Bradford Reporter.

Towanda, Thursday, November 29, 1866.

—The fact most clearly and conclusively demonstrated by the occurrences of the past few years, is, that the masses have been ahead of the leaders, in advocating and demanding the adoption of those great principles of Human Rights and Equality, which are now so near their final triumph. Whilst those in power have held back, the people have steadily progressed, until they have brought public men up to their standard. The wheels of progress never go backward—the hands on the dial of Truth and Right never stand still. And the people now expect that the men chosen to give shape and consistency to their views and desires, shall be selected from those who have stood in no doubtful attitude in the past—but being deeply imbued with the popular demands, will heartily and zealously co-operate in those great measures of legislation, which are necessary for the future welfare of the country, the success of which have been secured at such a great sacrifice of blood and treasure. In the election of a U. S. Senator, this is particularly demanded—that the man elected should be one who has been identified with the popular feeling during the discussions of the past—who has stood in no uncertain or hesitating position—but who, on the contrary is a representative man, and whose election will be regarded throughout the country, as due to his advanced views, and recognized services in the cause of Universal Freedom.

—Hon. HORACE GREELEY, announces that he is a candidate for U. S. Senator from New York. The New York Times and Herald both favor his election. We have no doubt he will be chosen, on account of his great services in the popular cause. He will be sadly out of place, in that body, judging from his Congressional career, which was a total failure, so far as practical results were concerned. Mr. GREELEY's place is in the editorial sanctum of the Tribune, advocating those great principles which he unquestionably has so much at heart. When he attempts to advise as to the practical application of those measures, he makes himself ridiculous by the unpractical nature of his propositions—which often times are not only impossible, but mischievous.

CONGRESS meets on Monday next. The President's Message is already in type, and will be forwarded to the newspapers in the principal cities in advance of its delivery. It is looked for with very little interest, as the country has given up all hope of Andrew Johnson's acting reasonably, and it is of very little consequence what he wants or says. He will probably again "swing round the circle" and leave the Constitution and the flag, "with thirty-six stars out on it," (as NABBY says,) in the hands of Congress, which will be the most sensible thing he can do.

—A. J. GERRITSON, editor of the Montrose Democrat has been appointed Assessor for the 12th district in the place of W. H. JESSUP, removed. Mr. J. has discharged the duties with rare judgment and fidelity, but he has declined to apostatize in favor of "my policy."

The selection of Mr. GERRITSON as the recipient of favors from the Administration is eminently proper. The Democrat of which he is the editor is one of the most intensely virulent Copperhead papers in the State. In fact, at times it has been so thoroughly saturated with poison, and so malignant in its demonstrations, that its friends became nervously anxious lest it should bite itself. Its columns have probably contained more foul abuse of ANDY JOHNSON and more disloyalty generally than any other paper in the State. Nothing but its insignificance has prevented its being squelched by popular indignation.

Now that the Administration is striving to show how deep it can dive, and how muddy it can come up, it is peculiarly appropriate that such displays of its nastiness should be made. If there is a "Johnson Republican" in the 12th District, we felicitate him upon this disposal of government patronage.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.—It is understood that the Secretary of the Treasury will devote considerable attention in his forthcoming report to the question of resumption of specie payments. He will undoubtedly ask for further power to fund the floating and non-interest bearing obligations of the Government, and will likewise urge a more concentrated system of redemption of national bank notes as a necessary preliminary to a resumption of specie payments. Mr. McCulloch thinks, with proper legislation, he may return to a specie standard within eighteen months. On the other hand, it is known to be the opinion of many leading bankers in the country that with one hundred millions of gold in the Treasury specie payments may be resumed within ninety days. And they argue that the entire security and great diversity of the circulation of the National Bank notes is one of the most potent elements to aid a resumption, and that the system of redemption should not, therefore, be more stringent than it now is, but, on the contrary, if any change be made, that it should be relaxed. This question will force itself upon the early attention of Congress, and will prove one of the most important of the session.

—A Texas paper is authority for the statement that General Grant has recognized the nullification of his General Order authorized military commanders to arrest persons charged with certain offenses, when the civil courts refused to act. If this be so, it will still further unsettle the security of the Freedmen. We hear from Tennessee that in White County no colored person can have a fair trial, when a white man is his opponent.

