Hot forever are we chestened By the might of serrow's hand, Not forever pees we sighing Through the stranger's weeping lang. There shall come a time of gladness, When the heart may e'en forget, In the melody of pleasure, All the ills that grieve it yet.

Not forever in the valley, With the yawning galf below, Zivn's pilgrim bands shall go On the pleasant sunny hills! They shall march with mirth and mus While their song the sweet air fills,

Of the midnight's lonely hour Overwhelm the timid spirit With the terrors of its power There shall come the light of morning To the weary, waiting heart, And, smid the joy of daybreak,

Tears and sorrow shall depart These for whom we shed our tears Not forever shall our mourning fot forever some years years, Darken long and weary years, There shall be a joyous mee When the reign of death is o'er-

And forever shall the tear-drop Vanish from each face away, and forever is the darkness Banished where 'tis endless day ; And forever death and sickness, Sorrow, pining, pain and woe, Still be known no more nor looked for In the house to which we go.

Miscellaneous.
