

News From All Nations.

St. Cloud is said to be a total... King Victor will enter Rome on the 15th... Brownlow is enjoying better health... The tobacco crop is generally reported good... Iowa city is worried by a gang of boy burglars... The improvement of the Illinois river is progressing... Allenton offers a reward of $2000 for incendiaries convicted... The use of iron fronts for buildings is becoming more general... French papers now style Eugene, Madame Bonaparte... A girl at Chester, Vt. recently died from lightening... Pottery claims to be the largest branch in the State... The country annually produces 118,612,000 gallons of spirits... Mobile has had 173 deaths from yellow fever this season... They make Tombs from Paris now by hand... Paris, Me., makes 10,000 wheelbarrows annually... Minnesota is picking second crop of strawberries... Incendiaries are burning Georgia gin-houses... Iron bridges are built more cheaply in Kansas than wooden... Genesee county, N. Y., claims an apple crop of 130,000 barrels... Berlin manufacturers are busy on winter garments for the tropics... In the French capital 'Up in a balloon, boys' is not a very new song... A blow up of a Mississippi steamboat is expected soon, as they are full rigged... New Orleans registers this year 37,763 deaths. In 1868 the number was 42,000... Atlanta brags over a pair of fowls between turkeys and guinea hens... New York is discussing the columns, "What because of all this?"... No fewer than five persons were killed by omnibuses and cabs in London within a week... Traffic returns have been entirely suspended by the great French railroad companies... The Saratoga springs tannery turns out about 600 dozen sheepskins for bookbinding a week... The penn stations of California are in the hands of a revision committee, which has nearly finished its work... Since the rise of water in the streams of Maine the mills are operating day and night to make up for lost time... Another Yankee nation is about to be introduced in Europe. Pullman will start some of his palace cars there shortly... St. Louis is perfectly well satisfied that China will not give up the trade entirely by its unlimited tinkering and cheating... The female member of the Iowa bar advises herself as an "attorney-at-law." She is not yet back of the bar... At San Francisco a Chinaman recently gave his daughter a name which, translated, means "You ought-to-have-a-boy"... The palm and date sugar is of a beautiful color, known in India as Jaggery. It is the chief variety of sugar manufactured in India... It is estimated that at least two thousand tons, full of valuable articles belonging to Americans, are at the railway station in Paris... A good many remains of supposed prehistoric men have been discovered in a lake in Hungary which has been drained... There will be fifty-three Sundays in the year 1871—the year beginning and ending on Sunday. It ought to be a good year... The census of Iowa, as officially reported, gives the State 1,187,298 inhabitants, a gain of nearly one hundred per cent. in ten years... Corn doctors say: Let the ladies keep up the fashion of high headed boots. It brings in more customers than all the other dresses combined... Skates are sold to-day forty per cent. cheaper than before the war. Competition and machinery have made the American skates the best in the world... Crackers, poisoned with strychnine, were found recently in the streets of Philadelphia. The value of the life in that city must be held at a low figure... At a recent sad blast near Newfoundland, Morris county, New Jersey, a large rock, supposed to weigh thirty tons, was thrown a distance of seventy yards... Some prodigious bombs, on the way to Verdun, lately passed through Frankfurt. These mortars carry one hundred and forty pounds of powder, and could easily contain a small mine... A company has gone to work on the old rebel armor at Bacon, Ga., having bought the property of the United States, and soon it will reappear, with the hum of cotton spinning... Mark Twain reprints his admirable "Gilded Age" in his own paper, the Hartford Evening Sun. It is a very original, in its peculiar vein at least, for that... The news of the massacre of the eleven tourists near beautiful Niagara, the romantic and adventurous mind, must add a new charm to the numerous other charms of travel in beautiful Italy... By way of reprisal on account of the publication of the secret papers of the Emperor found at Paris, the Bonapartists threaten to publish documents which will compromise members of the old opposition parties... New York is facilitating itself over the approaching completion of its first French or "apartment" hotel. The new building is on the corner of Fifth avenue and Twenty-seventh street, and is building by Paris Street... A letter from Versailles, in the above column, says: "The majority of the shops are open. Milk, butter and meat articles of inferior quality which I have just received, are here in great excess, at least in sufficient quantity... A circus in Ohio was struck by a storm, and the tent fell many feet high and carried down the tent poles, the ropes were dragged through the crowd, creating some bad results. The elephant broke loose and left the show in disgust... The prisoners at Wilhelmshoehe including the military attaches of the Emperor, are about to doff their military uniforms and citizens' clothes. A letter in Cassel has reported that the great tent of the Emperor, which cost seventy millions for the Emperor and his suite... A large refrigerator car containing about three tons of beef, arrived in New York direct from California. When the car was opened the meat was found to be in a splendid state of preservation. The meat thus brought can be sold at one-half the price which is now charged... Engineers are locating the line of the Great Northern Railroad in Texas... New York is to have a line of ten historical omnibuses with seats on top... A member of the New York Gold Exchange has been suspended for thirty days for assaulting a gentleman... The New York Commissioners of Pensions and Pensions are considering the removal of the War Office to the city... The census returns from the South show an increase in the colored population in previous years... Several gentlemen from Pennsylvania have recently been making a tour through Tennessee and adjoining counties in Tennessee, with a view to purchasing land... It is reported that the prospect for cheap machinery, and hence the prospect for cheap labor, is becoming very bright in the hands of Newfoundland... The expenditures in Pennsylvania this school year for school-houses reaches nearly $3,000,000. The total for all school purposes amounting for $7,000,000... Daniel Sullivan, the oldest letter carrier in the United States, was recently compelled to resign his post at Rockport in consequence of failing health... James B. Hope will visit the larger cities of the North to solicit subscriptions for the sufferers by the late flood in Virginia. He is accompanied by Governor Wells.

