step of fate. This was war; compact well made, and reasoning war. It was war, too, in all its pomp and glory, as well as in its strength and we at once comprehended we were beaten. In vain did our startled faculties dart alertly hither and thither for some hope; in vain did our thoughts turn quickly upon Patterson. It would not do. Johnson was there before us, with his cool fresh thousands, and our Waterloo was lost. That steady and untired host outnumbered the whole of our worn and staggering columns, and it penetrated us with a conviction of resistless power. Directly, however, did we gather up our force, not by general order, but by one sensible accord, and sad, and pained, and wearied, yet conscious of victory as far as we had fought, we folded up our columns for retreat. The only ones whose hardihood clung spitefully to the strife were a few regulars at the batteries, who, with the infatuation of experts, and begrimmed with the mire of battle from all ordinary recognition, kept peppering at such batteries as would still provoke their fire.

Among the last to turn their faces from the fight they had so gaily sought were the Burnside brigade, which, accompanied by Sprague

I have described how that branch of the service, made its charges in the morning, and how recklessly it always sought its way to the front, through the formed columns of the volunteers. In the same manner did it now go back upon its errand, ridding down everything in its road, and scattering the ranks of the regiments in every direction. The volunteers who had never before seen such a sight, and who were already penetrated with the fearful pageant of the descending enemy, could only understand the movement in one way. Those flying carriages, and those madly excited men were rushing to the rear, and their action was therefore construed into a wild retreat. The thought which appealed to their agitated minds was that if the regulars were in such haste to escape, it was necessary they should hury for themselves, and one fearful panic took possession of them all.

The ranks of most of the regiments were broken, the streams of flying men co mingled: even officers who had behaved with courage throughout the day, felt justified, by the precipitation of the regulars, to urge their men, with a sympathizing sense of pity, to hurry for their lives. Thus, mistake piled upon mistake, acg avated the misfortune, and culminated in a calamity which will rankle in the pride of the Republic throughout all her history. It seems marvelous that men who had borne the brunt of battle so bravely during the entire fight, and who left the field against a courageous foe with more than equal honors, could have so soon sunk into such puerile bewilderment ; but so it was, and they fled headlong from an enemy more deeply hurt than they, and who hardly dared pursue. The panic soon communicated itself to the teamsters of the Federal army, who improperly had pressed too near, and scampering civilians spread the terror with an electric speed fast back to our reserves.

The enemy, perceiving this unexpected phase of our condition, at once sent out his cavalry to harass our flight, and many a fugitive fell before their charges. They rode furiously at our retiring columns, and when defeated of their object by the sublime devotion of our regulars and their cannon, they compensated their bloody rage by riding down and saber ing the wounded. Carrying their atrocity to the extreme, they even assailed a hospital and shot the dying within it, and the physicians who were ministering to their wants. One time," the day's work would have been called a Federa victory, and the asault by our meager divisions, a "re of these retreats they even burned, and all the helpless sufferers within it were consumed. I must pause here, in the name of civilization, breeding, and Christianity, to protest my disbelief that these infernal crimes could have confederate trap, and the result would have been the feeding of these retreats they even burned, and all the consistency and the assume consistency and the assume consistency and the assume consistency and the assume consistency. It was a most providential matter that we hid no more troops than was barely sufficient for such a "reconnoissance" government. It was a most providential matter that we hid no more troops than was barely sufficient for such a "reconnoissance" government. It was a most providential matter that we hid no more troops than was barely sufficient for such a "reconnoissance" and the assume connoissance in force." been inspired or warranted by the leaders of their cause; but that they were perpetrated, and in repeated instances, is beyond dispute.

Through all the terror and confusion, however, there were several regiments which maintained their self-possession, and among these were the Burnside Brigade, the Rhode Islanders and the 71st, bearing their cannon to the bridge, and the entire brigade maintaining a firm line of battle to that point. But there new and unmanageable terrors arose, and the bridge being blocked by overturned caissons sud ambulances, these precious trinkets of the battalion were all necessarily left behind from the utter impossibility of dragging them through the stream. Moreover, the enemy, who had failed to interrupt us at this point in the morning, for fear of discouraging the big Bederal fly from entering his web, was now hitting the bridge most accurately with his shell. Bravery then gave up its heart. Souve quippent became the word of all, and every man took to the creek or tried to fly the bridge for himself.

