> DISUUSTED .- The N. Y. Tribune s already badly disgusted with the conduct of its Democratic alllies in Congress. Instead of going in for " givil service reform," they are filling every place at their disposal, small as well as large, with ignorant partizans-the more rebel the better. At this sickening spectacle the Tribune is forced to utter its lamenta tions in this way :

The "clean sweep" makes progress. The library has been reformed. The Congressional restaurant revolution. ized and one by one the old clerks are shoved aside to make room for ignoramuses whose qualifications are summed up in the statement that they are "good Democrats;" and perhaps it is quite as well that the, country should take one good look at this party having a taste of power. There they are, with their noses in the trough. We have seen some pretty bad exhibitions at Wathington, but nothing so bad as this. May the good Lord deliver us from any such spectacle on a larger scale.

THE democracy find little comfort any where. Harper's Weekly, during the past year has frequently united with the opponents of the Republican party in finding fault with GRANT, but a recent issue of that paper, gives its estimate of the Democratic party in the following terse paragraph:

"Nothing should cause any man to forget that the Democratic. party is now what it has been for many years-the political organization of those who aimed to destroy the National Union and Government for the basest and most revolting of purposes, and who still declare that their riews, except as to the practicability of secession, remain unchanged,"

THAT would be a rather neat-resolution to put in the National Democratic platform --- that sentence of HILL'S. It would appear in this wise :
