Sugar Making—Sugaring Off.
EDITOR CO. GENT.—I have been reading of late the process of manufacturing maple sugar of your different correspondents. They describe the process very well as far as they go, but it seems to me they have left out the most essential part, viz: Sugaring off. The way it is generally managed by a great majority of sugar makers, is a tedious business—put into some pot or boiler over a stove, and then watched and tended for half a day or more—the sweating business generally attended to by the women of the household, and if left a moment to other duties, ever goes and the labor of a whole day lost, and perhaps the sugar burned at last. The way to do it is to have a brass kettle which will hold four or five pails—a pot or kettle will do if nothing better is at hand. Take it to the sugar bush with you, which saves the labor of lugging the syrup half a mile or more to the house (which by the way is an up hill business), and relieves the women of a disagreeable job. Stick down a couple of crochets, put a pole across, and hang the kettle with a chain—have a platform ready to set your dishes upon to receive the sugar. After cleansing, which should be done with a slow fire, put in a lump of butter as large as a butternut, for a batch of fifty pounds. Then start a smart fire and do not let the fire slack till towards the last, when there will be a good bed of coals to finish up, which is better than a blaze. It will not run over. If it shows any tendency to running over, add a little more butter. One hour is sufficient if driven smartly, to bring the mass to caking condition. The faster it is sugared down the better will be the sugar.

The way to know when it is done sufficiently to take; take the twig of a tree about a foot and a half long, dip it into the boiling sugar to liber it; then the loop in the small end, leaving the hole about half an inch in diameter. When you think it is nearly done, dip this loop into the sugar and bring it up quickly, and blow through the loop. When it will go off in a ribbon eight or ten feet long, it is done; but wait a few minutes then try again till it will perform according to order. Take it off, stir it a short time; then pour it into your caking dishes, and the work is done. Then you can carry it to the house without stopping over.

The great secret is the lump of butter. Sugar makers, try it.

SOW SPRING WHEAT EARLY.—"My experience teaches me," says a correspondent of the Wisconsin Farmer, "that we must sow our wheat as early as possible. There is hardly any danger of sowing too early. Two years ago I sowed a small piece in Canada Club spring wheat on the fifth day of April. That piece yielded 33 bushels to the acre in that poor season. The berry was plump and heavy, weighing 61-1/2 pounds to the bushel and dry. I continued to sow, as the rains and state of the weather would allow, until about the first day of May, and I must say, that just in proportion to the date of sowing, were the amounts and quality of the crop; the piece which was sown and harvested the last day of April being badly rusted, and not yielding over eight or nine bushels of poor shrunken wheat per acre; while that portion of the field covered about the 10th of the same month, turned out between twenty-five and thirty bushels of very marketable grain. The piece sown about the 18th and 20th of April was not so good as that sown before, yet far better than the last sown."

In connection with the foregoing the New England Farmer remarks, that of the two wheat crops submitted last year to the Essex County Agricultural Society, one was sown April 7th, and the other "when the harrow struck the frost." The premium was awarded to the latter sowing.

THE BEST TIME TO SOW PLASTER.—For about a dozen years, we have annually made experiments on sowing plaster. We have had it sowed on grass land in every month in the year, except November and December. We have been successful, some times, with most of the different applications; but have invariably been fully satisfied that that sown in the month of March. On grass land we think three-fourths of a bushel per acre, sown in March, of more value than double the amount in May or June.

OUR CUSTOM IS, if possible, to sow it on a light sown, the melting of which seems to have a beneficial effect in dissolving gypsum. Where we had five acres, four years ago, and left a corner to note the effect, it has been visible for miles each summer since; the piece left unplastered certainly a third less feed and of a much paler color. Last year the plaster sown in March "worked wonders," while that of May and June seemed to be lost entirely. Try it. —H. in Otesgo Rep.

NOW IS THE TIME TO TAKE UP THE CATWISSA Raspberry, part them and plant the pieces in a box under glass. A little bottom heat applied will be serviceable. Care must be taken to keep the soil moderately moist—When the sun becomes hot, as is very frequently the case in this and the next month, ventilate at mid day. When the shoots make their appearance and until they are three inches high, they require particular care in watering so as not to scald them by too much water and the hot sun, without proper airing to counteract it. The same remark may be made in regard to grapes. We cut the raspberry roots into pieces leaving but one eye to a piece, and plant one inch deep, the same as a grain of corn.—Germantown Td.

