Towarda, Thursday, November 7, 1872. LOCAL AND GENERAL.

A new time table will go into effect on the Pa. & N. Y. R. B., next week.

Apples are more abundant in this section than for many years.

The Sullivan anthracite coal is again on sale at all the yards in this borough. The Good Templars of Monrocton, will give an Oyster Supper, Wednesday evening, Nov. 13. The report that Judge Mercus is to take up his residence in Philadelphia, is without foundation. Mrs. Holmes, wife of John Holars, died in this place on Friday last. The funeral took place on Sunday.

E. B. PARSONS, of Troy, is the proprietor of several coal yards along the line of the Northern Central R. R. -

Mrs. Gibson, no services were held in the M. E. Church, on Sunday last. Turkeys fare well about these days. In a few weeks they will be making their

Members of the bar of this county, will give Judge Mencus a supper on the occasion of his retiring from the practice of law, some time during the present month.

The Sons of Temperance contemplate a course of lectures here this Winter. Home talent will be employed to do the orating. We have plenty of it.

FREDERICK HARBIOTT, the distinguished elocutionist, has consented to give readings in this place on Thanksgiving evening, at Mercur's Hall. Full particulars next week.

South: 5:30 A. M., 2:20 and 6:30 P. M. North: 6:15 A. M., 12:50, 5:20 and 6:30 P. M. FO We have received a card from our enterprising young friend, James Hale, from which we learn that he has commenced the practice of the legal profession in Bellelette. Pa. He is a young man of great promise, and we anticipate for him a brilliant future.

and attention to business.

The spiciest and most welcome exchan ,e on our table is Baldwin's Monthly, published and distributed gratuitously by the great Clothing Merchant Prince, O. S. BALD-"is, New York. It is no wonder that a man who can edit such a sheet, while conducting the largest retail clothing business in New York, Lis amassed a fortune.

BiAVE ENOUGH.—A thoughtful observicen women's rights, comes to their defelie very effectively, as follows: "I have seen and and so delicate that they were afraid to ride, for lear of the horse running away; afraid to hall for fear the dew might fall; afraid to sail, for har the boat might upset; but Lnever saw the afraid to be married, which is more riskful than all others put together."

The festival of All Saints' Day was a lebrated on Friday last, by the Catho-Lean I Duscopal Churches, with the ceremothe usual upon the occasion. This festival was instituted by Pope-Boniface IV., in the early last of the seventh century, upon the occasion of the de heatien of an old heathen temple to the us of Christianity, under the invocation of ries, at Cowners' Bakery.

15 Vist Mary and all the Saints. The campaign in this borough was closed on Monday evening by a rousing legating at Sullivan's Hotel, in the First Ward. Through the ex ritions of W. B. THE LECTURE SEASON.—We believe other Course of Lectures this season, notwith- Clothing Palace. standing the fact that for the past two seasons the course has been maintained at a necessiary oss of several hundred dollars to the committee. We trust that the present course will be estronized by all, and that the committee may not have to bear the burden of making up another deficit. Some of the best talent in the field has been ngaged, and we shall be favored with lectures from Goudi, Colven and Anna Dickinson, Negotiations are also in progress to secure the services of BEECHER and CHAPIN.

ATTENDING CHURCH.—In every congregation there are a few persons who are always at church, whether it shines or storms. There are others who get there only when all conditions are favorable. They must feel well, free from headache, fatigue, worry or anything disturbing, and the skies must be bright, the wind from a particular direction, and the roads dry and solid. Given a throb of uncasiness, a stormy cloud, a little too much dampness, and their pews will be vacant. In this variable chmate, they consequently do not get to church cry frequently, and when they do they are so auch strangers as hardly to feel at home. Now all know this is very wrong, and yet it is scarcely ever found fault with. But between the faithful and faithless, there are the hosts of lukewarm, upon whom dependence must always be uncertain. If ministers were to be kept from their pulpits by the trifling hindrances that keep others from the pews, preaching would only be an occasional thing in most conastors to be in their pulpits. Sensible.—There is so much sound ense in the following article on "local pride," which we clip from a Western paper, that we transfer it to our columns for the benefit of gregations. And yet it is just as much the du-

this community:

"If the citizens of a town desire to have the community of which they are representatives, maintain an equality with sister communities, and wish the town wherever they dwell to keep pace with others, in progress, it is necessary to cultivate true local pride; we do not mean an inflated idea of superiority of all that pertains to their locality, or the extravagant laudation of every enterprise or undertaking in their midst, but a discriminating pride in all true advancement of the general welfare, and shall prompt a just defense of the merits of the town where they have set up the temple of home; a fair commendation of its artistic or natural beauties, and an encouragement to every individual who puts his hand to the work of developing its resources, wealth and advantages. A community whose people are indifferent to the improvements that may be inaugurated within their boundaries, will make slow progress. The men who express no satisfaction at seeing a dwelling of comfort and tasto-creeted, who draw their purse-strings tight, and grumble at this community:

edifice that is reared should receive our commendation; every temple of education should be pointed out with pride as an evidence that we are preparing the generation to follow us to fight that never-ending combat of the spiritual over the animal, of mind over matter. Every church that lifts its graceful spire heavenward, should be haited as planting an altar, around which will cluster the blessings of education and refinement. We should rejoice at the puff of the progress the clark of the short and the of the engine, the clank of the shaft, and the hum of the machine, proclaiming that industry reigns within our borders, for every additional stroke of labor uses on a surer foundation the future wealth of our community, and is rearing on an enduring basis the fabric of common

"It is a disgrace to those who are ever ing to underrate the place of their birth at home—seeing nothing to commend in the localities of which they are a representative part, but holding it inp to invidious comparison with a neighboring city or town. We honor a man who has a true local pride in his village or town where his own cherished fireside exists, and who not a subsequent to the pride in the pride i
