MIND YOUR OWN CONCERNS.

Mind your own concerns, my friend,

But strive to mend your own,

Suppose he does not always lead A truly pious life;

Or quarrels with his wife?

Your better nature spurns

Just mind your own concerns

To act the spy on him or his-

And presently you'll find, That all your time is occupied,

And you've got enough to mind:

Should wed with Sally Jones? What matter if your neighbor C.

The money is not yours, my friend,

Though golden stores he earns;

So do not envy him his wealth,

It is a better plan, Than always to be spying out,

Remember that all persons have,

And not at all to you; And also bear in mind, my friend,

No secret from a neighbor's breast

SECOND QUARTER. V.

The death of Samson implies his life

Hence, chapters 13-16 must be carefully read. Samson was the son of Manoah, of the tribe of Dan. He was born at Zorah which was situated on a high, conical hill overlooking the plain of the Philistines, and near the western border of Judah

The name Samson (Heb., Shimshon) is explained by some to mean "little sun:"

the most bright, beaming, frolicsome, produced. Not less characteristic was nearest approach to a monastic institution

So mind your own concerns,

A generous nature worms

Thoughts hidden from your view.

Thoughts that to them of right belong

A half a million owns?

For they are yours alone; Don't talk about your neighbor's faults

Don't meddle-let him know, my friend,

Yes, mind your own concerns, my friend

What need you care if Snooks or Spooks
