THE WANDERER'S PRAYER. On a cold, dreary evening in au-tumn, a small boy, poorly clad, yet clean and tidy, with a pack on his back, knocked at the door of an cld Quaker, in the town of 8- and inquired:

"Is Mr. Lanman at home?"

"Yes."
The boy wished to see him, and was speedily unbered into the host's presence. Friend Lanman was one of the wealthiest men in the country, "Yes," and president of the railread. He said he was an orphian—his mother had been dead only two months and he was now a homeless wanderer. But the lad was too small for the filling of any place within the Quaker's gift, and he was forced to deny him. Still he liked the looks of the boy,
