

Towanda, Thursday, April 12, 1866.

THE PRESIDENT VETOED.

David Henderson, of Nashville, has been arrested on a charge of being implicated in heavy frauds against the Government...

The Secretary of the Treasury has decided that farmers are not required, in making their income returns, to include the value of their farm products consumed by themselves and their families.

On Wednesday morning a dam on the Milwaukee River, five miles above the City of Milwaukee, burst its barriers...

Judge Wythe, an old and prominent citizen of Huntsville, Ala., is settling before the people the terrible state of that country...

A brick stable was consumed by fire in Chicago on the 5th instant. The upper part of the stable was fitted up as a bedroom...

The latest reports from the Straits of Mackinac state that the Winter has been the coldest ever known there.

The heavy rains in the South and West have so raised the Mississippi that the most valuable sugar and cotton plantations in Louisiana are either flooded or in imminent danger of being so.

The chemical experts having decided that petroleum is explosive, it is expected that Secretary Metcalf will shortly issue an order requiring special transportation licenses for this commodity...

The proposition before the Iowa Legislature to amend the Constitution by erasing the word "white" from the article on suffrage has passed both Houses.

The question of a separate State Government for East Tennessee is being strongly agitated in that section of the State.

Horace Maynard has expressed the opinion that public sentiment in Tennessee and North Carolina is more inclined to justice than in Connecticut and Pennsylvania.

The people at Vicksburg are much alarmed at the high water which now prevails in the Mississippi.

The Charleston Courier reports that three thousand two hundred freedmen have emigrated from North Carolina during the last three months to Massachusetts, Connecticut, and the other New-England States...

The frost on the night of the 30th appears to have extended over a large portion of Middle Georgia. The ground was frozen to the depth of one-quarter to one-half an inch.

The California Legislature has passed resolutions commending the military administration of Gen. McDowell, and asking his promotion to the rank of Major-General.

Reports from Florida represent that emigrants are pouring into that State from every direction, and the papers say they are welcome, especially if they bring money.

The Mobile Tribune, of March 29, says the news from all parts of Alabama is to the effect that the freedmen are realizing their situation, and are going to work with a will.

Two steam boilers exploded at Pomeroy, Ohio, on the 5th, killing two and wounding eight men.

The customs revenue of the Government through the ports of New-York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore, during the month of March, amounted to $13,428,828, including $12,153,954 through the single port of New-York.

Government received on Friday $850,742 from internal revenue, making the total receipts from this source since July 1, 1865, $251,251,170.

The removal of soldiers' remains from Bull Run battle-field is contemplated, as well as from other battle-fields along that line of war, and their deposit in Arlington Heights.

A. H. Stephens called at the Executive Mansion on the 5th. Congress is intending to protect soldiers from swindling claim agents.

The House has agreed to try petroleum as a fuel for the navy.

The Senate having passed by the Constitutional majority of two-thirds the Civil Rights bill, vetoed by the President, the bill came up for consideration in the House on Monday last, and was passed by a vote of 122 yeas to 41 nays...

The adoption of this first measure by so decisive a vote should have the effect of arresting the downward career of President Johnson, by showing him that the public sentiment of the country is unchanged and unchangeable...

It is a source of great congratulation that the Representatives of the people have stood up so boldly and firmly against the seductions of patronage and the threatenings of power. It is evidence that they appreciate the sentiment of the country and are not afraid to rely upon the intelligence and patriotism of the masses.

The passage of this law, over the veto of President Johnson, will undoubtedly bring about an understanding between that functionary and Congress, or irrevocably widen the breach which his obstinacy and apostasy has already opened.

That a citizen of the United States is also a citizen of every State where he may happen to be, which is settled by the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, delivered by no less an authority than Chief Justice Marshall, in the case of Gassies vs. Ballou...

That the granting of civil rights does not carry with it political privileges, but every citizen of the United States, as such, enjoys the right of personal security, the right of personal liberty, and the right to acquire and enjoy property.

That the bill does not afford discriminating protection to colored people, but simply provides that no one shall be subjected to a different punishment than that inflicted on a white person for the same offense.

SENATOR TRUMBULL'S REPLY TO VETO NUMBER TWO.

Six weeks ago last Tuesday the Hon. Lyman Trumbull, Senator in Congress from Illinois, delivered his memorable reply to the President's veto message of the Freedmen's Bureau bill.

The mastery argument which he then made in favor that measure against the veto of the Executive, remains to this day unanswered and unanswerable. It went before the country, side by side with the veto message itself, like the antidote with the insidious poison...

That all persons born in the United States are citizens of the same, and that since the abolition of slavery, by amendment of the Constitution, the negroes participate in this citizenship.

That the fact that certain States are unrepresented in Congress is their own fault and not that of the Loyal States; and that the President's argument with regard to passing laws without those States being represented would, if sanctioned, be utterly destructive of the Government.

That the granting of civil rights does not carry with it political privileges, but every citizen of the United States, as such, enjoys the right of personal security, the right of personal liberty, and the right to acquire and enjoy property.

That the bill does not afford discriminating protection to colored people, but simply provides that no one shall be subjected to a different punishment than that inflicted on a white person for the same offense.

CONQUERING AN ELEPHANT.

After the regular performance at Forpaugh's Circus and Menagerie, Tenth and Callowhill streets, on Saturday night, March 10th, says the Philadelphia Ape, a novel and exciting scene was presented to a number of persons who were allowed to remain in the building.

The enclosure now occupied by Romeo measures about twenty-eight feet square. When signs of ill-humor first became apparent the beast was secured by chains so that he was kept about midway in the space.

The first bad treatment to which the furious Romeo was subjected, was the stoppage of his daily food, a measure which, however unpleasant it might be to the offending beast, was undoubtedly favorable to the purse of his keeper.

In the House, Thursday, April 5, 1866. The Senate, Thursday, April 5, 1866. In the Senate, Thursday, April 5, 1866, reported the joint resolution, with amendments, to provide for the expenses attending the exhibition of the products of the United States at the Paris Exposition.

That the bill does not afford discriminating protection to colored people, but simply provides that no one shall be subjected to a different punishment than that inflicted on a white person for the same offense.
