It is said that one thousand scholars have been registered on the roll of the Susquehanna Collegieat Institute, since it was founded. It has truly done a great work in our county for education .-We hope soon to see it receive a fresh impetus. In these days, when PEABODY, PACKER and PARDEE, re making themselves deservedly honored by their benefactions to literary establishments, cannot some of our own wealthy citizens do themselves the credit of devising and executing a plan o promote our own Institute to the place it deerves as a great power for the advancement of the educational interests of Bradford County. NEW BOOKS! SANDER'S UNION READERS

Have been adopted by the School Directors of Towanda Borough as Text Books. Other townships desiring to change their Text Books, can be supplied with these books on lower terms that any other Publishing House can offer.

Read the following testamon on the County Superintendent, and Mr. Kings of the County Superintendent, and County Superintendent, and County Superintendent, and Mr. Kings of the County Superintendent of the Towanda Graded School:

ROBINSON'S MATHEMATICS,

MAY, 1866. I have examined Sander's Unio Readers with mac I have examined Sauder's Onto The Readers with infer satisfaction. The selections are mairable, well graded interesting and of high moral to texcelled by any with whits cheerfully recommend them for use in the schools of this county.

O J. CHUBBUCK, County Superintendent.

MAr. 1866. After a careful examination of Sander' Jubon Speller and Readers, I am fully persuaded the iney are much superior to any others with which I am a quaint ed, both in their attractive appearance, and in their admirable selection and arrangement of matter.

J. H. KINGSBERY,
Principal High School, Towanda.

For further particulars call at the Book Store of AL VORD & BARBER, Towanda, Pa. Aug. 29. OSGOOD'S PROGRESSIVE READERS

AND OTHERS, Having been largely adopted in the County of Bradford, we invite the attention of School Boards and educators generally, to the following testimonials among many others, some of which have been received from those who have those who have not only examined the books, but tested them in the school room.

DEAN'S ARITHMETICS,

ORWELL, July 13, 1866.

I have examined Osgood's series of Ileaders, they are well graded, the selections are good, and I think them calculated to give satisfaction to all who may have occasion to use them.

O. J. CHUBBUCK.

Mr.J.K. Fleming—I have examined with some care the copy of Public School Arithmetic you sent me. I am much pleased with it, and think such a work is needed in our Academies and Migh Schools. We can not speak too highly of the Osgood Readers. We have adopted the books in our school and the change has not with universal ap probabition. Yours, truly, W. H. BROWN, Principal of Academy.

Monforton, Oct. 21, 1866.

J. K. Fleming—Sir: We have introduced Osgood's series of Readers, Burtt's Grammar and Dean's Arithmetic into the Monroe ton High School, and after having tested them for two months, I am prepared to say that they take rank with the very best. They give entire satisfaction.

Yours, &c.,

HALLECK ARMSTRONG,

Principal of Monroeton High School.

Principal of Monroeton High School.

ORWELL, Sept. 5, 1866.

Mr. J. K. Fleming—Having examined Osgood's series of Readers, and found them admirably adapted to the wants of our schools, I take pleasure in recommending them to teachers and friends of education generally. My short acquain tance with 'he books has impressed me so favorably, that I am almost constrained to say with others, "They are emphatically the cheapest and best series now published.

Yours, respectfully,

Mrs. H. G. SALMON.

Yours, respectfully,
Mrs. H. G. SALMON.

SHESHEQUIN, Sept. 3, 1866.

Mr. J. K. Fleming—Sir: I have looked over the specimen books you left with me, and am much pleased with all of them, particularly so with the series of Obgood's Readers. They are emphatically Progressive works, and moreover the steps of their progression are so care fully taken. and so secur-ly planted, that I cannot see how any teacher who follows the directions of the author can fail of the highest success.

The exercises in articulation at the opening of all the lessons in the Primary numbers, afford a pastime as pleasant as it is profitable to those pupils whose teachers enter upon them with a spirit and a relish, and the rules and exercises in inflection, Emphasis, &c., in the more advanced numbers, are so definite and plain that all who attend to them can not fail to become good critics as well as good readers.

I cannot express "briefly" my high appreciation of these works, and while I would by no means depreciate the Sander series fur the good they have done, I yet rejoice that so great an advance on them has been reached by the Osgood Progressive Readers.

Yours, &c.,

Mrs. S. EndZA GIBSON.
