Hints for the Month.

ORCHARD AND NURSERY .- The utility of heeling-in trees in a cool and shady place, will now be appreciated, a planting can be continued long after tores in the nursery have started to grow. In many cases

Trees from the nursery will arrive now, after a long detention on the When opened they may be shriveled and apparently worthless if packed close and damp, their buds may have pushed out long white shoots. If shriveled, bury for a week, root and branch. If growth has taken place, cut back for a dormant bud; dont be afraid to use the knife freely-you will be glad next au-

Grafting can still be done, except with stone fruits, when vegetation is active, use care. Root-Grafts.--If not yet set out, should not be delayed. Put in rows, 4 feet apart, and 12 inches in the row pressing the soil firmly about them.

Planting in Orchard .- Many ask about this, Cultivate for the orchard. If any crop will leave the land cleaner and richer than before, grow it.—
Root crops are best. Never grow grain, and of all things, don't try so greedy a weed as tobacco. The same remark holds as to setting strawber ries, and other small fruits, between the rows of young trees. It may be profitably done, if the trees are not robbed.

Nursery Trees must be looked to. If suckers or useless shoots are rubbed off, as soon as they push, much future cutting will be avoided.

Mulching of young trees is to be done before dry weat er comes on, straw, bog, salt hay, etc., may be used. If no mulch is applied, keep the ground mellow by frequent stir

Insects.—"I shall move upon your works at once," should indicate the character of the warfare. When a "tent" is visible, however small the nest, be sure that caterpillars are there. Pull it down with the fingers rub it off with a brush, swab it out with so t soap, -- anything, but let it get large enough to do as a corres pondent suggests-fire blank catridges at it. The curculio begins its work as soon as plums and cherries are large enough to sting. Jar the trees, catch the insects on a sheet and burn

Seedlings of all kinds of trees are to be kept weeded and thinned, whenever too crowded. Some of the hardiest forest trees, as oaks, need shading in their youth. This is especially true of young evergreens. A lattic of lath

FRUIT GARDEN .- Planting of all kinds may continue, provided the stock can be had in a sufficiently dormant condition.

Grope Vines are frequently left down until danger of frost is over. and put up after the shoots have pushed. Great care in handling will be required. Vines trained on the arm system should have the arm bent in a curve to insure an equal starting of the buds. With newly planted vines let only one cane grow the first year; select the strongest that start, and cut off the rest. Put down

Layers of last year's wood. Leave In fact every thing in the Boot and Shoe line the cane uncovered in the trench until the buds are well advanced, and cover with soil as the growth pro-

Cuttings of the grape, currant, and any others not yet planted, should be THE HARNESS DEPARTMENT! And in fact every variety of wares needed in bark or leaves. Currants.-If the sickly appearance of the plants shows that the borer has entered them, cut away the affected part, if it takes the whole bush, and burn. Look out for the worm on the leaves; if it appears, dust with the powder of white hellebore at once.

Mulching is of great benefit to this Insects.-Besides those mentioned under orchard, the annoying Rose bug will often prove very destructive to the blossoms of the grape. This fellow seems to defy every application, and the only way is to shake him off early in the morning, and catch on a cloth or in a pan of water. Burn | Single Harness of Every Description or scald.

Strawberries .- Plant, if not already done, even if it be late. Keep the beds clean. If they are mulched, pull up the weeds that force their way through. Put on a mulch before the fruit ripens, if not already done .-Should there be a dry time, water, if practicable. Those who have facilities for irrigation should provide for Packages.-If fruit is to be market.

ed, have baskets and crates ready and distinctly marked. There are so many kinds of baskets now in the market that one has a wide range in If in doubt which to buy, take the advice of your commission merchant, as local prejudice has much to do with the matter : a style of basket that is approved in one market may not take in another. KITCHEN GARDEN .- The first radish es, cress, or lettuce of one's own garden! No after crop ever seems so welcome as these first fruits of our spring sowing. Those who live in mild climates, or who use glasses, may now enjoy these. The rest have to wait a little longer.

Asparagus .- Cut from established beds, taking care not to injure the root, nor trample the beds. When marketed it is bunched in bundles 6 to 8 inches in diameter, according to the season; have the tops even; cut the buts even; tie closely with two bass strings, and keep moist to prevent wilting. If the beetle appears, or its blackish caterpillar, each less than half an inch long, cut or burn every shoot on which it is found, if it takes the whole. It is a serious trouble, and demands severe treatment, or the plantation is done for. Beets .- The early sowings should OAK AND HEMLOCK SOLE LEATHER.

be thinned to from 4 to 6 inches according to the distance between rows. Sow early sorts, if not already done Carrots .- Treat the same as beets, but they need closer attention as to weeding, which should be done very early. Early Horn and Long Orange. Cress or Peppergrass .- Sow every 6 or 10 days.

Mustard.--Sow for salad or greens

Mustard.—Sow for salad or greens every 10 days

Potatoes.—Hoe as soon as up. Finish planting.

Lettuce.—The crop from wintered plants will now be ready for use or sale. Sow seeds for succession.—

Thanking the public for their very liberal patronage during the year just bassed, we invite a continuance during 1867, assuring them that we shall endeavor, by employing none but first class workmen, and using good material, to sustain the reputation of our house as being the bradford or adjoining counties. sale.
