deal in Silks and Muslins, and they, I believe, would be glad to let this business go where it belongs; that they have done it heretotore to accomdate the people; I do believe if you would open a first-class Shoe Store the people would not go to Dry Goods Stores to buy Shoes, any more than they would to Drug Stores for Oats.

Stop, stop! what are you talking about? has not any one the right to sell what he pleases? It may be, but not in justice is it right in so large a place as this, where practical men are engaged wholly in this bosiness. It has been given up in every other place, and according to custom it will be here.

Two thousand five hundred propositions made/rom customers, is, to bring more of the same kind of Boots and Shoes you brought with you when you came in town seven years ago. I have never seen a good Shoe before nor since, is the language of them all at the same time.
