

Agricultural.

Notes and Suggestions for the Month.

Grain has ripened and has been gathered by the careful husbandman, seeds of wild plants neglected by man, are matured and being scattered, ready to be covered with falling leaves, or already hidden in crevices of the soil, from which new life will awaken at the touch of Spring; insects have been hatching to more general climates, and every thing warns the provident farmer to finish what yet remains under his hand. It is not late to save much vexatious labor next year, by cleaning up hedge rows, and clumps of weeds, which should be burned to destroy the ripened seeds. If crops are all hounding, draining now where needed may give a week's start in the season of plowing. The present price of grain may continue, but if gold comes down as it should, and ultimately must, those who have threshed and marketed their grain early, will have most satisfactory returns. Thinking is a few weeks distant, and the best fattened poultry will bring top prices. Let our readers take the hint, and drive their turkeys, chickens, geese, and ducks, to the line "What thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might," for the chilling storms will soon herald the approach of Winter.

Agricultural Reading.—The days are now shortening and the nights lengthening. If a farmer is diligent and ambitious, he can find at least a few hours daily, to read. Animals.—Feed fattening animals well this month, as they will fatten much faster before cold weather comes on. Store animals of all kinds also need particular attention, feed them well and protect them from storms. Barns.—See that no corner, or portion of the foundation rests upon the ground, or is exposed to wet that will shortly cause decay. Sometimes a projecting corner stone will conduct rain inwards against the sill, and rot it in a few years. Beets.—Pull up all small ones where they stand nearer than six inches from centre to centre. They are excellent food either boiled or pickled, and are good for milch cows. Butter.—Now is the best time to pack butter for next winter. See that jars, or tubs are thoroughly cleansed. A spoonful of clean white sugar to a pound of butter, put in at the last working, will improve the quality even of good butter, and cause it to bring a higher price. Calves and Cows.—Give colts and calves good feed, access to salt, and pure water daily, and a shed during cold storms. It is a ruinous policy to allow young animals to grow poor in autumn. Carrots.—When a leisure hour is available, summon all hands to the carrot patch and pull up every weed, and thin them where they stand too thick. Carrots will grow rapidly this month, if the soil is loosened and weeds pulled. Cows.—Milch cows will very likely need a little extra feed, or their full flow of milk may not be maintained. Let them have the benefit of the best pastures, when there is any choice. If fed four quarts of wheat bran or corn meal daily, or two quarts of the two mixed, the quantity of milk will be increased. Corn.—Cut up the stalks at the roots, before dead ripe; but before cutting go thro' the field and select ears for seed, tying a red string around those ears that ripen first. If you desire to grow seed for a winter, or for next year, it is the best time to do it. Seed corn should never be set in large stocks, nor put in cribs with other ears. As soon as fit to husk, braid it by the husks in long strings, and suspend with wire, so that mice and red squirrels can not reach it. Drainage.—Make as much under drain this month as practicable. Eye-Troughs.—Put up eye-troughs on every shed and building where there are no, and see that leaves and sediment do not obstruct them. Fences.—Repair poor, and low portions around grain fields, as animals—even when not truly—are often tempted to get over a poor fence, if they see better feed on the outside. Fallows.—Keep scarifiers moving on fallow ground to prevent weeds going to seed. Grain.—If threshing is to be done before winter, have the grain in readiness to take advantage of any temporary advance in prices. A few hours labor in putting grain through the fanning mill a second time, will sometimes increase its value 3 or 4 cents per bushel. Granaries.—Give them a thorough cleaning before new grain is put into them. Gypsum.—May be sowed in the early part of this month on winter grain, or young grass. Hay Stacks.—See that every stack turns the rain well. If they need re-topping, procure some working straw, if possible, to cover the top. Horses.—Cold and stormy nights be stabled during cold and stormy nights. They will not eat grass all night. When they work all day, turn them to grass two hours at night, and early in the morning, and they will do better, and not destroy half as much grass with their feet. One cold and stormy night in October will injure a tender horse more than a month's work. Hogs.—Feed well with cooked meal and fruit, or vegetables. Let fattening swine and brood sows have access at all times, to clean water, dry apartments, and a small plot of the natural dry ground. Swine are naturally much neater in their habits than horses and neat cattle. Implements.—Have a place for every tool and implement, and let every laborer understand that his day's work is not done, till his tools are well cleaned and put in the proper place under shelter. Rust often wears out more tools than work does. Ice Houses.—A small ice house may be made for a few dollars in one corner of a large cellar. A double wall well filled with saw dust, dry tan bark, or dry straw, well packed in, is essential. If the cellar is damp, better make the ice house in some out-building above ground, and in a dry place. Indian Corn.—Husk the ears and secure the stalks for fodder as soon as possible, after the grain is well used. Let nothing be wasted. Manure.—Save all manure around stables and piggeries. Horse dung, as well as droppings of swine, heats and becomes "refracted" in a few days, unless it is raked over and spread out, and mingled with manure, or kept damp by applying water or liquid manure under cover. Mustard.—Now is the time to commence the extermination of wild mustard. Meadows.—Top-dress this month with any kind of fertilizing material. It is better to harrow in bone dust, guano, or home made phosphate. Plowing.—Fall plowing heavy soils, and any kind of soil, where there are many weeds, may be done at any period before winter. Where there are Canada thistles, Ox-eye Daisies, or Quack grass, plow deep with narrow furrows. Always keep a plow in good condition, to work well. Podiceps.—Exposure to air, sun-light, and too much heat will soon dry, and lessen the value of the best potatoes. If put in a dark place, they will usually keep better than in a light one.

