TENNESSEE ELECTION.

Burgess.

The great Struggle in the State of lennessee has terminated gloriously to the Republican cause, which has triumphantly carried the State by a majority of about thirty thousand. Every county in middle and east Tennessee, as far as heard from, has given Republican majorities. Middle Enoch H. It will be composed of men who have passed through the convest and are Republicans is primiple to the backbone. They will legislate in the interests of labor and reconstruct the institutions of Tennessee to suit the progress of the times. It is from this body that we shall expect most for the benefit of the State.

THE RESIGNATION OF SECRETARY STANand his triends desire that he should leave the Cabinet, and Mr. Johnson did not hesitate to say as much in a very public manner last Saturday .-It is also known that Mr. Stanton absented himself from the Cabinet meeting last Friday, when the question of Sheridan's removal was discussed at length. The frequent rumors of his resignation, which have been published heretofore, and which have had their origin in similar disagreements, have never been so well founded as those now affoat, but it is nevertheless possible, if not probable, that the whole affair will blow

The Secretary's friends announce publicly, to-night, that he expects to receive a request to resign very soon, To run the same, and are prepared to fill order but say that he will not comply without mature consideration.

The Cholera is raging with fearful violence in the distant West, on the great routes of travel beyond the Mississippi river. A correspondent at Fort Harker, writing to the Leavenworth Daily Bulletin, under date of July 28, says that in the preyious thirty days there were more than three hundred deaths. "besides what have been buried after night to prevent people from leaving." The Bulldin thinks this need excite no alarm, as Port Harker is in a newly settled region, which has been subject to great falls of rain and high water, besides the accommodation for travelers of the poorest. People are huddled together like animals.-SPRINGFIELD—S D Phelps, Oscar Harkness, Poor whisky has been freely used, SOUTH OREEK-Geo Dunham ir., H O Fas. and also vegetables of a very poor quality, which have been shipped thing ever being offered to the public." The Commercial of Leavenworth, reports the cholera still raging at Ellsworth, Kansas. On the 24th there were thirteen deaths, and many citizens were leaving. For three weeks there has been an average of about a dozen deaths at Ellsworth.

The Virginia Republican Con rention met at Richmond on the 1st. Considerable confusion appears to have prevailed, in consequence of diversity of sentiment as to future action, but finally the platform of the April Convention was adopted.
