher for her admirable essay, and Miss Lydia Carner for her beautiful poem, and especially to Hon. Thos. H. Burrows, for the pains he has taken in visiting us at this time, and for the valuable instruction we have received during the session of the Association.

These appointments were announced by the President for the meeting at Herick—Lectures—Rev. Geo. Landon and Daniel Cook; Essayists—Miss Mary Iverson and Rosena Durand. Readers—Mr. P. P. Bliss and Miss Mary Camp. The Glee Club, whose grand music kindly furnished during the session of the Association to add interest to the same, received great and universal admiration, then sang a quartette entitled "We're Going Home."—A special vote of thanks was tendered for the last performance. Meeting then adjourned to meet at Herick in the new church, the 1st Friday in June. GEO. D. SCOTT, Rec. Sec'y.
