Towanda, Thursday, May 16, 1867.

DEMOCRATIC INCONSISTENCY.

The most bare-faced piece of inconsistency, and shameless tergiversation, which the democratic party have exhibited for a long time, (and it is ever and anon exposing itself to censure and ridicule for its practices in this line,) is to be found in the effort it is now making to secure the negro vote in the South.

Two young girls belonging in Fall River, Mass., ran away with some of the circus company that performed there on Tuesday, 30th ult. They have not been tracked to Providence, but have not yet been tracked.

On Friday night a formidable tornado visited Council Bluffs, demolishing the temporary depot of the Northwestern Railroad and other private buildings. Omaha, four miles west, felt nothing of it.

Continued accounts of Indian outrages reach us by every Western mail. They are the interest and profits of our Government and citizens on the gifts and sales of Spencer rifles and choice ammunition, with which it is our custom to plentifully supply our savage neighbors.

Maximilian is resolved, at least, to die like a king, if all accounts are true. The Liberals, at last, are undeniably driving everything before them, and the Franco-Austrian empire is practically ended; but the unhappy monarch faces his fate manfully, and will command the respect and sympathy of all. He will, at all events, never make his exit from history in gown and shawl.

One of the principal objects of the visit of the Japanese commissioners to this country is connected with the purchase of vessels of war. As Russia will probably receive iron-clads in payment for Russian America, and as various European governments have shown their high appreciation of the improved fire-arms invented in this country, the nation appears to be in a fair way to become the arsenal of the world, as well as its granary and cotton plantation.

The contemplated new railroad, from Sunbury to Wilkes-Barre, by way of Danville, is an improvement of the utmost importance. A corps of engineers, under Col. F. C. Arms, late of the Northern Central railroad, has commenced a survey of the route from Sunbury. This road, we presume, is intended to connect with the Delaware, Lackawanna, and Western road in Luzerne county, and with the Northern Central at Sunbury. Its construction is designed to develop the extensive coal lands through which it passes.

Attorney-General Brewster, has officially given his opinion respecting the lottery scheme, ostensibly in behalf of the Gettysburg Asylum for Invalid Soldiers. The plan was agreed upon by a minority of the Board of Corporators, Generals Meade, Beaver and Pennypacker not being present. Mr. Brewster declares his action therefore to be illegal, and that even if the meeting had been legally held, the scheme proposed would be criminal unless specially authorized by law. He also says that if persisted in, he shall institute legal proceedings against those concerned in it.

On Thursday night last a bold attempt was made to rob the National Bank of Meadboro', Mass. An entrance to the banking-room was gained and the burglars succeeded in striking off the iron moldings of the safe and bringing a small hole. In ransacking this hole the bit broke: as it could not be removed, it was left in the hole. This accident, it is supposed, defeated the plan of robbery.

Two men, named Henry Breene and John Casey, got into a quarrel at Waterbury, Conn., on Tuesday, over the collection of rent money due the latter for the occupation by the former of a dwelling-house.