Bradford Reporter.

Editors: E. O. GOODRICH, A. W. ALVORD. Towanda, Thursday, Nov. 10, 1870. THE LEGISLATURE—THE SPEAKER. The Legislature soon to assemble will have to dispose of more important measures than have been brought before the State Legislature in many years. In the first place, a State Treasurer is to be elected, and it is to be hoped that the disgraceful practice which has been so prevalent of late years, of making this office a matter of barter and sale, will be frowned down, and that a man may be selected on account of personal fitness—one who will so conduct the affairs of the office that the State shall reap the benefits, instead of a few political friends. Then, without doubt, the scheme to take nine and a half millions of dollars out of the sinking fund and give it away to certain railroad corporations, will be revived, and a liberal share of the amount used to secure its accomplishment. It is to be hoped, however, that there will be honest men enough in the Legislature, to prevent this nefarious legislation. Another important matter which will demand the attention of the Legislature, is the re-districting of the State, both for members of the State Legislature and for members of Congress. These are a few of the measures in which all the people of the Commonwealth are interested, and which should receive the careful and watchful attention of members, and we singularly hope to be able to record at the close of the session, that they have been disposed of in a manner alike creditable to the members and their constituents. For the Speakership of the House several names are already mentioned, among them our own member, Hon. James H. Wertz. The election of such a man as Mr. W. as presiding officer would aid materially in securing just and equitable action on the measures above mentioned, as well as other questions which may come before that body. His long experience and integrity, and his impartial devotion to the interests of the whole State, clearly point him out as the proper man for the position. Besides, Bradford has sent many able men to the State Legislature, since the organization of the Republican party, and we believe never before has asked to have one then honored by election to the office of Speaker, and we believe that it will be conceded that our claim should not be overlooked, especially as we present a man so highly qualified for the place. CHANG AND ENO, the Siamese twins, for years have been consulting the best medical authority with reference to being separated. Science, however, has in each instance, positively asserted that any such attempt would be death to both. "Some time since CHANG had a stroke of paralysis, and his twin brother from that hour was in effect tied to a dead man. Lately, CHANG has grown low-spirited and melancholy, and ENO has shown a distinct and separate volition, not only from the fact of still retaining his health, but from the further fact of being cheerful while his brother was depressed. This state of affairs has given rise to another consultation of the medical faculty, and they now declare that should CHANG die, his brother could be separated from the dead body with safety. Science is likely to err in this conclusion as in the former, but if the operation, after the death of either, can be safely performed, there is no reason why it might not have been done during the life of both, and the minds of these two men been relieved of the unhappy disquietude that must have constantly harassed them. VERMONT AGAINST BAD MANUSCRIPT.—Most persons who write for the press, whether for books or newspapers, practice on the motto that printers can read anything and can be imposed upon by all sorts of chirography. But a case has just been decided which we hope will be a warning to all bad writers in the future. The publishers of the Digest of the New Hampshire Law Reports have just recovered five hundred dollars from the compilers as extra pay. The agreement prescribed that the digest should be printed in a certain type, at a specified price per page, and stipulated that the manuscript should not be in the handwriting of the compiler, which was known to be illegible and illegible. The size of the type, however, was changed, and a large part of the manuscript was in the writing of the compiler of the digest, and the publishers, therefore, brought suit to recover additional pay for the increase of labor by the change in the type, for the time occupied in deciphering the manuscript and for the alterations made in the proof-sheets. After a trial occupying a week, the jury, as above stated, brought in a verdict of five hundred dollars additional for the breach of the contract. This case should stand as a warning to authors, both as to the necessity of setting beforehand the type in which their books are to be printed, and as to the value of a clear legible hand. The failure to comply with both of these requisites has caused a loss to the compiler of the Digest of the New Hampshire Reports of probably all his profits. TAXES NOW AND THEN.—The national taxes of to-day, despite the war debt, are less per head than they were under the administration of Van Buren, Polk, Pierce or Buchanan. During the last fiscal year the cost of the government was $1,04 for every person in the nation, and this is less by 13 cents than the average cost for the 24 years preceding the rebellion. This is the work of "the illustrious soldier, the modest citizen, the head of the Republican party, the President of the United States." Gold closed in New York, Tuesday, at 110.