Thus was the stream crossed by frantic thousands, who then sought the corner of the BRITTANNIA AND PLATED WARE, woods, while others, charged with water and indifferent from sheer desperation, trudged moodily along the open path, as heedless of the explosions, which were spluttering about their heads, as if they were so many harmless Chinese crackers. A few brave spirits would now and then try to inspire the mass with heart, but the dispair was too deep to be disciplined by words, and all such trials vain .-The terrible phantasmagoria of Johnson's three sided square, and those fire-belching gingles now picketed by our dead, were constantly present to their mind, and all felt that it would be through God's mercy only, in holding the sight of the enemy, that any of us would get

THE ACTION OF THE RESERVE.

Having now, by the course of this recital, carried the Federal Army into and through all the perils of the wood, it will be necessary to get them entirely out. This brings us to the action of the reserve, and to the four regiments of Richardson, at Bull Eun. Of the latter however, I have only to say, that he prevented, by his presence, the enemy from turning our flank in that direction, while the New Jersey Regiments were a sfaeguard against our being outcircled cn our right, either at Centreville, or by the way of Falls Church. The regiments constituting the reserve, under Acting Major Gen. (Col.) Miles, I have already enumerated at the outset, and the John Miles, I have already enumerated at the outset, and the John Miles, I have already enumerated at the outset, and the John Miles, I have already enumerated at the outset, and the John Miles, I have already enumerated at the outset, and the John Miles, I have already enumerated at the John Miles already enumerated at the John Miles and the Argus will the public bring the tising his Bindery to include in an uncalled for fing to include a concern, which is being the deuding his Having now, by the course of this recital battle, viewed from their position, would consist merely of fa record of sensations. At 5 o'clock p. m., however, the N. Y. 16th and 31st being well in advance toward Blackburn's Ford, were called upon to stem the time of the Virginia cavalry, who were swooping at our retreating forces. An order from Miles, consequently sent the 1st California Regiment (N. V. 93d) forward to of Mathematics and Natural Sciences. under Col. Matheson (N. Y. 23d), forward to their support; but though the cavalry was thus turned to the right about, it was found to be impossible to stem the mad career of the extraordinary mass that came pouring back upon Centerville.

The best that could be done, therefore, was for the California Regiment to stay just where and its gallant brigadier, and headed by all of its colonels, retired in line of battle, with orders to cover the retreat. Thus howored for its steadiness, the Rhod Islanders took off their battery, and the Tlst departed with its guns. All, thus far, had gone well with the departing movement, and our battalions from every portion of the field were retiring with decorum; when of a sudden some of the persistent regulars who were charged with the protection of the retreat, getting out of ammunition, sent back their caissons for a fresh supply.

I have described how that branch of the remarked, "Well, Sir, the truth is, that for the last few hours I have been giving all the orders for this division and acting as General, too, for there is no General on the field." This incident is worthy of our notice among the field." This incident is worthy of our notice among the lessons of the day.

The Californian here took a new position, nearer Centreville, and watched the terror-stricken crowd as it passed by, repelling, with the aid of Green's battery, several charges of the hostile cavalry. While thus posted at 6½ o'clock p. m., the enemy's cavalry again thowed itself in superior force, and were making a threatening demonstration on the 32d's left, when seeing the 1st Massachusetts coming up from the direction of Bull Run, Matheson went to its Colonel (Cowdin), pointed out the enemy, and asked him if he would stand by him and hold him, if possible, in check. Cowdin quickly seized the The De Kalb of New-York, which had just come in fresh from Alexandria, also yielded to Matheson's com mand, and thus the danger, being well provided against passed off. The three regiments remained in this firm position till the disheartened trail of fugitives from the hattle field had all passed, and then accompanied by Cowdin's and the De Kalb, it fell back with the rest.