Poultry.

Feed well while the warm weather continues, as they will fatten much faster and eat less grain than when it becomes cold. Pumpkins.—As soon as the vines are done growing, and before hard frosts, gather them beneath open sheds, or in heaps, where they may be covered with boards. Feed the green and half ripe ones first. Store the best ones in a dry, cool place for winter. Never break off the stems, or they soon begin to decay. Save the seed of new and best. Apples.—In many places it is not too late to sow this grain, where the ground is not wet. If the soil is apt to heave in winter, better not put in winter rye, but prepare for spring rye. Sheep.—In some parts of the country, bucks and ewes may be turned together in October. Where the spring is always backward, and there are cold storms of rain and snow, better keep them separate a month longer. The period of gestation with ewes is about five months. It is not good policy to have lambs dropped in winter, or in some grass and warm settled lands, they grow quality English Half Bred, Over All, Shire, Lincoln Hand, Berks, Ladies Fine Merino Travelling Bred, in fact every variety found in a First Class Gentleman's Farming Store. My motto is good goods at a fair price, and after that, time all my goods sold at one price, no hawking nor teasing to make an offer, but every one gets the same goods at the same price, which is the bottom of the market. All old goods marked down to the gold base, and will be sold regardless of sacrifice. If you want good goods at a fair price, come to E. W. EDDY, where you will find him ready to show his goods, and to correspond with you. Bear in mind the place to buy good, well made, reliable clothing is at E. W. EDDY'S, next door to Powell & Co. E. W. EDDY, Towanda, May 17, 1865.

SOLOMON'S CLOTHING STORE! NEW FIRM. A. E. SOLOMON, proprietor. Work in the Orchard and Nursery. Fortunate is he who has an abundance of fruit, for he will get good returns. Owing to the general scarcity, more than usual care should be taken with what there is. It is a mistake to pick late keeping varieties too soon; they should be left on as long as they continue to develop from nourishment supplied by the tree. When gathered, assort at once into barrels; do not head up until the sweating process is over, but keep in a cool, shady place; put in the cellar at the approach of cold weather. If the heads are put in place, apples should be so pressed that they will not shake by the jolting of transportation. As far as we have observed, the season is favorable to the nurseryman and the purchaser of trees, the wood being ripened unusually early, many sorts have already (the middle of September) shed their foliage. This early ripening prolongs the season of the nurseryman, and gives him more time to fill his orders, and it is very advantageous to the planter, as trees set early become established and are better able to endure the winter. Let all who intend to plant, do it as early as the trees can be had, observing the suggestions as to drainage, deep plowing, and manuring, heretofore given. Cider.—The unusually early ripening of the fruit may render it necessary to make cider this month. Drying Fruits.—It is likely that dried fruits will bring better prices than usual, and nothing should be allowed to go to waste that can be preserved in this manner. Dry rapidly, and keep clean. Insects.—After the leaves have fallen, clusters of eggs and cocoons may be discovered and removed. Examine trees received from the nurseries, near the root and if any borers holes are found, crush the insect with a wire, and if the bark has the scale insect upon it, wash it with strong soft soap water, or better, discard the tree altogether. Manure.—It is unreasonable to expect to be able to carry off a crop year after year without returning something to the land. Manuring bearing trees pays, not only in larger crops of fruit, but in the finer development of the individual specimens. Shade Trees.—These, except evergreens, may be planted as soon as the leaves drop. The more carefully it is done, the better will be the future growth. KITCHEN GARDEN.—Harvesting the maturing crops and preparing for spring work will keep the gardener fully employed until cold weather. This is a good month in which to make drains. If the soil is stiff, it may be greatly ameliorated by throwing it up in ridges and allowing them to remain all winter. The rules of neatness and order are often relaxed at this season, and the garden presents an unsightly accumulation of rubbish. This should never be allowed. Artichokes.—Earth up around them and throw over a little litter, to keep out hard frosts. Asparagus.—New beds may be made, setting two year old plants, after which cover the bed with litter. Cut the tops from established beds and burn them. Give the bed a thick covering of coarse stable manure. Beans.—Pick the late spring beans and salt them. Shell and dry them before they are cut on by frost. If more ripen than are wanted for seed, try them in winter as baked beans, they are good. Beets.—Pull in time, as when frosted, their sweetness is impaired. Those put in the cellar may be kept from rotting by covering with sand or earth. Cauliflowers.—Store in the cellar before frost. Those which have not formed heads will usually do so if set out in a cellar or cold pit. Carrots.—Harvest and preserve as directed for beets. The tops will be much, richer by cattle. Onions.—Any late sown plants for wintering over, will need an inch or so of straw upon them.
