Lambing .- Lambs should come as early as the weather will permit with reasonable safety, for it is better to lose two in the spring than one the next winter. Ewes should have sheltered places to lamb in, which can be closed up and made warm in cold nights. Mechanical assistance ought not to be given in cases of difficult parturition until a considerable period has elapsed, and until the ewe begins to exhibit signs of failing strength. It should then be rendered with great caution and gentleness; and if the ewe continues her throes, the lamb should be pulled only during her throes. If the ewe becomes very weak before or after lambing, a gill of sound ale will be a benefit to her. If the womb is in-will be a benefit to her. If the womb is in-wuch nourishment from the soil. IMPORTANCE OF MANURE. -- The importance of manure to the practical farmer, car. hardly be over estimated. With its use, good farming begins, and in neglect to use it, good farming ends. By cropping a farm without manuring it, the crops are soon diminished in quantity, and the land in value. If this process is long continued, the crops will be hardly worth gathering, and the land becomes a barren waste. To have a good farm, without manuring it, is an utter impossibility. There is no such thing daily, or weekly a description of your culas successful farming, for any great length tivation of your fields. If your hands are of time, without the use of manure. On the Wheat Plant-

When a kernel of wheat germinates, it remains where it is deposited in the soil, and sends out various primary roots, and produces the stem that is destined to shoot upwards. If the kernel is buried five or six inches deep, the stem will be slender, and the leaves will not attain the rank and luxuriant growth which is seen when the seed is planted from one to two inches deep in the soil. The substance composing the kernel is transformed into the primary roots and the stem. If the kernel is small, and is buried deep, there will not be enough nourishment in it to enable the stem to reach the surface of the ground. this is the case the roots will cease to grow, and die before coming up. The plant began to live, but before its leaves were produced, it died. Sometimes there is substance enough kernel to form the stem and a set of large leaves, before the roots draw much nourishment from the soil. TWENTY-FIVE YEARS EXPERIENCE
IN DENTISTRY.—J. S. SMITH, M. D., would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Bradford County that he is permanantly located in Waverly, N.Y., where has been in the practice of his profession for the past four years. He would say that from his long and successful practice of 25 years duration, he is familiar with all the different styles of work done in any and all Dental establishments in city or country, and is better prepared than any other Dental operator in the vicinity to do work the best adapted to the many and different cases that present themselves oftentimes to the Dentist, as he understands the art of making his own artificial teeth, and has facilities for doing the same. To those requiring under sets of teeth he would call attention to his new kind of work which consists of porcelain for both plate and teeth, and forming a continuous gum. It is more durable, more natural in appearance, and much better adapted to the gum than any other kind of work. Those in need of the same are invited to call and examine specimens. Teeth filled to last for years and otten administered with perfect safety, as over four hundred patients within the last four years can testify.

I will be in Towanda from the 15th to 30th of every month, at the office of W. K. TAYLOR, (formerly occupied by Dr. O. H. Woodruff.) Having made arrangements with Mr. Taylor, I am prepared to do all work in the very best style, at his office.
