JEFFERSON DAVIS.

It is said that the trial of the great conspirator has been finally settled upon, and that he is to be arraigned before a civil Court. In our way of thinking, this is equal to an acquital. For, at no point where he can be tried, can a jury be impanneled where one or more copperheads, or traitors -and they are one and the same thing simmered down-will not be on the panel, and with one of these on it, a conviction for High Treason against Jefferson Davis, will be impossible. So far, therefore, as the ends of justice are concerned, the government may as well set him at liberty without the exposure, and mockery of a trial.

If the government granted a civil trial to Davis in deference to copperhead opinions, or to stop their abuse, it has not acted wisely. The copperheads deserved no such consideration, nor will any concession to their views arrest their censures. From the beginning, they have justified the rebels in every act and measure projected to sever the Union; and as positively condemned every thing the government did to arrest their treason. Nothing but her own strong arm hindered the entire horde of Northern copperheads from making common cause with the rebellion. All know this. Why then, consult them more than HUNTER, Wise, Toombs, or any other open rebel,

In addition to this, the whole Union sentiment of the country insists upon Davis' then went to the woodpile and found a club punishment. Especially too, when there is no necessity for it. It will look to many like mockery. To some it will have the appearance of connivance at

Why change the mode of the trial of the conspirators? Mrs. Surratt and her coterie, the humble victims of a fell delusion, have no chance offered them of packing a jury that will acquit them. > But, on what principle does the government concede to Jefferson Davis a trial by a civil court? If he is tried for high treason as a citizen of the United States, it must be at Montgomery or Richmond, or where ever else the acts of treason, for which he is to be tried, were committed; and at such point, a trial would be worse than idle. Wirz is tried by a Court Martial for acts committed against the rules of modern warfare, and the laws of nations; but he must be recognized as an alien enemy before he can be so tried. For as citizen he would have to be tried at Ander sonville where his inhuman acts were perpetrated. And how can the government make an alien enemy of Wirz, try him as office, as in crime, and who worked together under the same government, as a citizen of the United States?

> SANGUINARY ENGAGEMENT WITH A BURGLAR On Monday morning last about three o'clock in the morning, Mr. Jas. Wait a merchant at Hollisterville, was awakened by a noise in his room, and looking from his bed where himself and wife were sleeping in the second story of his house, he covered a man endeavoring to open h s Burean drawer. He immediately leaped from his bed and caught him, one arm around his body, and the other his throat. The latter caught an immense pair of false whiskers and moustaches that gave way at his grasp leaving a finger tightly clenched in the rob bers mouth, a severe struggle ensued, Mr. Wait holding tightly to the robber, both went tumbling down the stairs together.

At this the noise and cries aroused the household, Mrs. Wait a feeble woman first came to the rescue and as feeble as she was having just recovered from a Billous fever, grasped a foot and held on to the best of her ability. He had by this time passed through the sitting room into a narrow entry when the burglar was still using every effort to rid himself of the firm hold of Mr Wait, at this time his son, some 18 years of age, came also to his assistance. soon as he entered the narrow hall the scoundrel shot him in the groin, a dangerous if not a fatal wound, rendering powerless. Just then another and elder son came bringing a light, whom he also shot, the ball taking effect in the left shoulder, but did not disable him, he discharged two other shots that did not take effect, and snapped three other caps of his revolver apped fire. The a revolver with him and shot one ball through the thigh and another slightly wounding the forehead of the burglar. and vigorously applied it over his the Burglars head so that the third blow brought him down, he was then at their mercy .-His son would have dispatched him, but the father objected.

After a short time the neighbors were roused and such a house is seldom met; blood marked the skirmish from the first the hall and porch was covered with blood and torn garments.

A search being made while the robber lay senseless on the ground, resulted in the discovery of a dark lantern of beautiful construction, skeleton keys, a revolver, false whiskers, moustach, match box, and every other article necessary for carrying on his nefarious business. Mr. Wait was struck several times on the head and face with the pistol and bruised severely all over his person, yet held fast until the scoundrel was finished beyond all danger by the son The robber was identified as one of those who had been about the neighborhood peddling linen table cloths.

Mr. Wait had about $500 in his wallet in the pocket of his pantaloons. This was to a lower room. He put a large rag in the pocket book from which he had taken the money.

This is the fourth robbery that has been committed in that vicinity within the past year, and from ten to twelve thousand dollars taken, of which no part has been re-

Much attention is being paid throughout our land to the propagation and cultivation of fine and hardy native grapes. Wonderful improvements in this direction have been made. The fine Foreign Grapes of Europe have failed in open air culture in this climate; and it is a well known fact that, until within a few years, we have had no native American Grapes equal to the best Foreign. Such is the fact no longor. The Delaware and Iona, particularly, have no superior. The poor man, who has room enough to set a vine, can now have and enjoy as good grapes as his wealthy neighbor, who has a hot-house grapery.

Fever and Ague is not the only consequence of the mia-matic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, in malerious districts, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation Painful affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and Derangement of the Stom-ach, all of which, when originating in this cause put on the intermittent type, or some periodical. This "Cure" expels the poison from the blood, and thus cures them expels the poison from the blood, and thus cures them all alike. It is not only the most effectual remedy ever discovered for this class of complaints, but it is the cheripest and moreover is perfectly safe. No harm can arise from its use, and the patient when cured is left as healthy as if he had never had the disease. Can this be said of any other care for Chills and Fever? It is true of this, and its importance to those afflicted with the complaint cannot be over estimated. So sure is it to care the Fever and Ague, that it may be truthfully said to be a certain remedy.
