Toads are very useful animals to the farmer and gardener, and it is a pity that they are not equally so to the bee-keeper. The insectiverous propensities that induce them to swallow beetles, moths and catterpillars, unfortunately lead them to eat bees; and not the big fat drones alone-those fussy old fellows, that, like some bipedal animals of higher order, make a great din and do little-but the industrious workers, that come home laden with honey or pollen, are taken in, and no questions asked. His toadship sits quite still, and whenever a poor little bee comes within reach of his long, flexible tongue, there is a quick snap, and presto, the bee is gone. Not content with catching bees on clover heads, and among the flowers and grass, toady becomes impatienthe marches up to the bee hive, and woe betide the poor, wearied bee that drops short of the alighting board when he is by.

We once had two hives placed close to the ground, and with alighting boards that were easily accessible to the toau, if he chose to jump a little. One morning there were two middle-sized ones seated on the alightingboards, like sentries, on each side of the entrance, and they exacted toll from every bee that attempted to enter, and the toll was like that levied by the old robber barons of the Rhine; it was all they had, and themselves too. The other hive had a great fat overgrown fellow playing the part of King Crane. The way he took down a bee showed that he was an adapt at the business. There he sat, squatted on the board, with head close to the entrance, and his big goggle eyes sparkling -Miss Bee alights. The great mouth is opened -the tongue thrust out, and as quickly drawn back, and with it the gatherer of honey .-Some minutes were devoted to the study of this trait in the toads character, and then they found themselves taking an involuntary flight over a fence .-- Ohio Farmer.

Hogs IN THE APPLE ORCHARD. - Nobody sends such apples to market as my neighbor John Jacobs. He always has apples to sell and gets the highest price. Folks prefer fair, large apples, and such are always packed in Jacob's barrels. You might search them with a candle and not find a knotty fruit or a worm hole. Such Rhode Island Greenings and Roxbury Russetts I have never met with in the States. They are as handsome as anything in the virgin soil of the west.

I was going to Jacob's orchard last summer. and I had the curiosity to call and examine for myself. Says I, " Neighbor, what is there in your soil that makes such smooth large apples? They are a third larger than anything I can get, and my trees look as well as yours. The secret is not in the soil," John replied with a twinkle in his eye; do you see those grunters there ? My pork brings me fifty cents a pound-eight in flesh, and the balance in fruit. I began to pasture my orchard ten years ago with hogs, and since that time I have had no trouble with wormy fruit. Apples, as a general thing, don't fall from the tree unless something is the matter with them. The apple worm and curculio lay their eggs in the fruit, and the apples drop early. The pigs devour the apples, and by September every unsound apple is gone and I have nothing but fair fruit left. The crop of insects for the next year is destroyed by the pigs. They root tail, at around under the trees, keep the soil loose, manure the land some, and work over what manure I spread. The apples help the pigs, and the pigs help the apples."

I saw John's secret at once, and have profited by it. I never had so few insects as this spring, and I give pigs the credit for it. In turning the orchard into a pasture put in pigs -not lank pikes with snouts like levers. You might lose trees as well as insects in that case. But well bred animals, with judicious snouts, will root in a subdued and christian-like manner .- Agriculturist.

PURE WATER FOR STOCK.—A good draught LAT ESTFROM W. A. R. of good water is, probably, as refreshing to beasts as it is to people. But in the hot sea son nearly all domestic animals suffer far more than we imagine, for want of good water .-Sheep will thrive far better. Teams will endure the heat far better if they can have a plenty of clean pure water, and if milch cows must drink stagnant water wherever they can find it, how is it possible for them to give their usual flow of good milk? It is impracticable for them to do it.

Some people allow water to stand in troughs day after day, many times, and compel their animals to drink it all up. Did such people ever drink water from an old dirty slop-pail, after it had been allowed to stand in the sunshine for two or three days? Let them try the experiment of drinking such water, and wait the result; and they will be prepared to express a correct opinion, whether or not such water is as good for stock in the sultry days of August, as pure cold water would be.

Water troughs and water tanks should be cleaned frequently during hot weather, and fresh water pumped into them several times a Milch cows require a vast quantity of pure water in hot weather, in order to produce the usual flow of good mitk.

The demand for grain and breadstuffs is likely to be unusually large. Not to speak of the foreign market, there will be a great demand at home. The operations of the war must have diminished the product of grains somewhat in the North and still more in the South. With all the efforts of the Confederate Government to secure an increased supply of breadstuffs at home, it is not likely the South will produce as much grain as usual .-Our advancing army has found destitution in many places, and there is, doubtless, much more than has been heard of. There cannot fail to be a great demand for provisions in the South as soon as they are again thrown open.

By an arrangement with the merchants, he is enabled South as soon as they are again thrown open

The proprietor of the Argus takes occasion in advertising his Bindery to indulge in an uncalled for fling about a "sort of a concern," which is hoping "to delude the public." As I have opened a Bindery on my own account, the inference is that if the public bring their binding to me, they are in no danger of being defrauded. For two years I have worked for Mr. Parsons, and he has taken great pains t satisfy the public I was the "best Binder in America," as the columns of the Argus will testify. Has he been all that time "deluding the public?" If I have been engaged in a fraud, he has been the principal.
