I am well aware that there are many of our staunchest Republicans who have grave doubts as to the wisdom of the plan pursued for the pacification of the South-honest, well meaning men, who fear that the withdrawal of the troops from the Southern State Houses, and the recognition of the Democratic Govern ors, was a virtual surrender to the arrogance of the old time slave-olsgarchy, and must result in the annihilation of the Republican organization South, and the domination of the Rebel clement who will use their newly acquired power to deprive the Republicans of the South both white and black, of any priveliges they may now possess as citizens and partizans. Probably there are no people in the State, more sensitive upon this subject than the Republicans of Bradford County. For twenty years they have manfully fought the good fight against the demands and aggressions of the slave power. They rallied, with unexampled unanimity, around the their gallant standard-bearers, WIL MOT and GROW, against all assaults. with majorities which at once testified their devotion to principle, and commanded attention and respect by their magnitude. Then, when the rebel guns were directed against Sumter, and Rebellion raised its horrid front, the sturdy patriots of our hill-sides rushed to the protection of our Union, and fighting as they had voted, their blood hallowed many a battle-field, and their bones consecrate the ground of many a State The vacant hearthstones, the broken family circles, attest the many martyrs to the strife for the preservation of country, and hearts yet ache for those who peacefully sleep on Southern soil, or pine around Northern fire-sides, languishing from disease

Moukhtar has there-by improved his/position if he has sufficient force north of Erzeroum to check the advance of the Russian Elizabeth Wood, Shells Corners, N. Y., ovaria right wing. This, however, is very doubtful, especially as his position at Kylly, south of the Araxes, is threat-ened by the extreme left of the Russian left wing. A portion of the Russian left was detached at Jeranos, probably with the desire to turn Moukhtar's strong position at Konrukol on the Araxes, for the descent from Sochaula through the passes eading down to the Valley of th Araxes is steep and difficult, as in deed is also the descent from the Kasher range to Kylly, which is about half an hour's march from the Araxes. If the Turks stand their ground, which they can only do if they have sufficient men guarding the northern approaches to Erze roum. The plain of Araxes will be the scene of a sanguinary battle. The great length of the Russian lines of communication, with the two fairly garrisoned fortresses of Kars and Batoum in their rear, necessitates great caution on their part, because f the Turks had sufficient enterprise or available force they would long ince have sent large reinforcements by sea to Batoum, and endeavored to break through the circle which the Russian corps has been forming on the heights around the land side been a burden, while fashiosable Coppery has been of that town. The disposition and state of preparation of the opposing forces ead to the belief that there will be heavy cannonading all along the Danube, coupled with raids and feints in various directions, under cover of which there will be simultancous attacks by the Russians in force at Oltenitza, Rustchuk, Sistova, and Turnu Magurelli, with divisions at Kalatat and Ibrail. It is not probable that anything of importance in the way of crossing in force will take place for the next week, whatever may be the other points at which a crossing will finally be attempted. Rustchuk seems particularly unlikely to be left unmolested as on the possession of Rustchuk will depend the command of the railway, which is of the greatest importance to the Russians. In reference to the report which states that another crossing is confidently expected at Hersova, with a view of gaining the short-line railway running from Tchernavoda to Kusendami, any attempt at an effective resistance would probably cause such an attempt in force to be abandoned, as a march through the fever-haunted Dobrudscha- ought to be as, rapid as possible. THE FISH LAWS TO BE ENFORCED. The Attorney General has written to the District Attorney of Lancaster county, informing him that it is the earnest desire of the State authorities to have the Fish Laws enforced at all points along the Susquehanna river. The offenses of the Columbia dam have been the main cause of interfering with the passage of fish up stream. These offenses have not only consisted in fishing within the limits forbidden by law in the waters above the dam, but in putting obstructions in the waters below the dam, "shingling," &c, to prevent the passage of fish at locations provided in the dam at great expense for this purpose. The people above the dam, as far up as Sunoury, Northumberland county, have been deeply interested in the enforcement of the fish laws. The Legisla-ture has been liberal in its appropriation and the commissioners indefatigable in their efforts to secure the restoration of the Susquehanna fisheries, all of which has been frustrated or interfered with by a den of pirates infesting the waters of the Columbia dam, who have defiantly violated all the laws on the subject. The public patience has been worn out, and now the public is determined and the State authorities resolved to enforce the laws and give the system devised to revive the Susquehanna fisheries the best test it has ever had. Fish wardens and their assistants have been notified of this purpose and the District Attorneys of the several counties where such piracies are practiced will hereafter vigorously county.
