> April 12, 1870. OCCASIONAL. The following strange story A young man named D. C. Robinson lived in this place for a short time several years ago. His friends reside in Troy, and we believe some two years ago received intelligence that he died in Minnesota. We have not heard of his being

City, and had previously been the wife of D. C. Robinson. Mr. and Mrs. R. resided at Stillwater, but she went to Lake City on a visit to her parents, and while there her husband joined her, but soon left on a trip up the river. This was the last that was seen of him, and from information gained from the papers, it was supposed that he had fallen from a boat, somewhere near St. Anthony and been drowned. At any rate, Mrs. Robinson lived two years with her parents at Lake City as a widow, working as a dressmaker, until she married Mr. Murban. Some time last December they removed to Byron, where they kept a small hotel.

On the 37th ult., she surprised her husband by stating to him that she had, a few days previously, received a detter from Robinson, her former husband, written from Towands, Ps., conveying the startling news that, instead of being alwidow, she was doubly married, he being alwidow and writing to her that he was coming to Byron to get her and her only child, a girlof about four years of age, living with her and Murban. This letter she answered some days before informing her husband of it. On the 28th, Mr. and Mrs. Mufbany talked the matter over, and wrote letters to Robinson and others on the subject, and Mr. M. took them to the post-office. During his absence, Mrs. M. procured some laudanum and swallowed it, and, though the fact was soon discovered, and every effort made to save her, she died a few hours. though the fact was soon discovered, and every effort made to save her, she died a few hours igh the fact was soon dis

HERRICK.—Mr. Editor: In reading the Reporter, I notice short articles, in the logoed style, and at as low figures, as any other | cal column, from nearly every township in the county; and thinking a line from Herrick would be interesting to some of the readers of your valuable paper, I take the liberty of giving a short sketch of the place and inhabitants. We live among the hills in the eastern part of Bradford, and though we are mainly farmers, and rather rusticated, we have a desire of letting the world hear from us occasionally, and know there is such a place as Herrick. The railroad runs within three miles of us and although we have been somewhat shut up heretofore, we now have a way of communi ing with the world, which we duly appreciate We have no desire to boast of our "green hills," but in education, religion, and general advancement of our people, both old and young,

We have nine very neat school-houses scattered among the hills and valleys, which furnish an opportunity to all wishing a common school education. We also have three churches in Herrick : one Methodist, very nicely situated in East Herrick; a Wesleyan Methodist at Her-Significant.—In looking through rickville, which is a very commodiens and well was well attended, and the selection of pieces finished building, erected during the last year.

And because, as a nation, we did this so long, the scourge and curse of civil war has been upon us; and many a son, brother or father is now sleeping the sleep of death on the many battle-fields of the rebellion. I DIED.

Twas in the early springtime,
Ere the flowers began to bloom,
That Jesus sent his angels
To take my darling home;
But one short year he lingered
With us, a lovely flower,
Then loft this earth so dreary,
To bloom in heavenly bowers.

I knew that he was going,
And I watched his ficeting breath,
Until his form so sweetly
Was cold and still in death;
Then my heart felt all the anguish.
Which a mother's heart can know,
When she sees her earthy idols
Forever from her go.

But my trust is in the Savior,
Who doeth all things well,
And He will take my darling
With Him on high to dwell;
So I closed his bright eyes calmly,
And laid him down to rest,
With his white hands folded meekly
Across his little breast. And though I miss my Gordiz— My darling lovely son— I know he's with the Savior: "His will, not mine, be done." And though lost to earth forever, My little precious gam.
