Agricultural.

The Potato and its Uses.

The potato occupies a very important part in domestic economy, commerce, and the arts; not only in the United States, but over the civilized world it holds a prominent place. In the bill of fare of every household, from the rich man's mansion to the poor man's cot, you find the potato claiming its place on the table, oftentimes morning, noon, and night. Boiled, baked, roasted, or fried, it is welcomed by the epicure and the laborer. Our good housekeepers can tell of its value in bread-making, and other parts of their work.

It is estimated that not less than 150,000,000 of bushels are consumed annually in the United States as an article of food.

The potato contains a great amount of nourishment. This has been proved by chemical analysis and careful experiments. Many of the Irish peasantry subsist almost entirely upon potatoes, and the average amount consumed per day, in such cases, is about eight pounds.

In the year 1840, in Glasgow Prison, some experiments were made on the effect of different diets. Ten young men and boys were put on a diet of boiled potatoes—two pounds for breakfast, three pounds for dinner, and one pound for supper. At the end of the experiment there was again, on an average, of nearly three and one half pounds per prisoner.

Other illustrations of the value of the potato as an article of food might be given. No farmer can afford to overlook the value of his small potatoes for feeding stock. When boiled, and especially if a small portion of meal is mixed with them, pigs, chickens, and cattle will thrive on them in the severe weather of winter. Thrifty farmers will yet find that a large barn-cellar for storage of potatoes and other root crops, with a furnace for steaming and cooking them before they are fed to the stock, will be essential on every well-ordered farm.

In the manufacture of starch, both in Europe and in this country potatoes are largely used. The average yield of starch is said to be from eight to twelve pounds from one bushel of potatoes. In Stowe, Vt., there are no less than five factories, which use about 100,000 bushels of potatoes yearly in the manufacture of starch. Another starch factory in Kingsford, N.Y., contains more than six acres of flooring. When we learn that one calico print-works used 60,000 pounds of starch in a single year, the importance of the potato as a staple in the manufacture of starch will be readily seen.

The price at which the potato crop of this country is sold annually shows that it is among our most useful crops.

THE MOST PROFITABLE FOWLS.—It is a well conceded fact that there is great advantage in improved stock—horses, cattle, sheep, and hogs. A thorough, progressive farmer aims to secure and propagate these. If we examine the various reports, we will learn that poultry is a great interest in this country, and to secure the most profit on this species farmers should obtain improved varieties. Instead of bringing to the market long-legged, small-bodied chickens of the shite-poke model, weighing, say, two pounds, they should supply our markets with a stock weighing four or six pounds, and these should be sold by weight. The little, lank scrawny chickens that many of our farmers have now, and which furnish eggs above the size of pigeons' eggs, should give place to chickens laying eggs twice as much, and the eggs should be sold by weight. This done and we should soon be rid of the degenerated race of fowls and small eggs now brought to the market. With the same feed and better care the farmer might realize more than double what he now does for his chickens, and more for his eggs. Few realize the profits on a good stock of fowls. The produce of one hen will pay for your newspapers, of half a dozen will pay for your tea and coffee, and so on. And hence no farm should be without its stock of fowls. We like to hear the crow and see the strut of the cock—the confiding regard for its harem of beauties—we like to pick the bones of the rich juicy chicken, and the eggs are always in order.

POLISHING SHIRTS.—The Scientific American says: Put a little common white wax in your starch, say two ounces to the pound; then if you use any thin patent starch, be sure you use it warm, otherwise the wax will get cold and gritty and spot your linen, giving it the appearance of being stained with grease. It is different with collar starch—it can be used quite cold; however, of that anon. Now then, about polishing shirts; starch the front and wristbands as stiff as you can. Always starch twice—that is, starch and dry, then starch again. Iron your shirt in the usual way, making the linen nice and firm, but without any attempt at a good finish; don't lift the plaits. Your shirt is now ready for polishing, but you ought to have a board the same size as a common shirt board, made of hard wood and covered with only one ply of plain cotton cloth. Put this board into the breast of your shirt, then take a polishing iron, which is flat and beveled a little at one end—polish gently with the beveled part, taking care not to drive the linen up into wave-like blisters; of course this requires a little practice, but if you are careful and persevere, in a short time you will be able to give that enamel-like finish which seems to be so much wanted.

MULCHING.—There is no operation more important in the summer treatment of trees and plants than mulching. Newly planted trees will make more than double the growth when mulched than when the surface of the ground around them is exposed through the summer to the scorching rays of the sun, and the drying winds. Many trees that die the first season after they are planted might be saved by this simple treatment. With a covering of from two to four inches of old straw, hay, sawdust or tan-bark a uniform moisture is kept up in the soil during summer, however dry the weather may be. The growth of the tree too, is much more healthy, and better able to withstand the severe changes of winter than when it is prematurely and suddenly checked in summer by drouth, and ready for new and vigorous fall growth as soon as rain sets in, leaving the stem and branches in the fall filled with unripened sap.

