15 is now time for all dairymen to make provision for this contingency. The best crop for early soiling is clover; and every farmer should havea small piece of ground near the barn, in clover, to be used for this purpose, if needed: if not it will make excellent winter food. One acre of good clover fed green is equal to four and sometimes even six acres of pasture. But corn, sown for fodder, will meet the most usual necessity of the dairy without Attendance with Hearse, at as low a price as the same quality can be purceased elsewhere.

From the most common to the finest Mahogany or Bosewood, which will be furnished with or without Attendance with Hearse, at as low a price as the same quality can be purceased elsewhere. tember. This may be sown, say the 20th of May and the 10th of June.-Sow early, so as to be used in August and the remainder for use at any time in the fall. And it should not be looked upon as an additional expense in keeping the dairy, for it is the greatest economy in feeding. One acre of good corn fodder is equal to from six to ten acres of pasture, and worth more fed green than dry. If any one thinks the last figure extravagant, let him measure off forty square rods of ground in heavy corn fodder and feed it to his cows, nothing the length of time it will keep them, and compare this with two and a half acres of pasture. Some large crops of corn fodder have been weighed green, and found to yield at the rate of sixty tons to the acre, equal to about seven tons of dry fodder. This is, no doubt, a large crop, but it demonstrates that corn is one of the cheapest foods for the cow. It would be the best economy for farmers to reduce their pastures and increase their green clover and corn to be fed instead. They would soon find their farms too large for their stock, and their profit increasing their stock and not their land

About one acre to eight or ten-cow will be sufficient to help out the pas-ture in a dry time. It will also well repay the dairyman to feed small quantities of pea meal and bran during the summer to his cows. It will more than pay back the outlay in milk, besides the better condition of the cow. The great study should be to keep the greatest number of animals on the smallest quantity of land. Every additional animal, well kept, will, by increasing the manure, en large the capacity to keep more.

DESTRUCTION OF SHEEP BY DOGS. The March report of the Commissioner of Agriculture dwells upon the ravages committed by dogs among the sheep in the United States. In 1866 five hundred thousand sheep were killed by dogs, and their value was $3,000,000. The number of injured was three hundred thousand, and the loss is estimated at $600,000 The number of dogs in the country is computed at five millions, their annu fal expense ten dollars per head, and the sum total of their subsistences fifty millions of dollars-an immens

TRANSPLANTING .- A lady writes us "In transplanting-shrubs I often die a very deep hole, put in old shoes bones, chips or bark, then forest earth to the proper depth, and the plants are sure to repay the extra labor .-My flower beds were prepared in this way two or three feet deep. I did it they amply reward me every sum

D'ARMER'S MUTUAL FIRE INSU

OF MIDDLE PENNSYLVANIA, Office in Danville, Montour County, Penn a: Capital

The Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Middle Pennsylvania was incorporated by the Pennsylvania Legislature, in the year 1859, for the Mutual Insurance of Conntry property only, and immediately thereafter commenced its operations on that principle, which has been strictly adhered to since.

All losses have been promptly paid out of the Premiums collected on application for insurance without making any assessments.

The Insurance of Country property only, the low rates charged for Insurance, and the prompt payment of losses are deemed a sufficient recommendation of the Farmer's Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Middle Penns, Ivania, to a owners of sale class country property.