TO MAKE CIDER WINE.—Take pure cider, made from sound ripe apples, as it runs from the press—put sixty lbs. of common brown sugar into 15 gallons of the cider, and let it dissolve; then put the mixture into a clean barrel, fill it up within two gallons of being full, with clean cider—put the cask into a cool place, leave the bung out for forty eight hours; then put in the bung with a small vent, until fermentation wholly ceases, and bung up tight and in one year it will be fit for use. This wine requires no racking; the longer it stands upon the less the better. This wine is almost equal to grape wine, when rightly managed.

A sailor dropped out of the rigging of a ship-of-war, some fifteen or twenty feet, and fell plump on the first Lieutenant. "Wretch!" said the officer, as he gathered himself up. "Where did you come from?" "I came from the North of Ireland, your honor."

When a boy gets to think himself above paternal authority, they should try to shake him in his belief.

"To be, or not to be—hat is the question!"
The stings and arrows of outrageous oppression, Or by taking up arms against a sea of printing ink, And opposing, end them."
The proprietor of the Argus takes occasion in advertising his Bindery to indulge in an uncalled for fling against a "sea of printing ink," which is nothing more than the public. As I have opened a Bindery on my own account, the inference is that if the public bring their binding to me, they are in danger of being defrauded. For two years I have worked for Mr. Parsons, and he has taken great pains to satisfy the public was the "best Binder in America," as the columns of the Argus will testify. Has he been engaged in a fraud, "to defraud the public?" If he has been engaged in a fraud, he has been the principal. But I refer to my work during that time, and during that time he has been no fraud practiced.
Having served a long apprenticeship at the Bindery business, I have remained here on my own account, as I know of nothing which prevents me from following a legitimate and lawful calling for my support. I should endeavor by good work and attention to my business to give public satisfaction.

The New National Loan.
THE UNDERSIGNED HAVING BEEN appointed by Hon. S. P. CHASE, Secretary of the Treasury, Agent for receiving subscriptions to the New National Loan of Treasury Notes, bearing interest at the rate of 7-1/2 per cent. per annum, hereby give notice that a subscription book is now open at the above named office.
These notes will be of the denomination of $50, $100, $500, $1,000, and $5,000, and are all dated 10th of August 1861, payable in gold in three years, or convertible into a twenty year six per cent loan, at the option of the holder. Each Treasury Note has interest coupons attached, which can be cut off and collected in gold at the Mint every six months, and at the rate of one cent per day on each $50.

Any explanations required by the subscriber will be cheerfully made, and they will, by the plan adopted, be saved from any trouble of writing letters, the undersigned reporting each subscription to the Treasury Department, from whence the Treasury Notes will be sent to each subscriber as soon as possible.
The ample security of this loan, its great convenience, together with the patriotic desire to sustain the Government and to exchange in the present crisis will, it is hoped, induce a liberal subscription from the citizens of this county.
Payment of subscriptions may be made in GOLD or CHECKS, or NOTES UP ANY OF THE CITY BANKS.

The Argus Book bindery
Again in Full Operation!
We have the gratification of announcing to our friends, customers, and the public, that we are now prepared to do in all its Branches in the latest and most approved styles, and on the most favorable terms.
BOOK BINDING,
Having secured, permanently, the services of Mr. H. C. WHITEHEAD, a first class workman from Philadelphia, and having added extensively to the fixtures of the concern—giving greater facility than formerly—we can present to the public the most positive assurance of our ability to please our patrons.
Customers should be particular to remember that the "Argus Bindery," is in the Argus Building, as formerly, (first building north of the Ward House) and is connected with our Book and Stationery Store and Printing Office, where all work should be delivered.
CAUTION.—We are compelled in justice to ourselves, and our old customers, as well as to prevent an imposition upon the public generally, to caution them against a sort of concern, that falsely holds out to the public that it is the Argus Bindery. This fraud is practiced no doubt, with a hope of deluding the Public. Against this bold and deliberate attempt to deceive, they are hereby cautioned.
Particular attention paid to re-binding. All work guaranteed.
Country Produce of all kinds taken in payment for work.
Having made complete arrangements, we are prepared to bind and BIND BOOKS in any style or pattern, at prices as low as elsewhere.
