one else should make the motion. While some of the men who participated in the proceedings are earnest, conscientious temperance advocates, and believe that the organization of a third party will advance their cause, we can not, in the light of what transpired on Monday, give the leaders so much credit. Indeed, the conduct of the few self-constituted manipulators of the temperance cause disgusted the honest portion of the convention.

Rev. Mr. PALEN, of Wyoming County, was introduced, and made some very eloquent and truthful remarks in regard to the great evil of the wicked trafic in man-poisening whisky, but exhibited very little charity when he denounced all temperance men who opposed political action, as enemies of the cause. The very best and most efficient temper ance men in the State believe that the course of those who favor a third party will result in harm to the cause and they cannot be driven from their opposition to the damning trafic by the uncharitable denunciations of such men as Mr. PALEN.
