THE WARD TRIAL Continued from First Page. To Mr. Peck: Discovered on Mr. Shader, while nursing him, something that appeared like a bruise; called Mr. Shader's attention to it; witness had been washing deceased, turned him over and found a black and blue spot in his back: witness said, "He guessed that Harry had been kicking him;" "No," said Shader, "that's where the old -bullet lays," and "that Harry didn't mean to make him all-of this tronble:" on Sunday and Tuesday evenings when witness conversed with Shader on the subject of the shootings they were alone, when any one came in they-stopped; all the time they were talking, Shader had hold of witness' hand; they talked low and in whispers; witness found that he and Shader were brothers in one association; they were Masons; when they found this out witness said he the part of the Commonwealth, Mr. would do anything for Shader and Clark B. Porter was recalled by the Shader said that when he wanted anything done he would ask witness; witness gave his opinion to Shader as to whether he was going to get well, nearly every night he was with him; asked Shader about business recollect throwing up his hands and arrangements in case he died, on Tuesday nights and before this, when "My God, Harry!" Recollects no Shader had spoken to him; on Tuesday night, a little before midnight, timess told Shader that he could but live and that he had better ar- of the commonwealth was here enterrango whatever business affairs he ed upon, and for this purpose the rad to arrange; Shader said it had first witness called was John R. Fanbeen arranged with his father and shaw. Mr. Fanshawe; witness impressed To Mr. Little: On the occasion o upon deceased the fact that he was the taking of Mr. Shader's deposition er or not he was a mason; knew the he had written to Lima requesting first day he went there that Shader the lodge to bury him there with was a mason; deemed it quite important to conceal the fact that he was mason; deemed it so because there were so many around there watching them; didn't want to conceal that

To Mr. Little: Witness is very confident that there was no allusion at that time to Shader's death. To Mr. Peck: Shader told witness the number of the lodge he belonged is; it was Royal Arch Lodge No. 2, New York; at the time witness made the statement on the Sunday Shader was baptised, witness believed what he had told Jordan; didn't know the difference until Shader told him afterwards; he hasn't told anything bout what Shader told him that made him think it was murder; when witness went there first he thought it was murder, but after Shader explained his mind was entirely changd; the explanation Shader made was after the time when witness made his statement to Jordan; thinks that if the explanation made by Shader was unds on Sunday night before the peopla of the house had retired; after the explanation, witness entirely changed s mind as to its being a murder.

To Mr. Little: Never went to Mr. dordan to take back what he had said; never gave Mr. Jordan authority to repeat what he had said; was not suprenaed as a witness to the coroner's inquest; thinks Mr. Elsbree asked him if Shader had ever told him it was an accident, witness had answered no; don't recollect stating to Mr. Overton that Shader had said on Sunday morning that the shooting was not intentional; thinks the object of Overton's conversation was to find out the weight of his testimony; had been suprenzed as a witness before the Grand Jury.

To Mr. Peck: Shader said that Ward that him; was not called as a witness

SEVENTH DAY'S PROCEEDINGS. " TUNEHANNOCK, NOV. 14, 1871.

A rather strange portion of the theory of the defence was reached last evening and gave rise to much discussion on the part of the counsel. Stated briefly it is to the effect that its deposition or, dying declaration is the strong point of the pr. secution. The defence desired to explain this instrument by showing that it was gotten up for the express purpose of obtaining the money on the instrument by showing that it was gotten up for the express purpose of obtaining the money on the instrument by showing that it was gotten up for the express purpose of obtaining the money on the instrument by showing that it was gotten up for the express purpose of obtaining the money on the instrument by showing that it was gotten up for the express purpose of obtaining the money on the instrument by showing that it was gotten up for the express purpose of obtaining the money on the instrument of the various expressions in it state things that are necessary to exist before the money on the policy can be obtained. For this purpose it is sought to introduce in evidence the accidental policy ticket to show the provisions contained on the back thereof in relation to certain contingencies in which the money on it will be forthcoming.
