THE far-famed Watkins Glen, lo ated near the village of Watkins, Schuyler Co., in the State of New York, visited last year by so many thousands of the lovers of nature, not only from all parts of our own country, but from many sections of the Continent of Europe, has attained a position among the famous sumner resorts of the United States second to one, and on account of their inability to accommodate the rust numbers who would have topped with them last summer, we are informed the enterprising owners and proprietors o the Glen contemplate making very extensive additions to their already comfortable and comnodious hotel, (the Glen Mountain House, located right up in the Glen), which was opened on the first of June, as usual, for the eccommodation of tourists and others seeking health and recreation amid the cool and invigerating atmosphere of a wild and mountainous The proprietors will secure every attention ior the comfort and convenience of their guests; supervision of every detail will be rendered by them in person; ladies traveling alone will be promptly met and kindly cared for, and neither time nor expense will be spared to make Watkins Glen more pleasing and attractive than ever before.

Watkins Glengis not the only feature of interest pertaining to the romantic surroundings o the village from which it takes its name, for there is Saneca Lake, one of the most beautiful sheets of water in the world, varying in width from two to six miles, and over forty miles long, with the magnificent views which the highlands around it afford; also Hector Falls, Glen Excelsion, (where the water falls 186 feet 'in one unbroken sheet), and Hayana Gler, lying near the village of Havana, which is well worthy the attention of tourists, and has been visited for several years past by vast number of people, and when taken together form very remarkable combination of beauty and at traction rarely presented in any other section of country in the world.

We would earnestly recommend our readers contemplating a-visit to Trenton Falls, Falls of Niagara, or Saratoga Springs, to purchase ticket on which "Watkins" occupies a very conspicuous position, for they should all see the Great National Wonder, Watkin," before concluding they are familiar with American scenery, or prepared to visit Europe, or any other foreign country.

MicCabe & Edwards have had their expectation in regard to increased business more than realized since they took possession of the new store. They confine themselves strictly to their legitimate business, and thus are enabled to take advantage of every opportunity for a "good bargain," and being satisfied with a reasonable profit, their customers reap the benefit of their experience. If all our business men were as fair and honorable as this firm, there would be no cause for complaint about "middle men" on the part of Grangers and others.
