Selected Zocken. THE VOTER OF RESOURCE DAY. BY JOHN O. WHITTON.

The proudest now is but my peer, The highest is not more high To-day, of all the weary year, The king of men am L To-day alike are great and small. The nameless and the known My palace is the people's hall,

The ballot-box my throne.

Who served to-day upon the list.

Beside the served shall stand; Alike the brown and wrinkled fist, The gloved and dainty hand! The rich is level with the poor. The weak is strong to-day: And sleekest broadcloth counts no m Than homespun frock of gray.

To-day let pomp and vain pretence My stubborn right abide; I set a plain man's common sense Against the pedant's pride. To-day shall simple manhood tri The strength of gold and land; The wide world has not wealth to buy The power in my right hand!

While there's grief to seek redress, Or balance to adjust, Where weighs our living manhood less Than Mammon's vilest dust-While there's a right to need my vote, A wrong to sweep away, Up! clouted knee and ragged coat! A man's a man to-day!

The woods, the blossoms, the giftbearing grasses, have done their parts for a time, but these do service forever. Trees for the builder's yard. flowers for the bride's chamber, corn for the granary, moss for the grave. Yet. as in one sense the humblest, in nor pine in frost. To them slow fingered, constant-hearted, is intrusted the weaving of the dark, eternal tapestries of the hills; to them, slowpenciled, iris-dyed, the tender framing of their endless imagery. Sharing the stillness of the uninterrupted drooping of its cowslip gold—far above, among the mountains, the silver lichen spots rest, star-like, on the stone: and the gathering orange stain upon the edge of yonder western peak reflects the sunset of a thousand Years."