WELCOME TO CONGRESS.—It is proposed by the Soldiers' and Sailors' Union, of Washington City, to give a grand welcome to Congress on Saturday the 1st of December. To this end a call has been issued by a Committee appointed by the Union, inviting the veterans of the Republic, and all other friends of the cause of Union and liberty, to meet on that day in Washington, in a national mass welcome and council. "The necessity of preserving the results gained in the field, and more recently at the polls," and "to encourage and strengthen Congress to such just action as will make peace permanent and liberty universal," is the reason given for this demonstration, and a grand time is anticipated.

A WARNING TO OFFICE SEEKERS.—The publication is made, by authority, in the National Republican, that "the President is necessarily engaged upon important public matters, preparatory to the early assembling of Congress, and will have no time, until after the meeting of that body, to give the slightest attention to applicants for office. All such matters are referred to the heads of the different Departments. Office-seekers and their friends can save themselves much time, labor and expense by acting upon the above hint, and will relieve the President from the unpleasant necessity of declining to entertain and examine their applications. It is a physical impossibility for him to prepare his message and at the same time transact the detail business appropriately belonging to his Cabinet Ministers."

EUROPE.—We have dispatches by Ocean Telegraph to Nov. 25. The British Royal Commission on the Neutrality laws will soon commence its sessions. There are vague reports that twenty militia regiments are to be sent over to Ireland to prevent Fenian uprisings.

It is rumored that the Imperial Commission on the reorganization of the French army will report in favor of the Prussian system.

The condition of the "Mexican Empire" is the leading topic in England and on the Continent. The health of the Princess Charlotte remains the same.

The Deak party in Hungary have petitioned Francis Joseph for the restoration of the laws of 1848.

—The Meadville (Penn.) Republican denies the statement that there is but one soldier of the Revolution living, and says that there is in Sandusky, Cataraugus County, N. Y., an old Revolutionary soldier, Matthias Barkeman by name, who draws pension from Government. He was born in 1755, and is therefore now 111 years old. His wife, who was one year younger than himself, died about three years ago; and his daughter, fourscore years and more, keeps house for him. The old man enjoys remarkably good health for one of such advanced years, and walks to the village, half a mile from his residence, every two or three days. On each Fourth of July he takes his old fowling-piece, and goes out into the fields, where he blazes away a salute in honor of Independence Day.

MEXICO.—We have from Washington official Mexican news that the French have lost the entire State of Puebla, keeping only the line of the main road from Vera Cruz to the City of Mexico, and this the victories of Gen. Diaz render liable to be cut off at any moment. The agreement by which the garrison of Oaxaca was surrendered to Gen. Diaz is given in our dispatches.

SURVEYOR OF THE PORT OF PHILADELPHIA.—The President has appointed JO. SEVERNS Surveyor of the Port of Philadelphia, in the place of E. REED MYER resigned. SEVERNS is one of the very worst specimens of a Copperhead without reputation to redeem his political heresies.

BURLINGTON, Bradford Co., Penna. (November 26, 1866.)

MR. EDITOR:—I am much pleased with your comments in the last Reporter on the question of U. S. Senator, and especially with the preference you express for General Cameron. The Union men of the State are alive on this subject, and the prevailing sentiment is, that the best man, COWAN's base treachery has excited suspicion of that style of man, and less brilliant, and more steadfastness of character, is demanded for the future. While I would not, by word or deed, disparage Governor CURTIN's eminent talents and great services, I can not but consider him less fitted for Senator, in the present juncture, than his rival, General CAMERON; and this not because six months ago we did not know where the Governor stood on the main political issues of the day, but because vacillation is an inherent weakness of his nature, as it is with almost all men of his showy and plausible characteristics. Such men, as a rule, are never so constant, never so effective, never so successful, as the more quiet, less glittering, yet more persevering workers of the Cameron school. Our own political history is full of illustrations demonstrating this, and every man of experience and observation, has seen it proven in every relation of human life. Aside too, from the great reliability of General CAMERON, is the fact, that he alone, of all the statesmen at the head of the Government, when preparations were making to resist the rebels, fully comprehended the magnitude of our difficulties, showing a far-reaching, practical sagacity eminently fitting him for the present trying emergencies of our party and the government.

