Anicultural Beyartment Educational Department Flower and Kitchen Garden.

Mr. W. R. Lazenby, of the horti cultural department of Cornell University, has made a number of experiments, and finds that by sprouting garden seeds before sowing there is a gain of three or four days in the time of ripening.

It is not practicable to raise dandelions for greens by transplanting the roots, as the plant is destroyed by gathering the leaves, being usualy cut just below the crown of the of especial interest to the teachers of thinned in July to twelve or fifteen inches apart, and the ground kept tree from weeds during the season, full crop may be expected the next spring, After a bed is once started it may be kept along from self-sown beter to make a new bed every year.

Hens Eating Eggs -A Oure.

Having seen the question asked how to cure hens from eating eggs, and having been put to my wits' end to devise some means to stop them. I finally, by accident hit upon a plan that I have never known to fail. One great trouble with many breeders is they make their hens' nests too large, and with Brahmas and Cochins the eggs-are in view of the hen. This we ober mustard turpentine and every Cang I could hear of, but no cure,] tightook a common hail keg, cut i in two, or a piece about eight inches high, and placed it in the box where the hens laid. E. E. QUINLAN, Editor present week. In each we see the gradations and the ascent of the pliant mind, and the different means they grasp on their way to a fuller development. What is not seen here, and what is devoted to the education of the mind, has been considered as not necessary, but what is seen here has been tried and found valuable and adopted. The secondary has its special exhibits; 10 Towards. has the grammar, and so have all the sections, which would demand more space in this paper for only a mention than could possibly be given. Suffice it to say that the most rigid criticism being disarmed, would be prolific of praise in reviewing this intensely interesting department. Several schools and colleges throughout the state have representative displays here. Not the least of these is the exhibit of the Northern Home for Friendless Children and that of the Soldiers' Orphan Asylum of Philadelphia. This latter has instilled into the hearts and minds of nearly nine thousand little children the rudiments and principles of Christianity bulbs in water twice. All bulbs with the annex. It is appropriately adjacent and education. Some of the pieces of much all but the lilies, can be taken direct path from the Main Building to the ful. The display includes embroidered up as soon as the leaves are ripe and Art Gallery leads the sight-seer almost in- chair and stool covers, drawings and paintings, wax flowers, crosses, &c., and a handsome American flag of regular size. Wilkes-Barre L. & B. Junction. worked in worsted by four girls, each fifteen years old. It is their intention to have their flag presented to Governor Mohoopany Mesheppen Skinner's Eddy. Hartranft on the Fourth of July next. It is a beautiful flag and shows exquisite The girls' section is brimful, with not only ornamental, but use ul work. Here is seen not only the embroidery of valuable material, but the making into garments of linen, calico, etc. Near the Soldiers' Orphan Asylum is the Lincoln Institute. The boys' department shows what boys could do, and among the more useful of their products were shoes, etc. Very near the Lincoln Institute was the space devoted to the exhibits of Girard College. Our space forbids any description of this exhibit, but what is here seen, f standing alone, would be a sufficient nonument to the millionaire philanthropist. One of the most interesting, if not given unexceptionably the first place, of the various educational departments represented, is the School of Design of Philadelphia. It is a sort of art gallery, in which the artists are all amateurs and ladies. Other colleges and training schools follow the circle round, these being across the aisle from the regularly arranged Kindergarten, primary, secondary schools, &c. Continuing the circle where the latter sections are, one arrives at the culmination of the schoolboy days, the university. This brings the one end of the circle, which is the university, in close juxtaposition with the other end, which is the Kindergarten, and the picture is sugrested, as one of the lady managers of the establishment remarked, of the out-going sprig of manhood, with all the inflation that high graduation lends, taking by the hand and welcoming to more than a dozen years of mental toil the little in-coming schoolboy.

Pennsylvania having seen how her educational display leads the United States, should congratulate herself that the public helm is in the hands of such a good man and thorough disciplinarian as Prof. Wickersham; and he, in turn, should thank his lucky stars that the generous ladies of Philadelphia have joined with him in placing the grand old Keystone State as the leader of the Union.
