Union Republican Nominations.

FOR JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT

HON. HENRY W. WILLIAMS,

OF ALLEGHANY COUNTY.

Republican County Ticket.

REPRESENTATIVES,

JAMES H. WEBB, OF SMITHFIELD

J. F. CHAMBERLIN, OF WYAL'ING.

TREASURER,

CHAS. N. MOREY, OF ORWELL.

COMMISSIONER.

JOHN A. MOODY, OF ROME.

JURY COMMISSIONER.

JOS. FOULKE, OF WEST BURL'N

AUDITOR,

O. D. FIELDS, OF ARMENIA.

ELECTION, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 8.

THE COUNTY TICKET.

The proceedings of the Republican County Convention and the names of the candidates presented for the suffrages of the voters have already been published. We had only space and time last week for a brief notice of the candidates, but the unanimity and good-feeling which marked the deliberations of the Convention, and the high character of the candidates selected, are worthy of more extended comment.

For Assembly, JAMES H. WEBB, of Smithfield was nominated for re-election by acclamation. This compliment was not unworthily bestowed. Mr WEBB has acquired for himself, through many years of political action, an enviable reputation for integrity and straightforwardness. He has carried into his Legislative career, his usual manner of boldly and honestly meeting all questions as they arise, and has inspired his constituents with still higher ideas of his shrewdness and worth. The people of Bradford repose the utmost confidence in him, certain that he will always be found voting on the side of Right—"unawed by influence, and unbribed by gain."

His colleague upon the ticket, JOHN F. CHAMBERLAIN, of Wyalusing, comes before the people under peculiarly favorable circumstances. The nomination was unsought by him, and conferred without his knowledge. To those who know Mr. C. commendation from any source is not needed. The party honors itself by the selection of such men as its candidates. A man of more than average intelligence, he is possessed of views and principles which will withstand the demoralizing influences of the Capital, and carry him through his Legislative career unstained by the shadow of a suspicion of corruption. The Legislature of Pennsylvania needs the leavening influence of such men as JOHN F. CHAMBERLAIN; and represented by the candidates we now present, Bradford County will continue to retain its reputation for sending to the Legislature men of incorruptible integrity, whose votes are always given on the side of Equal Rights, and with reference to the interests of the state.

For Treasurer, CHARLES N. MOREY, of Orwell, deserves the support of every citizen. His qualifications for the office are unquestioned. He was one of those who so nobly responded to the call of President LINCOLN for men, and went as a private in the 141st regiment, when that body, of which we were all proud, marched to the aid of our country. A severe illness brought him very near to death and left upon him disease from which he has never recovered, rendering him incapable of manual labor. The Convention, in a grateful manner, recognized his claims, and the contestants for the place gracefully withdrew their names, that the Republicans might award justice to a soldier disabled in the line of his duty.

For County Commissioner, JOHN A. MOODY, of Rome township, was the choice of the Convention. This office is of the first importance to the taxpayers of the County, and they have well consulted their interests in the selection of Mr. MOODY. A thrifty and intelligent farmer, he has the intelligence to comprehend the duties of the place, and the habits of industry and frugality, to secure an economical and prudent expenditure of the public money.

For the office of Jury Commissioner, JOSEPH FOULKE, of West Burlington, was selected. This is a new office, and as the nominee of each party, is sure to be elected, it became incumbent upon the nominating Conventions to put forward for the post, a man of intelligence, extensive acquaintance with the people of the County, and conscientiously determined to carry out the provisions of the law in good faith. Such a man we have nominated in JOSEPH FOULKE As a candidate he commands the respect of all parties. If partizanship is allowed to control the selection of jurors, and corrupt the jury box, it will not be the fault of the officer selected by the Republicans.

O. D. FIELDS, of Armenia, the nominee for Auditor, is represented by his neighbors to be a man well qualified for the responsible position for which he has been named. The office is one of great importance to the taxpayers, and we are assured that Mr. F. possesses the intelligence, business habits, and integrity, necessary for a proper discharge of his official duties.

☞ President JOHNSON, on Saturday afternoon, issued his long-expected pardon proclamation. After a lengthy preamble the document recites that the full pardon described in the proclamation of May 29, 1865, shall be extended to all persons having participated in the late rebellion, with the restoration of all privileges, immunities and rights of property, except as to property with regard to slaves, and except in cases of legal proceedings under the laws of the United States, on condition that such persons shall take an oath of allegiance, which oath is duly described. The chief or pretended chief executive officers of the late Confederacy, all heads of Departments of the Confederate Government, all agents thereof in foreign States and countries, all having held military rank or title above the grade of Brigadier-General or naval rank or title above that of Captain, all Governors of States, all persons having treated otherwise than as lawful prisoners of war, persons in the military or naval service of the United States, and all persons who, while seeking to obtain the benefits of the proclamation, are actually in civil, military or naval custody, or legally held to bail, and all persons who were engaged, either directly or indirectly, in the assassination of the late President, are debarred from profiting by the amnesty.

☞ The twentieth Session of East Genesee Conference was held at Hornellsville, last week.

Bishop Janes presided with his wonted urbanity, and impressive power of executive authority, and ability to dispatch ecclesastical questions of law and business, however critical and complex, in a manner seldom executed by any presiding officer. The next Conference is to be held at Bath, Steuben Co. N. Y.
