

The Reporter is printed upon Campbell's Quality Job Press, Office No. 56 Gold Street, New York. Thomas H. Senior, agent.

By referring to the notice in another column it will be seen that Rev. H. M. GALLAHER, our Irishman, will never us another lecture on Monday evening next. Those who had the pleasure of listening to his "Irish and the Irish" a few weeks since, will not miss this opportunity of hearing him again; and certainly those who did not avail themselves of the chance of hearing him, will not fail to go and hear this time.

For the purpose of encouraging all our people to attend to these lectures the Committee have decided to give twenty cents lower than other Association lectures. This is very paltry, and should be increased by the Association. We have already offered our tickets at our previous lecture, but we were a generous public, will not permit them to give any less on the present.

We commend to the special attention of our readers, that very valuable journal, the Children's Garden, the Orchard and the Farm, viz: the American Journal, published by Oakes, Jewett & Co., 41 Park Row, New York City, at only $1.50 a year. It is full of interesting material to every person, no matter what his residence, or what his occupation. We think the present volume (25th) opens with a paper of more than twenty thousand subscribers, and is increased in size, appearance, and intrinsic value, as well as in the number of contributors. A dollar and a half can scarcely be too good a price for your subscription to the Publishers as above. The first number of this volume contains 49 pages, and can be obtained, as a specimen, by remitting 15 cents to the publishers.

Justices of the Peace elected at the election, are notified that it is necessary for them to file in the Prothonotary office, within thirty days from the day of election, written confirmation to accept said office and take out commissions. If they neglect this, their names will not be certified to the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

ADVENTS ON THE ERLE.—On Saturday afternoon the Buffalo Express boat, west, was approaching Shelburne on the Delaware Division, and that it would run to Lackawanna. The boat proceeded cautiously, till it reached Shelburne, where they met the freight train backing toward Newark No. 8, on whose time it then ran. The result was a collision, by which some of the cars were crushed and the engine of the Buffalo Express was considerably injured, and was then hauled to the shops. The engine of the Erie was also damaged, and the train was delayed. The remains of Mr. Temple were taken to Oswego, where his wife, a daughter of that town, resides. He had been married but two years.

DR. H. A. RECORD has removed from Lehighville, and permanently located in this place for the practice of his profession, as will be seen by his card in another column.