Cowdin's and the De Kalb, it fell back with the rest.—
Leaving his regiment near Centreville in the hands of his Lieutenant Cclonel, Matheson, who was still without orders, now went in search of a General, not caring any longer to perform General himself.

He found Miles and Richardson disputing for command, but learning that the former had been superseded by the datter through McDowell's order during the progress of the battle, he took his orders from Richardson during the remainder of the day. That duty, however, was simpy to follow the broken and disheartened columns which poured so grandly forth that morning, back to Fairfax, and thence also to their camps near Washington.

Thus ends the story of the most disastrons expedition

iy to follow the brosen and disheartened columns which poured so grandly forth that morning, back to Fairfax, and thence also to their camps near Washington.

Thus ends the story of the most disastrons expedition which ever followed the fortunes of our flag. The only consideration which I find in the result lies in the fact, that the enemy have proved themselves as brave as our selves. Had they once flaltered, or showed the least lack of courage, they would not be worthy of re union. The great hope of every soldier in our ranks is, that we shall be able to re-conquer under one banner the loyalty and affection of our entire people as of old. And that patriotism would truly be a shabby and short-sighted one, which, when the task is done, would be content, and with such admiration as the world is willing to bestow upon a country, a portion of whose citizens are craven. As for the rout - hich we endure, it was not the result of any lack of manly fortitude on our part. With equal valor, we had shown superior prowess, till despair notified us to retire. The list of dead and wounded on both sides, will establish a balance of exploit and effectiveness in our favor. Ours, in fact, will prove to be less than 1.000 men in all, not more than 300 of whom were killed. The loss of the enemy in slain is said to be 1,200, while the wounded and the missing will probably amount to 3,60 more. The loss of guns on our part amounts to nine-teen, and some four or five thousand stand of arms. But these our weary fugitives had discarded in their path, as a pure measure of relief from fatigues with which their own generals had ovartasked them, as inadequate comparison of those taken priseners shows.

But we need not reason any further on this great disaster. It was a glaring blunder, and though the penalties exceed the value of the lesson, let us hope the calamity will not be without its profit. I havelon suggestions to put forward. The public, who cannot fail to understand the whole matter, will make them for themselves.

The Collegiate year is divided into three terms of 14 weeks each. The Anniversary exercises will be held at the close of the Spring term.

No deduction will be made for absence, except in case of protracted illness of over two weeks.

Instrumental Music will not, as heretofore, be taught in the Institution, but by special arrangement—a class will be taught in a hall adjoining the grounds of the Institute, by the Teacher of Vocal Music.

This arrangement has been adopted for the past term, and experience has proved it to be eminently superior to the plan pursued in former years. Special pains will be taken to secure the greatest progress of those wishing to take lessons in this branch. Terms will be as heretofore:

Tuition on Piano Forte, per term.

Pupils boarding in the Hall will furnish their own tow-els, &c., and the table silver a their option. It is desira-ble that they also furnish their own bed and bedding when it is convenient, but when otherwise, these will be furnished at a slight charge.

It is strongly recommended that students from abroad should board in the Institution, as better opportunities for advancement in study are thereby secured.

Normal Department—Special exercises are arranged without extra charge for those preparing themselves as Teachers of Common Schools. Prof. C. R. COBURN, the able and well known Superintendent of Common Schools in the county, has kindly consented to organize the Teacher's class, and direct the course to be pursued.

He will also be present to conduct its exprises as often cher's class, and direct the course to be pursued.

He will also be present to conduct its exercises as often as practicable, and will deliver frequent lectures on the Theory and Practice of Teaching, as also on other subjects connected with Normal training.

Those persons, therefore, intending to engage in teaching for the winter, will find it greatly to their advantage to be present during the Fall term.

Prof. Coburn's connection with the institution is not such as to in any way interfere with the discharge of the regular duties of his office.

Aver's Sarsaparilla.

A COMPOUND REMEDY, designed to be the most effectual Alterainee that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Stromous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND EMPTIVE DISEASES, ULCRES, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULDUREUX, DEBISITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

INDICESTION, ENVSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the grea machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. Rut the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the

it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the It, but more occause many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or anything else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one collar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has tollowed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to snpply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete cradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.