Work that already been attended to may no longer be delayed. Around the trees should be [illegible] up, and a [illegible] on their litter

TO THOSE GETTING THEIR

CLOTHING MADE TO ORDER.

You should study two things. First, to

GET THEM WHERE FIRST-CLASS CLOTHING IS MADE

Secondly,

WHERE THEY ARE SOLD CHEAP

And in order to be able to sell a good article cheap the merchant must understand his business, and know how, where and what to buy as a practical man does; and a

PRACTICAL TAILOR

in all its branches I profess to be, having had

EIGHTEEN YEARS EXPERIENCE in the business. Have been a cutter in some of the best houses in

NEW YORK CITY.

I do my own buying, selling and cutting, and divide my profits with no man, so that less of it will do—and with low rent and other expenses in proportion, thus making the cost of carrying on the business very small.

In reading the above you will see why it is that

I CAN SELL GOODS CHEAPER

Than men following the business, and having no knowledge of it themselves, have to employ others at large salaries to attend to it, and customers must pay accordingly—as they, like myself,

DO BUSINESS TO LIVE BY IT.

RAWSON

Mowing Machine.

HARVEST OF 1871.

A NEW INVENTION.

PATENTED NOVEMBER 29, 1870.

And applied to every Machine; is so constructed that you do not have to use the lever in turning either way. It will run on any line just as easy as on a straight line, taking all the side pressure from the horses. It has a full joint and will describe a full circle either way, saving half the labor for the horses and driver. The upper frame is so jointed or attached to the lower frame, as to form a lifting lever taking a large part of the weight of the bar from the ground and placing it back upon the driving wheels, and lessening the draft of the machine, making one of the lightest draft machines in use.

The machine has been greatly improved and is manufactured by using wrought iron and steel in the place of cast iron. The Caster Wheel is upon a steel spring with wrought iron holders, making it light and strong. We can say to farmers that they can depend upon having a machine that has no equal. It has cast steel shafts, and both shoes plated with cast steel. Machines are warranted in every particular. If any part breaks from defects in material or workmanship new parts will be sent without extra charge.

The Finger Bar is carried at both ends on wheels; can change the wheels so as to cut three heights of stubble. The machine has a flexible finger bar, and will conform to the inequalities of the ground over which it is drawn, doing as good work upon uneven ground as upon even ground.

THE REAR BAR MACHINE

Has a double folding Finger Bar, having a longitudinal, oscillating motion. This machine has wheels at both ends of the finger bar, and is so arranged that you can set them to cut any height, and can back out without raising the lever.

SULKY RAKES.

We have also two manufactories of the Sulky Rakes; the well-known Tay for Rake and the Dayton Manufacturing Company Rakes, making two of the best Rakes in use, at wholesale or retail.

SILVER WARE, GOLD RINGS,

GOLD CHAINS, &C., &C.,

Ever opened in this market, is now on exhibition and for sale at the well-known store of

W. A. CHAMBERLAIN.

Mr. C. has just returned from the city, and flatters himself that his stock has been bought at bottom figures, and that he can offer better inducements to purchasers of first-class goods than any establishment in the country. Dec. 8, '70.

IMPORTANT TO ALL WHO VALUE THEIR SIGHT!

The sight of the aged assisted, the weak strengthened and the perfect preserved.

PHILADELPHIA OPTICAL INSTITUTE,

For the manufacturing of the

CONCAVE CONVEX, CRYSTAL LENSES, LONDON SMOKED AND TINTED GLASS FOR WEAK OR INFLAMED EYES.

The Concave Convex Crystal Spectacles, made by the above institute are now a long time before the public, and the rapid and increased demand for them combined with the universal acknowledgment of their clearness in vision and ease to the eye, shows plainly that they are superior to any other glasses in the market.

The majority of Spectacles, (mostly imported) and no matter how fine the frames, contain but a poor and worthless article of glasses, (generally cast or pressed) they are made to be sold only without any calculation respecting benefit to the eye, and therefore the great complaint of poor and weak sight. Thousands are using glasses now which tire and fatigue the eye, where the objects get dim after short usage, or require an intensely strong light and therefore destroying the sight, which, were they properly suited, would be preserved a life time.

The advantage claimed for the Concave Convex Crystal Glasses are the following:

The Lenses are ground of the best material, pure and hard, and made only for optical purposes, they are therefore not liable to get scratched or dim.

They confer a brilliancy and distinctness of vision not found in any other glass.

They can be used equally well by day or candle light without tiring or fatiguing the eyes.

They are ground mathematically true in the concave convex mirror, according to the philosophy of nature, and shape of cornea of the eye, therefore assisting nature only instead of forcing it.

That the lenses are centered correct into the frames.

They can be used longer than any other glasses without changing to a higher power.

The frames are made strong and durable by experienced workmen and warranted to give satisfaction.

WM. A. CHAMBERLIN,

Dealer in Watches, Jewelry and Silver Ware, Towanda, Pa., has the sole Agency for the above glasses in Bradford county. No Peddlers employed.