BURIAL OF THE WAR AT CORNELL.

On the 12th of October, 1870, the Faculty of Cornell University, in compliance with the prescribed military drill, and rendering every one who complied with this regulation liable to arrest or suspension. Everything in connection with the Fair was very pleasant and the occasion was represented to be an entire success. One little "irregularity," however, soon attracted the attention of Mr. CANNON: he did not see the Stars and Stripes floating in the southern breeze. This old statesman was not long in ascertaining that its appearance would not only be highly appropriate but peculiarly proper. The Superintendent said there would be no objection to displaying the flag but the Society did not own one. This obstacle was soon overcome by Gen. CANNON purchasing and presenting the article. The American flag floated once more in the breeze. This year the flag difficulty was repeated in a more malignant form, however. One Col. YACOR, President of the Society, ordered that persons displaying the Union flag on the Fair grounds should take it down. Whilst this command met the approval of many, it at the same time kicked up a rumpus that resulted in compelling the President to recall his order, when the Union flag was again displayed. Governor BURLOCK had been invited, but hearing of the action of President YACOR declined visiting the Fair. The following telegraphic correspondence ensued: BY TELEGRAPH FROM COLLEGE PARK, October 29. To His Excellency, Governor BURLOCK: Col. YACOR has directed that the Union flag be taken down from the Fair grounds. I am glad to know that the flag is being taken down from the Fair grounds, and I shall visit the Fair tomorrow. BY TELEGRAPH TO COLLEGE PARK, October 29. From His Excellency, Governor BURLOCK: I am glad to know that the flag is being taken down from the Fair grounds, and I shall visit the Fair tomorrow. This ended this year's little difficulty about the Union flag at the State Fair in Georgia. It is but justice to our friends there, however, to say, in the words of the Atlanta Eve, that the unpleasant affair was brought on by the peculiar notions of one gentleman, who, our cotemporary says, it is pleased to assure the public, does not represent the feelings or wishes of the people of Georgia. CHANG AND ENO, the Siamese twins, for years have been consulting the best medical authority with reference to being separated. Science, however, has in each instance, positively asserted that any such attempt would be death to both. "Some time since CHANG had a stroke of paralysis, and his twin brother from that hour was in effect tied to a dead man. Lately, CHANG has grown low-spirited and melancholy, and ENO has shown a distinct and separate volition, not only from the fact of still retaining his health, but from the further fact of being cheerful while his brother was depressed. This state of affairs has given rise to another consultation of the medical faculty, and they now declare that should CHANG die, his brother could be separated from the dead body with safety. Science is likely to err in this conclusion as in the former, but if the operation, after the death of either, can be safely performed, there is no reason why it might not have been done during the life of both, and the minds of these two men been relieved of the unhappy disquietude that must have constantly harassed them. VERMONT AGAINST BAD MANUSCRIPT.—Most persons who write for the press, whether for books or newspapers, practice on the motto that printers can read anything and can be imposed upon by all sorts of chirography. But a case has just been decided which we hope will be a warning to all bad writers in the future. The publishers of the Digest of the New Hampshire Law Reports have just recovered five hundred dollars from the compilers as extra pay. The agreement prescribed that the digest should be printed in a certain type, at a specified price per page, and stipulated that the manuscript should not be in the handwriting of the compiler, which was known to be illegible and illegible. The size of the type, however, was changed, and a large part of the manuscript was in the writing of the compiler of the digest, and the publishers, therefore, brought suit to recover additional pay for the increase of labor by the change in the type, for the time occupied in deciphering the manuscript and for the alterations made in the proof-sheets. After a trial occupying a week, the jury, as above stated, brought in a verdict of five hundred dollars additional for the breach of the contract. This case should stand as a warning to authors, both as to the necessity of setting beforehand the type in which their books are to be printed, and as to the value of a clear legible hand. The failure to comply with both of these requisites has caused a loss to the compiler of the Digest of the New Hampshire Reports of probably all his profits. TAXES NOW AND THEN.—The national taxes of to-day, despite the war debt, are less per head than they were under the administration of Van Buren, Polk, Pierce or Buchanan. During the last fiscal year the cost of the government was $1,04 for every person in the nation, and this is less by 13 cents than the average cost for the 24 years preceding the rebellion. This is the work of "the illustrious soldier, the modest citizen, the head of the Republican party, the President of the United States." Gold closed in New York, Tuesday, at 110.

