GRN. CAMERON.

No man in the Commonwealth has greater reason to feel proud over the election in this State than Senator CAMERON. The foul and desperate fight made by FORNEY, MUCLURE and CURTIN against HARTRANFT, was in fact a war against the honored and trusted Senator, and the unprecedented majority is as much a vindication of Cameron as Habtranft. In referring to the result in the State, Alba Boro the Providence (R. J.) Journal, edited by Senator Anthony, pays the following grateful tribute to Gen. Cam-ERON. It is but one of many evidences given all over the country of the high esteem in which the General is held by his brother Senators: "No one has a greater right to reoice over the result in Pennsylvania than Simon Cameron. No one has contributed more towards it. No man has rendered greater service to the Republican party, or done more towards the triumph which is to be completed next month in the re-election of Grant, and no man better deserves the thanks of that ome indifferent to the November great party which is identified with
