BEN. MOODY, M.D., TAYLOR'S ELECTRIC OIL! PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, This Oil has proven itself a medicino Inis Oil has proven itself a medicine warm-passed in the cure of Rhymatic Iameneas of any kind requiring an outward-application. We defy the medical world to bring a material better adapted to the alleviation of pain and lameneas in Man or Beast than is this medicine. It works upon the same principle as its nearest kin—Electricity; and although, like all of our best medicines, it sometimes fails, yet the cases of failure are very rare, and are always complicated ones. It works like magic upon burns, frost-bites, sting of bees, and all external poisons. Every family should have it in cases of fresh cuts, bruises or eprains. It will not smart-like most medicines when applied to a new sore. It is no quack preparation, but is cumposed of nine of the best materials known to meteria medica, compounded upon scientific principles. As a horse medicine it is taking the lead of anything in the market. Buyit and try it. If you do not like it, return it and receive your money back. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. Selected Doetry. SINGING IN THE RAIN. The day dawned barren and chilly, An east wind railed at the pane;

Gray fog veiled the leafing chestnut, While a robin sang in the rain: Sang in the rain his sweetest..." "Cheer-up, O cheer-up, cheer"; The eye could not catch the warbler,

But his voice rang silvery clear. Blasts shook the tree by the shoulder The tree cried out with pain : But somewhere, high in the leafage,

A robin sang in the rain. He might have sung to the angels, But I think he sang to us here; The sinless need not the counsel—

"Cheer-up, O cheer-up, cheer!" To the music pages above him He looked as the blind may look; No star-notes guided the singer,

Cloud fingers had shut the book : Yet well had he learned the carol, And he sang it out of his heart; Nor once was it worth his asking

When the veil would fall apart. "Cheer-up, cheer-up, O cheer-up! Still the sad leaves among : His beautiful breast was bubbling

A fountain of raptured song. It never can flow so welcome Under a sky all blue; What is the lesson he teaches? I learned it, and so may you.

Debt. In the ten years that have since passed away, this war loan of $3,500. 000 has been paid off; the State debt has been reduced from $40,000,000 to a little over $29,000,000; the three mill tax which was levied for State purposes on real estate prior to 1861 has been repealed; the tax on professions and occupations has been taken off; the annual contribution of the State to the Public Schools has been greatly enlarged; a system of schools has been built up for the education and support of the orphans of soldiers who died in the war-a noble benefaction, costing over half a million yearly; and the affairs of the State, generally, have been so managed as to secure prosperity to the people.

The Republicans of the nation elected their Presidential candidate in 1860; and succeeded, against many angry threats from the opposition, in putting him in office in March, 1861. Almost immediately afterwards the government was confronted by an ly as well as secretly encouraged by many Democrats in the North, whose sympathies still remain with those armed rebellion in the South, (openwho then took up arms to overthrow Southern States, now settled upon the government), and was compelled an honorable basis.

A DRUNKARD'S WIFE.

Come now with me and look upor sad scene.

Faintly glow the embers upon the hearth of a ruined cottage. It is a cold winter's night and the pitiless blast shakes the casement and drives through many a crevice, the falling-snow. A feeble light struggles against the gloom of the apartment. By the light, plying the busy needle upon a tattered garment, sits a woman shivering in the bitter frost. Her face is pale and thin. In her looks and atpyramids. Such a record, instead of titude there is no hope. Often she growing dim with time, will grow sighs, as the sharp pangs of a breakdeeper with eternity, and will still be ing heart rend her bosom. The bold and legible, when the sculptures mean of her hungry children in their sleep, comes to her ears and the where it is held by a bow and ends of cs high grown from the send. How's the centuries, shall have all faded scalding tears overflow. She thinks out, and the steel pictures of modern of the time when she was a light art scall be forgotten.
