TOWANDA:

Thursday Morning, February 12, 1863.

Our neighbor, of the Argus, is fast easting off the thin disguise which he has worn, and advocating in his columns the doetrines and views which he does not hesitate personally to avow. His sympathy with the peace, conservative copper-head semi-secessionists becomes every day more and more apparent. The bargain which was made last fall, when the Argus struck hands with the demoeratic leaders, reaches its consummation, and from present appearances, we shall soon have the Argus enjoying the unenviable position of a Democratic organ.

We have seen many cases of shameful political apostacy, but none so lamentable as that presented by the Argus. When it was an organ of the Whig party, there were none more earnest in propagating anti slavery views -and since it has sailed under Republican colors, it has professedly advocated the measpres of the Republican party. Now it becomes suddenly conservative, and though the editor does not print the sentiments he so loudly proclaims personally, yet his enmity to Republicanism is apparent in each issue. If Republican principles ever had a foot-hold with him, contact with his new-found Democra tic friends and patrons has succeeded in eradicating them completely. If this is not so, why the exultation of the Argus over the election of Mr. Buckalew as U. S. Senator? Why the endorsement of that ultra pro slavery Breckinridge democrat? Why does the Argus allow itself to use such slang in speaking of the removal of postmasters, as "They are for the Union ? Don't believe a nigger is any better than a white man?" Such expressions in the connexion in which this was made are the grossest blackguardism, indulged in only by pro-slavery fanatics, as a term of reproach to are generally those who believe that a white man who owns a nigger is better than a man who don't ! At any rate, it is a vile sentence to fling at a Republican Senator and Con-

The Daily News also calls attention to the murder of twenty captured negroes by the Rebels. SENATOR SAULSBURY .- One of the most disgraceful scenes ever enacted in the United States Senate occurred there last week, when Senator Saulsbury in a drunken fit outraged all decorum by denouncing the President in the earnest terms, refusing to come to order and threatening to shoot the Sergeant-at-Arms if he ventured to arrest him. Twice he was taken out and twice he returned to disguest the spectators and disgrace his country by his drunken antics. We had intended to notice the financial measures now before Congress, but the following remarks from the Philadelphia Inquirer of the 31st ult. are so well expressed, and cover the ground so completely, that we cannot do better than to copy it entire. We are glad to see that there is a fair prospect of the passage of the finance bill with the banking feature attached to it. We trust that Congress will not fail to sanction what appears to be the almost unanimous voice of the country, and give to us a currency uniform and of the same value in Maine and Massachusetts as in Missouri and Iowa, instead of our present heterogeneous mass of State and local banks :

SUMMARY OF NEWS.

The Army of the Potomac is still quiescent. The roads, after the late storm, are in a sad condition, rendering all movements impossible.

By an arrival at Suffalk from Richmond we learn that the new Merrimac is now lying between seven and eight miles below Richmond. It is pierced for two guns on each side, and will carry one forward and aft. The vessel is prenounced by many a failure, while there are others who are confident of its success. Two other iron-clads are in process of construction there. The rebels are throwing up earthworks in every direction for the defence of the rebel capital.

BEAUFORT, S. C., January 25, 1863. To Hon. E. M. STANTON, Secretary of War :

DEAR SIR : I have the honor to report that the organization of the First Regiment of South Carolina Volunteers is now completed. The regiment is light infantry, composed of ten companies of about eighty-six men each armed with muskets, and officered by white men. In organization drill, discipline and morals, for the length of time it has been in service, this regiment is not surpassed by any white regiment in this Department. Should it ever be its good fortune to get into action. I have no fears but it will winits own way to the cosfidence of those who are willing to recognize courage and manhood, and vindicate the wise policy of the Administration, in putting these men into the field and giving them a chance to strike a blow for the country and their own liberty. In no regiment have I ever seen duty performed with so much cheerfulness and alarcity. As sentincles they are peculiarly vigilant. I have never seen in any body of men such enthusiasm and deep seated devotion to their officers as exist in this .-They will surely go where they are led. Every man is a volunteer, and seems fully persuaded of the importance of his service to his race .-In the organization of this regiment I have latored under difficulties which might have discouraged one who had less faith in wisdom of the measure, but I am glad to report that the experiment is a complete success. My belief is, that when we get a footing on the mainland, regiments may be raised which will de more than any new in service to put down

I have sent a regiment upon an expedition to the coast of Georgia, the result of which I shall report for your information as soon as

I have the honor also, to report that I have commenced the organization of the second regiment, which is to be commanded by Colonel
