The great increase in the price of paper, which we have before noticed, has caused newspaper publishers throughout the country to raise their subscription to meet the emergency. Paper has within the last few weeks gone up from 10 to 22 cents per pound. Should it remain permanent at this latter price, we cannot furnish the REPORTER at one dollar a year, without a loss upon every copy issued. We lican, re-elected for six years from 4th of other camps connected with this, including, in are loth to increase the subscription, but from present indications, and from the information we have from our paper manufacturers, we shall probably be obliged to.

AN APPEAL TO THE LADIES OF BRADFORD County .- To you, dear friends, who, from the commencement of these "troublous times," have manifested such an untiring interest in the welfare of our soldiers, and whose hands have been busied night and day in efforts to add to their comfort, I present this appeal in behalf of Post Hospital, feeling well assured, from my acquaintance with the ladies of Bradford, that it will not remain long unresponded In fact, I am certain that many of you will say, as we have already said : "We would gladly have sent before, to the relief of the CAPTURE OF ARKANSAS POST. THE REPORT FULLY CONFIRMED.

Eight Regiments of Rebels Captured. ANOTHER FORT DONELSON VICTORY.

The following has been received at the headquarters of the army : Мемриів, Тепп., Јап. 14, 1862.

To Major-General H. W. HALLECK, Gen.-in-Chief : I have the honor to report that the forces under my command attacked by the Post of Arkansas to day at 1 o'clock, having stormed the enemy's works. We took a large number of prisoners, variously estimated at from seven to ten thousand, together with all his stores, animals, and munitions of war.

Rear-Admiral David D. Porter, commanding the Mississippi Squadron, effectively and brilliantly cooperated, accomplishing this complete success.

JOHN A. M'CLERNAND, Maj.-Gen. Commanding. U. S. GRANT, Major-General. CAIRO, Ill., Jan. 17, 1863.

She confirms the captures of that place. The attack was made on Friday eveing by the gunboats.

The land force debarked two miles below and marched to the rear of the rebel fortifications and took them.

Two miles below the main fort the rebells had erected earthworks, which were shelled by our gunboats.

The rebels replied to the fire, doing some damage to the gunboats. Three balls entered the portholes of the Lexington, killing four men. The main fort which is represented as very strong, surrendered on Sunday. The officers of the Storm say that six rebel regiments were captured in the earthworks at daylight on Mouday. Two Texas regiments who came to reinforce the place, being ignorant that it had surrendered, were also captured. Nearly all the ammunition taken by the rebels from the steamer Blue Wing some days since was re-captured. A reconnoissance which was sent up the river had not returned when the Storm left. Our loss is not so heavy as at first reported.

Letter from Col. D. M. Bull.

WASHINGTON CITY, Jan. 14, 1863.

JOSEPH G. PATTON-My Dear Sir:-It was my misfortune to be taken prisoner of war and all my personal property confiscated. It consisted of a fine span of horses and carriage wagon, one span of splendid young mules, harness and wagon, three tents, kitchen furniture, etc., embracing a comfortable outset for a travelling party-(having been in the business about one year, I had everything in apple pie order)-together with four two horse wagon loads of choice sutler goods. Myself, three sons, and colored cook fell into the enemy's hands, as well as the above property. I saved nothing but the clothes on my back, except what money I had, which, on the approach of the enemy, I placed in the bottom of my youngest son's foot and drew his stocking on over it. DAVE and REEVES were released on account of size and age. He closed his address with these words : But now, my friends, these bright visions of hope cannot be realized but in consequence of long, ardent, and united prayer. The church and the nation must get down on their knees before the mercy seat. A nation on its knees is omnipotent with God. STAMPS UPON JUDGMENT NOTES AND BONDS. -We copy the following letter from the Gettysburg Star and Banner. It contains information valuable to business men :-

HON. E. M'PHERSON-SIR :- Your letter of the 17th ult., asking, in behalf of the Prothonotary of Adams county, for information in regard to stamps, under the operation of the Excise Law, upon judgment notes and bonds, is just at hand. I have to state, that the common form of judgment bonds and notes in use in Pennsylvania, require to be stamped as follows :

The bond, as a personal bond, requires a mortgage stamp, under head of "mortgage," schedule B.

The power, or warrant of attorney, to confess judgment thereon, requires a stamp, as general power of attorney. (See 4th clause schedule B.) The judgment note is subject to duty as a promissory note, under head, "Bills of exchange Inland" (schedule B, p. 88) And also to general power stamps as in case above.

The above roling will apply to the forms of bonds and notes in ordinary use in your State. I am, dear sir, your obedient servant, G. F. BOUTWELL, Revenue Com'r.

According to this decision of the Commissioner, the stamps on a judgment bond, given for any sum exceeding $100, and not exceeding $500, will cost $1 50, viz: 50 cents for mortgage stamp, and $1 for power of attorney

The promissory note stamp on a judgment note will be less than the mortgage stamps.

Promissory notes for a sum between $20 and $100 require a stamp, however, and the $1 power of attorney stamp must be used on all judgment notes.

So far as it is understood now, the least expensive mode of giving judgement is by confession on an amicable action, for which strict. ly there is no stamp provided in the schedule, but which, as is the opinion of some of the members of the bar, cannot be subject to more than a fifty cent stamp for any amount.
