HON. GEORGE LANDON AND COL. V. E. LET .- The citizens of LeRaysville, and adjoining try, extended to their State Senator, the Hon. Ggof N, an invitation to address them on the tonnage stion, and also give his reasons, if reasons he had, for ing for said bill.

sday evening, October 17th, was the time fixed a. On came the evening, and with it a crowded house isten to the man who had their implicit confidence up the time of casting said vote, and even yet, they felt MERCANTILE ACADEMY, t their gifted Senator would be able to give them light n the questions, and show that said vote was a righ-

LANDON, the prenaries having been agreed upon by the parties viz : at nothing of a political character, neither should anying uncourteous be said in the dabate.

The honorable Senator employed his first hour in showng the necessity of corporations, in order to internal imements, and the development of a country, and a hisry of the Pennsylvania Rail Road Company, and also first reason for voting for said bill.

ol. PIOLLET was next introduced, when he proceeded ence, &c. labor wonderfully in his physical surges showing most iders, as a champion of Democracy, and from what ed been said by the honorable Senator, and what was to come from him, it was clear to the Colonel that it not going to be so easy a matter for him to throw his thy of a better cause than the one the Colonel had Ome to represent, for after a few physical demonstra.

Owing to the fact that all confidence in the present Credit System is destroyed the subhas, the burden became oppressive, so much so that cravat was removed to give larger vent to gas now scaping. But notwithstanding this precaution, upon the art of the Colonel, yet before his hour was up, that nice All those having unsettled accounts with us will oblige us by settling the same at once, and all Notes and judgments due us must be paid soon in order to save cost.

J. F. LONG & SON. of point any other way, had ceased to shine, and had lietly taken in its sail, and now lay in close reef upon neck of its champion.

The Colonel first attacked all corporations as dangeress to the best good of the masses, and then got into a little self glorification that he had once been their honor-markers, and what he done, &co., and finally con-Mapresentative, and what he done, &co., and finally concluded that the Pennsylvania Railroad should be taxed, ecause it is doing well and making money, and all others should be free from tonnage tax, because they don't make as much money. That was the natural inference of

But the great difficulty with this champion was, that he entirely fiailed to make any point clear that he took up, save two: 1. That he had been once to the Legislature ; 2. That the people of Bradford county probably newer want him again in that position.

The hour being up, the Hon. GEO. LANDON again took the floor, and, in his masterly style, he nailed all the ther day with a steeple to it. It is belived that sophism of his antagonist to the wall, with facts and ilcorner day norder to keep pace with the spir- lustrations that were felt by the champion and his few sympathizers, but nicely enjoyed by the people.

The honorable Senator then proceeded and finished, giving the people his reasons why he had voted for the repeal of the tonnage tax:—

1. It was a previous contract between the State and the insylvania Railroad Company, that in case the Company bought the State Canal running alongside of their Road, the tax should be removed.

2. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company having purchased said line from the State, there could be now no more justice in putting a tonnage tax upon its freight,unless all other roads were equally taxed.

4. The people prayed for its removal who were thus burdened.

The above is a synonsis of our honorable Senator's reaons, as presented, and argued in his clear and convincing and masterly style, to the entire satisfaction of most of those present, from the fact that when he was through and sit down, the Colonel, feeling that he was whipped, notwithstanding his previous wish to have an opportunity to meet the honorable Senator in debate, arose to reply, when the congregation met him with hisses and noises of various kind, and a general move for the door was made, but the Chairman persuaded them to remain and listen to the geutleman. Order was partially restored, and the champion tried to rally under the preasure against him, but the congregation could not be held by his sophism longer, and hence a general stampede amid his tailing oratory, and to his great confusion and defeat n his object in coming to LeRaysville, for the people said by their acts, " We are convinced that our honored Sen-A LISTENER.
