There is none certainly for the ordinances of religion; and we can never pull down religion to build Granges or anything of a worldly nature, for God requires the whole heart. s our fidelity to the church as it should be." Are we striving, as christians, to do what we can, or are we using our influence for the Grange? If we are, I am afraid we will never prosper. The sister spoke of the endearing names by which they were called. Are we not all brothers and sisters? We certainly are if we clong to the family of Christ, and if we do not, isn't it our duty to love one another? That is the new commandment that hrist gave us. I do not mean to say that Grangers have no religion, but it is very hard work to make the two go together, especially in this place. But I am digressing from the subject. Fidelity is a grand thing, if it is the right kind, but ont let us work so much for anything that it excludes our higher duties that we owe to God, as He ought to have the first place in our hearts. ____ LIN-TA BAND serenaded Col. OVERTON and W. T. DAVIES, Esq., on Tuesday evening. A large number of our citizens without distinction of party, joined the pro-cession as it followed the band and united in extending congratulations to Col.

Overton and Mr. Davies, on the honor onferred upon them by the Republican Convention.
Arriving at Col. Overton's residence, he band played an appropriate tune, when the Colonel was loudly called for, in response to which he made his appearance, and addressed his fellow citizen oquent, impressive manner. His remarks were frequently and enthusiasticly applauded. At the conclusion of the speech the procession proceeded to the residence of Mr. Davies, where the band again discoursed most eloquent music. Mr. D. then, in response to a call from the assembled crowd, made a very pleasant and appropriate speech. He was followed by Capt. CARNOCHAN, N. C. ELSBREE, and H. STREETER. A CORRESPONDENT of the Elmira Adertiser makes the following mention of the Republican meeting held in Rome last week: "On Thyrsday evening of last week