Yours truly, G.

—Since the recent additions made to Jeff Davis' quarters in Carrol Hall, and the removal of Mrs. Davis and her sister to the rooms prepared for them, he has become remarkably cheerful. His health has much improved of late, and he is said to speak very confidently of being released. Relatives and friends from all parts of the South are constantly arriving, entering the fort at pleasure, and departing almost unobserved. The Adams Express Company are in constant receipt of packages and presents for Davis, furnished by his sympathizers.

—A private dispatch, received in Washington from New Orleans, gives a report that Maximilian had sailed from Vera Cruz, having turned over his administration to Bazaine.

"CAST THY BREAD UPON THE WATERS."—Gen. Cameron (says the Williamsport Bulletin) was the first Cabinet Minister who insisted upon employing the negroes to aid in putting down the rebellion. At that time, President Lincoln thought it unnecessary, and the timid men around him thought the people would not approve the measure; so Gen. Cameron's report was curtailed and the best part of it knocked off. He never changed his opinions, but the Administration came to him. Now that he is again before the people as a candidate for Senator, his sagacity in that celebrated report is doing him more good than any other act of his political life. He cast his bread upon the waters, and is finding it after "many days." Gen. Butler, in a recent speech, said: "In January, 1861, Gen. Cameron, then Secretary of War, put in his report the assertion that the slaves ought to be employed as soldiers against their masters, and immediately the cry was raised all over the country, 'Why, this is a white man's war; no negroes should be employed in this way; it ought to be fought out by white men.' It is a white man's quarrel solely. The negroes don't know enough to be soldiers; they do not know enough to kill men. Mr. Cameron had to leave Mr. Lincoln's Cabinet because of that report and go to Russia."

—On Friday night of last week a band of seven or eight men raided upon McLeod's Station, about twenty miles beyond Bowling Green, on the Memphis branch road, and plundered the store of Mr. Watson. In retracing their way a young lady was grasped by one of them, and threatened with instant death if she did not tell them where they could find the balance of Watson's money. Though fast in the grip of the ruffian and a pistol at her head, she steadily refused to disclose the secret. The robber was so abashed by her first deportment, that he relinquished his hold and passed on. The girl at the time held in her dress-sleeve $200 or $300 of the coveted money. The rogues were white men disguised as negroes.

—The Baltimore Sun says that the Antietam National Cemetery, at Sharpsburg, is rapidly approaching completion. The substantial walls of dressed limestone are receiving their ponderous coping, and present a workmanlike and artistic appearance. The remains of upward of twelve hundred bodies have been exhumed and re-interred by the detachment of the United States burial corps on duty, and their labors still continue. Mr. Aaron Good, a citizen of Sharpsburg, immediately after the battle of Antietam, with commendable public spirit, made a very complete record and chart of the graves of the fallen of both armies, and renders valuable assistance to the corps.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT IN ONEIDA COUNTY.—A WOMAN TORN IN PIECES ALONG THE ROAD.—The Towanda papers give the particulars of a runaway accident that occurred at Holland Patent, 11 miles north of Utica, last Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Ward, wife of Nathan Ward, Jr., a most estimable woman, and the center of an affectionate family circle, started with her little boy to attend the meeting of the Baptist Church at the Patent, where she was to meet her husband and daughter. After going a little way the horse became restive, when the little boy became frightened and returned home. Soon afterward the vicious beast became unmanageable and started to run. Mrs. Ward, in attempting to jump, caught her hoop-skirt on the springs, and was thus dragged a mile and a half over a rough and stony road. She finally became disengaged, and was found most horribly torn and lacerated, and life nearly extinct. Her clothing was scattered along the road, and even her shoes and stockings were torn from her feet. One arm and one limb broken, her head nearly scalped, and the flesh in several places torn to the bones, told how great must have been the sufferings of the unfortunate victim. Death soon relieved her sufferings.

APPLES AFLOAT.—The Rochester Express of Tuesday says: "The apple crop of Western New York is very late in getting to market this Fall. Immense quantities of apples are still afloat upon canals, and can hardly reach the Hudson before the last days of the month, and they may be nipped by Jack Frost before they get to their destination. On Sunday afternoon there was no less than 23,000 barrels of apples afloat at and near Middleport, Niagara County. There are also large quantities of potatoes afloat. Buyers estimate that there are fully 100,000 barrels of apples and potatoes on the canal west of the Palmyra breach."

