SEED WHEAT .- The Michigan Farmer well observes that " whatever may be the variety of seed that is selected, it is important that it should be examined and thoroughly cleaned before being sown. Most farmers are contented with the wheat which they have grown and found to do well on their farms for years; but in many cases it has been found that a change of seed is advantageous, and aids in securing enough advantage to the farmer who is enterprising enough to try it to repay him for his trouble. This is the case, even where the same variety is grown. The Soules wheat for instance, has been grown on the same farm from its own seed for a number of years. We believe, had the wheat grower taken pains occasionally to have procured the seed for his opening or prairie land from districts where a stiffer soil prevailed, that the change would have been beneficial. In most cases where such an experiment has been tried, the result has been favorable, unless prevented by some occurrence of weather or insect, that of course did not influence the actual growth of the plant."

DITCHING WITH A PLOW .- A correspondent of the N. H. Journal of Agriculture says : " In the first place, I plow two furrows, and throw them out; this makes the ditch wide enough at the top. I then plow two more and throw them out. The ditch is then twelve or fifteen inches deep, and one ox can no longer walk in it with the other on the surface. I then take a stout piece of timber, say five or six inches square (a round stick would do as well,) and twelve or fifteen feet long. I lay this across the ditch and hitch a yoke of oxen to each end, so that the timber serves as a long whifiletree, with the plow chained in the middle; and as the ditch grows deeper, the chain is let out longer. In this way, there would be no trouble in plowing six feet deep. The only difficult is in keeping the oxen nearly abreast, as it is new work for them. But by taking light furrows at first, they soon learn. After running the plow through two or three times, throw out the loose earth and plow again.

ON THE WHEAT CEOP .--- The oat crop having been removed, the farmer bastens to prepare the ground from which it has been taken for his wheat crop. The first operation to be performed on his oat-stubble ground is generally plowing ; after which it is harrowed and then marked out by furrows at proper distances, to guide in spreading the baru-yard dung, which is hauled out and placed in heaps along the furrows, so that it may be easily spread.

This being done, the ground should at the proper time be again plowed, harrowed and rolled, preparatory to receiving the seed. Some farmers plow but once, thinking it preferable to two plowings. When this is done, the manure is hauled out on the oat stubble. This practice, however, is not to be recommended. There is a growing difference of opinion among practical men as to the best mode of seeding wheat ; some advocate the drill, and others broadcast from the hand. The advantage from the use of the drill is, that the seed is deposited more evenly, as some think, and at a proper depth ; but is this so? Any one who looks at the operation of the drill may see that the grain is deposited thickly in the row and that between the rows we have a space of four or five inches, where there is no seed ; hence, though that part of the plant which is above ground has room for air and growth between the rows, the roots are too much crowded. Again, as in this vicinity, we sow grass and clover seed with the wheat, as the best means of getting the grass crop, which is, to a degree, the permanent crop; does the grass "take" as well among drilled wheat as where the wheat has been sown broadcast? The wheat crop serves as a nurse or protector to the young grass and clover, sheltering them from drying winds, frost, and hot sun. Now, as the timothy grass seed is generally sown in FASHIONABLE & DESIRABLE STOCK, the antumn, immediately after the wheat has

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Miscellancous.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A compound REMEDY, designed to be the most effectual Alterative that can be made. It is a con-contrasted extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the discases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afficted fel-low-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints : SCOPTLA AND SCHOPTLOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS NYD EQUITYE DISEASES, ULCRES, PIMPLES, BLOCMES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILITS AND SY-FRALDIA OR TID DOLOURRUX, DEBINITY, DYSPESIA AND INDUSTION, ENYSPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from INDUSTION, ENYSPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from INDUSTION, When taken in the spring, to expel the fool hu-mors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disor-ders are nipped in the bod. Multitudes can, by the aid of emptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system ders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of eruptions and olcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitilated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and singgish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your teelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healtby, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health.

Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of his disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the grea machinery of life is disordered or overthrown. Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egre-giously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain bat little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or anything else.

It, but note occause many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or anything else. During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsa-parilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has tollowed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly de-spised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and in-tend to snpply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of oblony which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the disease it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judi-ciously taken according to directions on the bottle. Preparel by Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.--Price, $1 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.

been put in, it would seem that, in the space between the rows of wheat, the young and tender grass is more exposed to these injurious influences than among wheat sown broadcast, which grows evenly (if well sown) over the surface. In England, where the drilling system was first practiced, the rows were sufficiently far apart to admit of the hoe, and the crop was cultivated. It is not usual there to sow grass with the wheat crop-nothing is is suffered to grow but the crop itself.

How far (if it all) is the presence of the grass and clover detrimental to the grain crop? As regards the application of manure to wheat and other crops, is it not a fact that the most valuable portions of baru-yard manure, being salts, soluable in water, descend ? Is it not a fact that ammonia, about the loss of which by volatilization we hear so much, though extremely volatile, does not escape into the air to any great extent, but is largely absorbed and condensed by the surface moisture, and by porous bodies, such as earth, straw, and deeaying matters, on the surface? Chemical experiments show that moisture and ammonia have a powerful affinity for each other, and that porous bodies absorb ammonia largely .---When we consider these facts, and that the more permanent components of manure are in the shape of soluble matters, which the water carries into the soil, is it unreasonable to doubt the propriety of plowing in bard yard manure deep

When it is desired, as is mostly the case, to set the wheat stubble with grass and clover, the timothy, which is in this vicinity preferred to all other grasses for hay, is sown in the autumn, immediately after the seeding of grain ; and the usual course is to sow the clover seed early in the spring, just as the frost is about going out, or, if there should be a light layer of snow, to sow the seed on the snow : and thus, as the snow melts, and the frost disappears, the seed settles into the ground, and is ready to vegetate with the increasing warmth of the season.

EARLY OR LATE SOWING .- The Canadian Agriculturist calls for the experience of its readers in regard to early and late sowing, and quotes an experiment made by Arthur Young, of England, at the close of the last century, in which early sown barley produced much more than that sown at differant later periods the same spring. We would second the call for the experience of farmers on this point. Many thing have to be taken into consideration : difference in variety, season, nature of the soil, etc., would vary the result : but if farmers were more in the habit of keeping a record of their operations, and would communicate the result to the agricultural journals, we should soon obtain a mass of information on this and kindred subjects which would prove of great value.

And opposing, end them." THE proprietor of the Argus takes occasion in adver-tising his Bindery to indulge in an uncalled for fling about a "sort of a concern." which is hoping "to delude the public." As I have opened a Bindery on my own ac-count, the inference is that if the public bring their binding to me, they are in no danger of being defrauded. For two years I have worked for Mr. PARSONS, and he has taken great pains to satisfy the public I was the "best Binder in America," as the columns of the Argus wil testify. Has he been all that time "deluding the pub-lic?" «If I have been engaged in a fraud, he has been the principal. WE have the gratification of announcing to our friends, customers, and the public, that we are now pre-pared to do BOOK BINDING.

in all its Branches in the latest and most approved styles, and on the most favorable terms. Having secured, permanently, the services of Mr. H. C. WHITEKAR, a finished workman from Philadelphia, and having added extensively to the fixtures of the con-cern—giving greater facility than formerly—we can pre-sent to the public the most positive assurance of our abil-ity to please our natrons.

CAUTION .- We are compelled in justice to ourselves and our old customers, as well as to prevent an imposition upon the public generally, to caution them against a sort a concern, that falsely holds out to the public that it is the Argus Bindery. This fraud is practiced no doubt, with a hope of deluding the Public. Against this bold and deliberate attempt to deceive, they are hereby cau-tioned.
