This deficiency of trees and shrubbery around our farm houses may be the result of a lack of taste in some instances, and in others, the want of experience in handling the evergreen Some people have the idea that the spruce of all kinds are very difficult to transplant, so as to make them live. This is not the case if the operation of transplanting is performed at the right time. If the trees have been well treated in the nursery, they may be transplanted at the same time as deciduous trees; but the safest and best time to transplant evergreens is late in the spring, when the sap is in circulation, and the tree has started to grow. If done well at this time there can scarcely be a failure. It is, however, more difficult to remove spruce from forests, for the reason that not having been previously transplanted, they consequently have comparatively few fibrous roots, and when taken from a thicket and set in pen ground, they are more liable to dry up and die before new roots can be formed to supply to moisture lost by every evaporation. Still, this lia oility should not deter any one from planting a few evergreens around his welling, even if he finds it necessary to go to the fo rests to procure them Notwithstanding the country is greatly deficient in the matter of tree planting, yet there is a growing interand there are many situaest in it, tions that have been literally changed to a paradise by a liberal use of trees and shrubbery.

There is a great variety of the class of trees called evergreens that are undoubtedly worthy of note, but we will mention only a few well-known and hardy sorts that will succeed well everywhere, grow rapidly, and make MEN'S KIP AND STOGA BOOTS. beautiful trees, viz., Norway spruce, Scotch pine, hemlock, white cedar, halsam fir, and white pine. The six varieties form a bulk of all the evergreens planted in this country. Some BOYS KIP AND THICK BOOTS, of these are not only beautiful when grown singly, or forming groups, but are also beautiful as well as useful in forming hedges, screens and wind For such purposes the hemlock, arbor vitre and Norway spruce are the best. Hedges made of evergreens are not necesoarily expen-Plants from two to three feet in height can be purchased from six In fact everything in the Boot and Shoe line to ten dollars a hundred and perhaps for less in larger quantities; and if set at a distance of two or three feet apart in the row, will in a few years form a compact hedge that will be found useful as well as ornamental. -H.T.in Wallingford (Conn.) ## Selecting Seed Corn.

The Country Gentleman has had several communications in reply to an inquiry "whether the end grains on an ear of corn should be planted rejected?" One correspondent

In 1858 an experiment was instituted and carried through on the farm connected with the Reform School in Westborough, Mass., in order to ascertain the facts in the case. An acre of land was planted with corn, in alternate rows, with seed taken from the butts, middle and tips of the ears. The sound corn, soft corn and stover of each were weighed, and in the report is a table of figures, showing yield of each kind of seeds. But as they would occupy too much space in this, I omit them, and simply give the results, as reported by Mr. Flint, Secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Agriculture. He says :

On comparing the crops grown on this field, and estimating the sound corn and the stover at seven dollars the ton, it will be found that the value of the crops produced by the rows planted with seed taken from the butts, was $12 53. The value of the produce of the rows seeded from the tips of the ears was $12 36-(pretty near a drawn game!)

The butts produced the most, the tips the next, and the middle the least money value; while the tips produced the most, the butts the next, and the middle the least sound corn; and middles produced the most, the butts the next, and the tips the least soft corn. It is difficult to determine by this experiment from what part of th ear the seed should be taken. Probably a mixture of the whole ear, being most natural, would be the best." Another writes :

"A gentleman prepared his seed by shelling, as usual, some days previous to planting, by putting the grains from each end of the ear by themselves, and those from the centre of the ear, which he had always looked upon as only the right ones to plant, separately. By some mishap, the man (how convenient to have some one to lay blunders to,) at planting got hold CALF AND KIP SKINS of the wrong parcel, and planted only the poor seeds-the mistake not being discovered until too late to remedy. The result was looked for with some anxiety, the man supposing he would harvest only an inferio crop at the best, but was agreeably disappointed in having a good average crop, both in quantity and quality After some observation and experience, I have arrived at the conclusion (though I am aware it is not exactly orthodox,) that the length of the seed ear makes but little difference, this being determined almost wholly by the strength of the soil. I would as soon plant from an ear eight as twelve inches in length, if the seeds were

The Farmers Mutual Fire on the year 1839, 1000 etc.

The Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Middle Pennsylvania was incorporated by the Pennsylvania Legislature, in the year 1839, for the Mutual Insurance of Country property only, and immediately thereafter commenced its operations on that principle, which has been strictly adhered to since.

All losses have been promptly paid out of the Premiums collected on application for insurance without making any assessments.

The Insurance of Country property only, the low rates charged for Insurance, and the prompt payment of losses are deemed a sufficient recommendation of the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance ance Company of Middle Penns Ivania, to allowers of sate class country property.
