Among the names on the register may be found almost daily those of men of well-known prominence in the country. The Glen is through the sacene of gayety and life which reminds one of Niagara or Saratoga in the height of the season.

The new proprietor, Mr. Pansosa, understand his business. By many improvements he has made the passage of the Glen comparatively easy and perfectly safe. New and strong bridges and stairways have been cut out, and every pessible arrangement made for the Glen. The new Mountain House is capacious and well arranged for the public accomparatively in the season of his ability, uprightness, integrity and talents he was greatly respected by all who had the honor of his acquaintance, and his sudden, unexpected and untimely death will be deeply mourned by a very large circle of relatives, friends and acquaintances. There are already good, hotels in Watkins, but for a successful summer resort, as this has come to be, the public will demand a large first-class establishment. We are glad to learn that such a work is in contemplation, and under the energetic manage.

property will doubtless soon be accomplished. A sir ongly impregnated sulphur spring has just been discovered immediately beneath the Mountain House, and with its development a new and powerful attraction will be added.

A fine roadway has been opened over the hill from the Mountain House to the village, and carriages are constantly in readiness to convey visitors on their roturn. After the long and fatigning journey through the Gien this is a great comfort and convonience. Visitors thus have an opportunity to see the magnificent monument to the late John Maria, the most expensive and elaborate work of the kind which we have ever seen in any cemetery of the course. have ever seen in any cemetery of the con They also have a view from the top of the try. They also have a view from the top of the hill of Benaca lake and the surrounding country which alone is worth going many miles to see.

We cannot close this notice of the Glen without making brief mention of the gentleman whose labors and genius have brought it into public notice and given it a name and reputation commensurate almost with the limits of the country. We refer, of course, to Mr. M. Elle. It is only a few years since Mr. Elle, solitary and alone, explored its then hidden and unknown recesses, and discovered its wonderful beauties and attractions.