THE LECTURE COMMITTEE OF THE O. O. G. T.

THE LECTURE COMMITTEE OF THE O. O. G. T. JOHN G. SAILE. Subject—'Love.' Date, November 24, 1870. WIRT SIKES. Subject—'The Love of God.' Date, December 14, 1870. OLIVE LOGAN. Subject—'God.' Date, January 7, 1871. 'BIBLE' REV. MATTHEW HALE SMITH. Subject—'Christ's Character, Old Testament and New Testament.' Date, January 14, 1871. WENDELL PHILLIPS. Subject—'The Lost Africa.' Date, January 20, 1871. ANNA E. DICKINSON. Subject—'The Love of God.' Date, April 14, 1871.

BURIAL OF THE WAR AT CORNELL.

On the 12th of October, 1870, the Faculty of Cornell University, in compliance with the prescribed military drill, and rendering every one who complied with this regulation liable to arrest or suspension. Everything in connection with the Fair was very pleasant and the occasion was represented to be an entire success. One little "irregularity," however, soon attracted the attention of Mr. CANNON: he did not see the Stars and Stripes floating in the southern breeze. This old statesman was not long in ascertaining that its appearance would not only be highly appropriate but peculiarly proper. The Superintendent said there would be no objection to displaying the flag but the Society did not own one. This obstacle was soon overcome by Gen. CANNON purchasing and presenting the article. The American flag floated once more in the breeze. This year the flag difficulty was repeated in a more malignant form, however. One Col. YACOR, President of the Society, ordered that persons displaying the Union flag on the Fair grounds should take it down. Whilst this command met the approval of many, it at the same time kicked up a rumpus that resulted in compelling the President to recall his order, when the Union flag was again displayed. Governor BURLOCK had been invited, but hearing of the action of President YACOR declined visiting the Fair. The following telegraphic correspondence ensued: BY TELEGRAPH FROM COLLEGE PARK, October 29. To His Excellency, Governor BURLOCK: Col. YACOR has directed that the Union flag be taken down from the Fair grounds. I am glad to know that the flag is being taken down from the Fair grounds, and I shall visit the Fair tomorrow. BY TELEGRAPH TO COLLEGE PARK, October 29. From His Excellency, Governor BURLOCK: I am glad to know that the flag is being taken down from the Fair grounds, and I shall visit the Fair tomorrow. This ended this year's little difficulty about the Union flag at the State Fair in Georgia. It is but justice to our friends there, however, to say, in the words of the Atlanta Eve, that the unpleasant affair was brought on by the peculiar notions of one gentleman, who, our cotemporary says, it is pleased to assure the public, does not represent the feelings or wishes of the people of Georgia. CHANG AND ENO, the Siamese twins, for years have been consulting the best medical authority with reference to being separated. Science, however, has in each instance, positively asserted that any such attempt would be death to both. "Some time since CHANG had a stroke of paralysis, and his twin brother from that hour was in effect tied to a dead man. Lately, CHANG has grown low-spirited and melancholy, and ENO has shown a distinct and separate volition, not only from the fact of still retaining his health, but from the further fact of being cheerful while his brother was depressed. This state of affairs has given rise to another consultation of the medical faculty, and they now declare that should CHANG die, his brother could be separated from the dead body with safety. Science is likely to err in this conclusion as in the former, but if the operation, after the death of either, can be safely performed, there is no reason why it might not have been done during the life of both, and the minds of these two men been relieved of the unhappy disquietude that must have constantly harassed them. VERMONT AGAINST BAD MANUSCRIPT.