THE "BLACK SHEEP" OF THE FAM-ILY.

"Father, believe me, I am speaking the truth! I ask nothing save that you should consider me innocent. If I could but take that assurance with me into exile, it would lighten my burden and help me to forget the unmerited punishment which I have undergone. I know. as a boy, I was wild and reckless, but never dishonest. I am as innocent of the crime for which I suffered as you are."

The speaker was a tall, good looking young man, apparently of about twenty-five years of age. There was a pallor overspreading his dark features, which spoke of long confinement and severe mental suffering. His manner was, as were his words, earnest and intense; and, as he ceased speaking, he advanced towards his father with an air of en-

And in this gathering of Teachers, with joy it should be spoken, there are those who have discovered and applied the best methods of teaching and developing the youthful mind, the lustre of whose names the passing ages may not dim.

The hand of affection has written our names between the two Testaments, apparently that the prophetic spirit of the Old and the loving, gentle, Christ-like spirit of the New, may rest upon us.

There are names written in the Lamb's Book of Life. May all of ours be included in the number!

TO YOUR CLOSET, O ISRAEL!

EVERY soul needs a closet. True prayer will find one. It is the insticet of the heart thirsting for God. It is the command of the Master --Enter thy chamber. It is the way trodden by Jesus. LOOK AFTER THE EYES. - Multitudes of men and women have made their eyes weak for life by the too free use of eyesight, reading small print and doing fine sewing. In view of these things it is well to observe the following rules in the use of the eyes: Avoid all sudden changes between light and darkness. Never sleep so that on waking the cyes shall open on the light of the window. Do not use eyesight by light so scant that it requires an effort to disriminate. Never read or sew directly in front of the light of a window. It is best to have the light from
