RETURNED .- Dr. WESTON, after an ab sence of several weeks, has returned, and his office is now open to visitors. Those residing in the country can make their appointments by letter.

10 Last week, in Harrisburg, a girl named EMMA WINGERED, was handling a pistol which she thought to be unloaded, playfully pointed it at a com panion, Mrs. EDWARDS, and pulled the trigger. A deaf-ening report followed, and Mrs. EDWARDS fell to the floor shot through the breast. She died a few hours after.

WILL BE AT THE HORSE SHOW .- The valuable horse that was captured from the rebels at New. bern, N. C., some time since, we learn, will be at Williamsport at the Horse Show the coming fall. It is said that the proprietor, M. E. JORDAN, has been offered and refused $20,000 for him.

VICTIMS OF THE FLOOD -On Friday woman, were discovered buries in the sand near Burling of anything that we have ever before heard of. ton about two miles below Mauch Chunk. The remains of a habe were also found near Weissport. All through the valley corpses are continually discovered partly buried in the sand, or under the drift-wood. The loss of life by this great freshet was terrible beyond calculation.

HINTS TO WRITERS OF BUSINESS LETTERS, -Holbrook's United State's Mail says : "It would be well for merchants and others, when mailing valuable letters, to do it in such a manner that legal proof can, it necessary, be produced to substantiate the fact of such letters having been actually deposited in the mails. It is enstomary to prepare such letters and hand them to a escape from jail at that place, of HIRAM HALE, sentenced Post Office messenger for mailing, without calling special attention to them, and thus, in case of loss, no one is able to swear positively to the essential fact that the missing letters were actually mailed. In a recent case, tried at Rochester, this embarrassing state of things existed, and would have defeated justice, but for other strong presumptive evidence that the letter did get into the mails. A memorandum book, kept in every counting house, in which the fact of the mailing of valuable letters may be recorded by the person actually mailing them, would involve but little trouble, and might prove Too Good to BE LOST .-- One evening last week, a party of young " bloods" crossed the river for the purpose of attending a dance at a hotel not a hundred miles from this place. As the evening was warm refreshing" drinks were, of course, quite freely indulg- line of ed in, till at last "tangle foot" rather got the advantage of a portion of the crowd. One young gent proposed to retire," and starting out, went to the canal, where he entirely undressed, whether for the purpose of geiting mto bed, or going into the water, does not appear, but be that as it may, he at all events started for home in a state of nudity, leaving his clothing on the bank of the canal He crossed the bridge, climbed over the gate, and from there went to his hotel, at the lower end of town, and the doors being locked crawled in at the window and made his way to his 100m, where he went to bed. In the morning his clothes were found where he had left them . and alarm given that he had been drowned. A messenger was immediately despatched to his hotel to ascer tain if he had returned, and the landlord proceeding to his room found him fast asleep, unconscious of the excitement he had caused among his friends.

> 19 A PERFECT AMAZON .- Under this heading the Luzerne Union mentions an adventure of a character pretty well known thereaboust by the b'hoys a "BIG KATE" or BLUE BONNET." She is a young woman of remarkably easy virtue, and dressed in the habilaments 10- A CURIOSITY .- Baroum's last curiosity of the other sex, no doubt passes for a good looking and is a small baby; a very pocket edition of the article. The extremely fast young man. The Union says :-- "Hap baby is eight months old, and weighs only one pound and peuing in the Court House on Monday morning, we saw seven ounces. It is perfect in form and features. An one of the most decided specimens of bravery in petti-idea of its littleness may be gained from the fact that Mr. coats it has ever been our lot to witness. EXAMPLE CAUTION.—The editor of the Pittston Gazett-says: "It may not be known to all that the leaves of wild cherry are poisonous to cattle. A neigh owners without salvage. The bill granting a or of ours in West Pittston, lost a cow last week from pension to the widow of Gen. C. F. Smith pass his cause. The leaves, especially when partly wilted. are said by physicians, to contain a large quantity of Prussic acid, a deadly poison. Care should be taken, in trimming or entring down these trees, that the branches are put where cattle cannot reach them.

lina, dated June 8th, gives an account of a little skirmish in which three of the boys in that Company were wounded. The releas' guns were lorded with backsho: HENRY SCOTT, of this place, received three ; J. S. BALL, four, and Towner, seven. Neither of them are danger ously wounded.

Dennsylvania State Teachers' Insti-TUTE .- All those engaged in teaching and who wish to keep pace with the progress or the age, in the art of ac. quiring and the still more important art of imparting knowledge to those committed to their charge, should. before making arrangements for their summer vacation visiting remember that the State Teachers' Institute and continues four days. As all teachers who labor in their avocation have need of recreation, there is no better way than traveling in a healthy region like that between this section of country and Reading. Eminent men of our own and other States will be there to give instruc tion. There is no doubt but the Reading Rallroad Company will issue accursion tickets on that occasion.

In the late battle near Richmond, Company F., 5th Pennsylvania Regiment, Capt. STUR-BOCK was engaged. In the list of wounded we notice the names of several in that Company. None are reported killed. As far as we have been able to ascertain, the list is as fsilows :--

Lieut. RIDDLE, side and head. MICHAEL GEHLEY, head, severely. JOHN REMHART, shoulder, severly. THOMAS BROSE, RICHARD PITCHER.

THE USE OF FRUIT .- As the practice of purchasing and eating fruit of all kinds is now in Jgue, we clip from an exchange a few suggestions in reference to the use of such laxuries, which may not be amiss : " Fruit to be beneficial, must be used in moderation and in season, as may lead to internal commotion and cholera morbus. Strawberries may be indulged in ad lib with or without cream ; but it is hardly judicious to allow a child six months old, to cat a quart of green gooseberries just before going to bed. In eating cherries, plums and peaches, it is not necessary to swallow the pits, and it is injurious to women and children when car. ried to excess. Red currants should be used in moderation, unless reduced to pies ; but they are still better in the shape of wine. Pineapples should be pealed when eaten, as the skin is rough and liable to irritate the coats of the stomach. The same rule is usually applied to banannas and oranges, in which case be sure and throw the skins on the sidewalk as it is very amusing to see people slip down on them ; if they break a leg, there is a few dollars for the surgeon and an item for the reporters; the act is therefore both landable and amusing .-- loyal citizens of the United States which have been captured by the Rebels, when taken by ed. The bill proscribing an additional oath to every officer of the Government, except the President, was agreed to. The bill establish ing certain National Arsenals, was also passed.

V ESCAPE OF REBEL PRISONERS FROM CAMP The Bradford boys in the army, have. MORTON - A gentleman who reached this city some of them at least, " smelt powder." A letter from a yesterday afternoon, from Indiarapolis, gives private in Capt. TELFORD's Company, from South Caro- us the following particulars of the escape of six rebel prisoners from Camp Morton, on Thursday afternoon last :

It seems that these six rebel prisoners had obtained permission, from the officer in command, to go to a creek near by, to bathe, and an escort of six Home Gnards, with Eufield rifles, was provided to accompany them. After walking along some distance, talking a:d laughing, the conversation turned on the saperiority of the Eafield rifle over any other arms, and one or two prisoners took the guns from the Guards to examine them. In an instant the six rebels became possessed of the arms of meets in the city of Reading, on the 12th of August next, their escort, and, making tracks for the woods, were soon out of sight - Cin.