—Most persons who write for the press, whether for books or newspapers, practice on the motto that printers can read anything and can be imposed upon by all sorts of chirography. But a case has just been decided which we hope will be a warning to all bad writers in the future. The publishers of the Digest of the New Hampshire Law Reports have just recovered five hundred dollars from the compilers as extra pay. The agreement prescribed that the digest should be printed in a certain type, at a specified price per page, and stipulated that the manuscript should not be in the handwriting of the compiler, which was known to be illegible and illegible. The size of the type, however, was changed, and a large part of the manuscript was in the writing of the compiler of the digest, and the publishers, therefore, brought suit to recover additional pay for the increase of labor by the change in the type, for the time occupied in deciphering the manuscript and for the alterations made in the proof-sheets. After a trial occupying a week, the jury, as above stated, brought in a verdict of five hundred dollars additional for the breach of the contract. This case should stand as a warning to authors, both as to the necessity of setting beforehand the type in which their books are to be printed, and as to the value of a clear legible hand. The failure to comply with both of these requisites has caused a loss to the compiler of the Digest of the New Hampshire Reports of probably all his profits. TAXES NOW AND THEN.—The national taxes of to-day, despite the war debt, are less per head than they were under the administration of Van Buren, Polk, Pierce or Buchanan. During the last fiscal year the cost of the government was $1,04 for every person in the nation, and this is less by 13 cents than the average cost for the 24 years preceding the rebellion. This is the work of "the illustrious soldier, the modest citizen, the head of the Republican party, the President of the United States." Gold closed in New York, Tuesday, at 110.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE LECTURE COMMITTEE OF THE O. O. G. T. JOHN G. SAILE. Subject—'Love.' Date, November 24, 1870. WIRT SIKES. Subject—'The Love of God.' Date, December 14, 1870. OLIVE LOGAN. Subject—'God.' Date, January 7, 1871. 'BIBLE' REV. MATTHEW HALE SMITH. Subject—'Christ's Character, Old Testament and New Testament.' Date, January 14, 1871. WENDELL PHILLIPS. Subject—'The Lost Africa.' Date, January 20, 1871. ANNA E. DICKINSON. Subject—'The Love of God.' Date, April 14, 1871.

TO PHYSICIANS.

TO PHYSICIANS. HENRI HUMBOLDT'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BROWN ROOT. HENRI HUMBOLDT'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BROWN ROOT. HENRI HUMBOLDT'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BROWN ROOT.

BUFFALO ROBES.

BUFFALO ROBES. POWELL & CO. KEYSTONE STORE. W. Y. ALUSING. C. W. CLAPP. CEMENT. PLASTER AND KEROSENE OIL. CASH PAID FOR GRAIN. FARMER'S PRODUCE. HUMPHREY BROTHERS. LATEST LATEST. AND BEST QUALITY. FINE TRUNKS, FINE TRUNKS, FINE TRUNKS. TRAVELING BAGS, & TRAVELING BAGS, & TRAVELING BAGS, &.

TOWANDA MARKET.

TOWANDA MARKET. CORRECTED WEEKLY PRICES. CORRECTED WEEKLY PRICES. CORRECTED WEEKLY PRICES. CORRECTED WEEKLY PRICES.