The Public Exercises by the scholars of the Graded School, at Mercer's Hall, on Friday evening last, was witnessed by a very large number—every seat being full previous to the hour of opening the doors. The exercises were interesting and entertaining, and pleased all who were present. Each scholar performed his or her allotted part admirably, and reflected the highest credit on the painstaking and able corps of teachers who have charge of the school. We understand the receipts were over $200, and the net proceeds $150.

The gentlemen who propose to publish the history of this county, have an active and intelligent agent here canvassing for subscribers. From what we know of the work, we can most heartily recommend it to the public, and shall feel disappointed if the publishers do not meet with encouragement sufficient to warrant them in pushing the work to a speedy completion. The matter will be carefully prepared, and the volume will interest every citizen of the county. At least five thousand copies should be taken in this county.

The Elmira Advertiser gives the Reporter credit for saying that the gas fitting at the Ward House was done by an Elmira firm. To maintain our reputation as being the chronicler of reliable news, we desire to correct the statement of the Advertiser, as it never appeared in our columns. The gas fitting which was attended with considerable attention from the town to the Ward House, was executed by our own townsmen, SAMUEL ROYLE, and reflects credit on his skill.