THE HON. THADDEUS STEVENS.—We understand that the Hon. Thaddeus Stevens has been some days detained in Franklin County, through feebleness of health. Not only the people of Pennsylvania but of every loyal part of the country would hear with the deepest regret that there was any prospect of his being kept from his seat in the House of Representatives, for that, for any cause, the Republic could not have the benefit, as formerly, of his labors in the deliberations that are to take place on the great questions of the day.—Pittsburg Commercial.

SIGNIFICANT.—We notice that the Daily News, the Johnson organ in Philadelphia, favors the election of Gov. Curtin to the United States Senatorship, and bitterly opposes Gen. Cameron as a Radical. What does it mean?

—J. H. Surratt, the alleged accomplice in the murder of President Lincoln, was discovered serving in the Papal Zouaves, under the name of John Watson. He was arrested upon a demand of Gen. King, but afterward ran the guard, leaped over a precipice, and escaped in Italian territory. The Italian authorities are on the alert, and endeavoring to recapture him.

—The debt of the State of Pennsylvania has been reduced $1,158,009.62 during the year ending September 30, 1866. The indebtedness of the State on the 1st of December, 1865, was $37,476,258.06, the assets in the treasury being $13,623,668.14, leaving the liabilities of the State over assets $23,852,589.92.

—The Republican Committee at New Orleans has passed resolutions petitioning Congress to impeach the President and appoint a Provisional Governor for Louisiana.

A GREAT SECRET EXPOSED!
Yielded at last to the wishes of friends. Time and again has the following proposition been made; but never exposed until the present.
FIVE YEARS AN UNREVEALED SECRET!
SERVE YOURSELF FOR THE SHOCK!

First proposition to be made public:—
FIRST YEAR.—First, I would say, according to the best calculations, in the Borough of Towanda, there is sold yearly one hundred thousand dollars worth of Boots and Shoes, mostly sold out of the most inferior kind, and the people generally are sick of it. And now I say to you again, as I have before, enlarge your Store, make it neat and commodious, and keep a good stock of Boots and Shoes, and you shall be sustained. Most of the people begin to feel a little above buying their boots and shoes at Dry Goods Stores; it looks veridant and outlandish. We do not ask to make you goods if it is not convenient. The facilities in some localities, where a better class of stock and workmen can be had, may be still better. And you have always been in the business, and better understand this one point and important branch of the Merchant's art, than those that deal in Silks and Maslins, and they, I believe, would be glad to let this business go where it belongs; that they have done it heretofore to accommodate the people; I believe if you would open a first-class Shoe Store the people would not go to Dry Goods Stores to buy Shoes, any more than they would to Drug Stores for Ointment. Stop, stop! what are you talking about? Has not any one the right to sell what he pleases? It may be, but in justice it is right to place a large place in the shoe business. Men are engaged wholly in this business. It has been given up in every other place, and according to custom it will be here.

Two thousand five hundred propositions made from customers, is, to bring more of the same kind of Boots and Shoes you brought with you when you came in town seven years ago. I have never seen a good Shoe before nor since, in the language of them all at the same time. Raise thy feet gently. And think it so queer. That the Boots I sold then Should wear them a year. I now yield to the above propositions, and have promised to sell Twenty-five Thousand Dollars worth of Boots and Shoes if he would make them as good as those I brought here seven years ago, and the answer is I will! I will!

Well friends, your proposition made And I've consented to the trade. So I will sell you Shoes both strong and neat, To please the ladies and suit the feet. I have Ladies' Misses' Boys' and Men's, I have fancy down to coarse brogans. Come one and all, do as you agree. And buy your Boots and Shoes of me. Come! Come! I say, where you can find Boots exactly to your mind. If a d if you was never here before, You'd find it is the very Store. Come Ladies, Gents, I have goods for all. Buy your goods from this Fall. And when Spring comes I will cry, "At L. C. NELSON'S I will buy!" There is one thing more I'll say to you, I'm in the old Store made over new; If any read, and stand the shock, My place you'll find joins Patton's Block.
