The result of the late election so far as this county is concerned, while sistently votes the Democratic ticket, it is a brilliant victory after a hotly regardless as to who may be the cancontested battle, should not be passed over without attracting the serious at least is entitled to the credit of stress on the fact that Mr. Peck was consideration of the Republican vot- being true to his colors, and acting renominated and he "kicked overcis. Added to this, we have had this fall thegrant instances of downright treachery and the of basesting ratitude. We shall not call names, because it s not necessary. We submit, however, to the Republicans of the different districts, whether the party would not be stronger, if the men who habitually sell out some part of the ticket, were treated as traitors and traffickers deserve. The party would be stronger and purer without them. They hang on to the organization solely because they thereby have an opportunity and the power to do mischief. If the men who year after year take the money of the Democracy in consideration of the votes they carry (or are supposed to carry) to some of the Democratic candidates, from the Republican ranks, were publicly exposed and de hounced for their treacherons and uctarious conduct, they would be powerless to do harm, and would not be courted and paid by candidates who expect to succeed by the power there is inceash.

The result in several of the dis Arrets shows what may be brought bout by active persistent, personal leffort. Wherever there was organization, and live, earnest Republicans, there was a good result. Where there was treachery, doubting and irresolution, the ticket suffered. And not only was the County ticket, affeeted, but the State Ticket suffered by the treacherous betrayal of those who pretended to be its friends.-HARTRANET was entitled to 3,50 majority in this County, and but for the conduct of those who were seeking to break down the Republican organization, he would have received at least that majority. The success of the Republican ticket demonstrates that with ordinary prudence the Republican party of this county may always rely upon victory at the polls. The disaster of last fall, though humiliating, was mot without its good results. It raught the lesson that complimentary votes for Democrats were dangerous, and many Republicans repented when 100 late, but resolved never again to be thus caught. The tone and tem per of the party was greatly changed by temporary reverse, and the spirit late election augured well for our tuture harmony and success. now remains to get ready for the great battle of 1876. The fight should be a centennial one, and every Republican should, be animated with the spirit of 1776. Beneath our victorious banner, let the true men rally. We would not ostracise any one, but for the sake of the country and the success of the party we would disown and ent off all traders and traitors, and with a purified an regenerated party fight the battle of 16, confident in the glorious victory that awaits the party which has say ed and reconstructed the Union.
