A reformistory law which would en-force this principle against all endorsers of per-sons for public plakes, would insure great cau-tion in making recommendations. A salutary lesson has beet tanght the careless and the dis-bonest public servants, in the great number of prosecutions and convictions of the last two years. It is gratifying to notice the favorable change which is taking place throughout the country in bringing to public office of none but those who puscess the confided to them, and in the elevation to public office of none but those who puscess the confidence of the honest and virtuous, who it will always be found to compose the majority of the communi-ty in which they live. In my message to Congress one year ago I urgently recommended a reform in the civil ser-vice of the country. In conformity with that recommendation Congress, in the ninth section of an act making appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the goveriment, and for other purposes, approved March 3d, 1871, gave the authority of said act I convened a board of gen-tlemen, eminently qualified for the work, to de-vise rules and regulations to effect the needed reform. Their labors are not vect complete, but it is believed that the will enceed in devising a plan which can be adopted, to the great ro-lief of the Executive, the heads of the depart-ments and regulations to effect the needed reform.
